This Company having a Revenue from Premiums alone of One Hundred and Forty Thousand Pounds per Annum, is in a position to transact every description of LIFE ASSURANCE on as favourable terms as any other Company of equal standing.

Holders of Life Policies on the profit scale, who may hereafter fill confidential situations and require to be guaranteed, may secure considerable reductions in their life premiums, by making their life policies contingent on the continuance of fidelity.

Three fourths of the Profits are divisible amongst the Policy-holders on the "Profit Scale of Premiums," affording the advantages of Mutual Assurance, with the further security of a large subscribed capital, the prudent employment of which gives a greater ratio of increase to business and to profits than a purely Mutual Society can achieve.

Assurances are granted for £10,000 on a single life.

Premiums may be paid in one sum, or yearly, or by half-yearly, or quarterly instalments.

Policies upon which five years' payments have been made, are purchased by the Society or the Policy-holders, if unable to continue paying, may receive fresh Policies in exchange (on which no further payment is required), equivalent to the then value of the Premiums already paid.

On Policies amounting to £200 and upwards for the whole of life, one-half of the Premium may remain unpaid at Interest for five years.

No extra Premium charged for voyage to and residence in any part of Europe, New Zealand, Australia (except at the "Diggings,") the Cape Colony, or British America.

This is the only Society transacting Life Assurance with Fidelity Guarantee, whose Policies of Guarantee are authorized (by Special Act of Parliament) to be accepted by Government.

The Guarantee Policies of this Society are accepted by the Treasury, Poor Law Board, and other public departments, and by the leading London and Provincial Joint-Stock and Private Banks, the principal Railway Companies, Life and Fire Offices, Public Companies, Institutions, and Commercial Firms throughout the Kingdom

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 137, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
13th May, 1869.

IN directing the publication of the following letter from the Special Magistrate under the Border Protection Act, 1868, His Excellency the Governor desires it to be notified that persons wishing to engage the services of such Natives as are therein referred to may send applications for them to the several Resident Magistrates, who are hereby instructed to forward such applications to this Office.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,

R. SOUTHEY,
Colonial Secretary.

Kenhart, 6th April, 1869.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary.

SIR,—I have the honour to report for the information of His Excellency the Governor that a large number of the Bushmen and other Natives of this part of the Colony are actually in a starving condition, owing to the almost entire extinction of game, upon which they formerly existed, the difficulty of obtaining employment arising from the present disturbed state of the Province, and their disinclination to leave their old haunts, and inability to perform long journeys into the Colony, which are unavoidable before work can be obtained.

This starving state of these people is, without doubt, the chief cause of the numerous thefts which constantly occur, exclusive of the Coranna raids. Numbers of destitute women and children are continually coming into Camp to beg for food, and in some instances men, so impoverished and lean as to be scarcely able to walk.

Under these circumstances, I beg that His Excellency will authorize me to collect these people and forward them in gangs, as opportunity offers, to the nearest seat of Magistracy, for subsequent distribution as labourers and apprentices. The cost of their maintenance for a short period, and that of their transport, would not be very great, as they are accustomed to live on meat alone, and the cost of Sheep is Ten Shillings a head here.

I have, &c.,

M. J. JACKSON, Special Magistrate
under the B. P. Act

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, in terms of the 28th Section of Act No. 2 of 1860, that the undermentioned applications for Crown Lands will be decided by the Divisional Council of Somerset, at a Meeting to be held on Saturday, the 7th day of August, 1869, viz.:—

Crown Land called Wildepaardenek, Field-cornetcy of Swagers Hoek, boundary of Cradock.

Cradock's Hoek, applied for by Johannes Schoeman, Daniel Johannes Schoeman, Stephanus Smit, and Jacobus Smit, in extent 368 morgen and 40 square roods.

Lot A, applied for by Christoffel Andries Schoeman, in extent 941 morgen and 86 square roods

Lot B, applied for by Hendrik Jacobus van Heerden, in extent 814 morgen and 485 square roods.

Lot C, applied for by David Edward Malan, in extent 268 morgen and 135 square roods.

By order of the Divisional Council, Somerset,

W. W. MASKEW, Secretary.

GOUVERNEMENTS BERIGT, No. 137 1869.

Koloniale Secretarie, Kaap de Goede Hoop,
13 Mei, 1869.

DE publicatie gelastende van het volgende schrijven van den Specialen Magistraat aangesteld volgens de Wet van 1868, ter Bescherming der Noordelijke Grenzen, wenscht Zijne Excellentie de Gouverneur bekend te maken, dat al degenen, die zoodanige Inlanders, als daarin gemeld in dienst wenschen te bekomen, aanvragen om dezelve kunnen inzenden bij de verschillende Resident Magistraten, die in last hebben die aanzoeken in te zenden ten dezen Kantore.

Ter Ordonnantie van Z. E. den Gouverneur,
R. SOUTHEY,
Koloniale Secretaris.

Keshart, 6 April, 1869.

Aan Z.H.Ed. den Kolonialen Secretaris.

Mijnheer,—Ik heb de eer tot informatie van Zijne Excellentie den Gouverneur te rapporteren, dat een groot aantal Boschmans en andere Inlanders van dit gedeelte der Kolonie in werkelijk gebreklijdenden toestand verkeeren ten gevolge van de bijkans algeheele uitroeijing van het wild waarvan zij vroeger bestonden, de moeijelijkheid om werk te bekomen ontstaande door den tegenwoordigen verontrustenden toestand van het gewest, hun tegenzin om hunne oude schuilhoeken te verlaten en hun onvermogen om langdurige reizen in de kolonie te doen die onvermijdelijk zijn alvorens er werk te bekomen is.

Deze gebreklijdende toestand van dit volk is zonder twijfe de hoofdoerzaak der menigvuldige diefstallen die er aanhoudend plaats hebben, buiten de strooptogten der Koranas. Gedurig komen in dit kamp groote aanstallen hulpbehoevende vrouwen en kinderen bedelen om voedsel en in sommige gevallen mannen, zoo vermagerd en verswakt, dat zij naauwelijks in staat zijn te loopen.

Onder deze omstandigheden verzoek ik Zijne Excellentie mij te magtigen om deze lieden bijeen te brengen en in troepen, naar de gelegenheid voorkomt op te zenden naar den naastbij zijnden Magistraats zetel om later te worden uitgedeeld als arbeiders en leerlingen. De kosten van hun onderhoud gedurende een kort tijdvak, zou niet zeer groot zijn, daar zij gewoon zijn bij vleesch alleen te leven en de prijs der Schapen hier Tien Shillings per stuk is.]

Ik heb enz.,
M. J. JACKSON, Speciaal Magistraat
onder de G. B. Wet.

Manager and Secretary.—William Cleland.

This Company having a Revenue from Premiums alone of One Hundred and Forty Thousand Pounds per Annum, is in a position to transact every description of LIFE ASSURANCE on as favourable terms as any other Company of equal standing.

Holders of Life Policies on the profit scale, who may hereafter fill confidential situations and require to be guaranteed, may secure considerable reductions in their life premiums, by making their life policies contingent on the continuance of fidelity.

Three fourths of the Profits are divisible amongst the Policy-holders on the "Profit Scale of Premiums," affording the advantages of Mutual Assurance, with the further security of a large subscribed capital, the prudent employment of which gives a greater ratio of increase to business and to profits than a purely Mutual Society can achieve.

Assurances are granted for £10,000 on a single life.

Premiums may be paid in one sum, or yearly, or by half-yearly, or quarterly instalments.

Policies upon which five years' payments have been made, are purchased by the Society or the Policy-holders, if unable to continue paying, may receive fresh Policies in exchange (on which no further payment is required), equivalent to the then value of the Premiums already paid.

On Policies amounting to £200 and upwards for the whole of life, one-half of the Premium may remain unpaid at Interest for five years.

No extra Premium charged for voyage to and residence in any part of Europe, New Zealand, Australia (except at the "Diggings,") the Cape Colony, or British America.

This is the only Society transacting Life Assurance with Fidelity Guarantee, whose Policies of Guarantee are authorized (by Special Act of Parliament) to be accepted by Government.

The Guarantee Policies of this Society are accepted by the Treasury, Poor Law Board, and other public departments, and by the leading London and Provincial Joint-Stock and Private Banks, the principal Railway Companies, Life and Fire Offices, Public Companies, Institutions, and Commercial Firms throughout the Kingdom.

Immediate Annuities payable during the whole of Life may be purchased on the following Scale.

Annuities granted at the undermentioned Ages for every £100 of Purchase Money.

The Premiums are payable yearly in advance; or at the option of the Assured, half-yearly, with a slight increase of the Rate.

This being a MUTUAL ASSURANCE SOCIETY, the profits are not, as in Proprietary Companies, divided between the Partners and the Assured,—the whole belong to the Policyholders.

The Profits are divided amongst the holders of Policies at the termination of every period of THREE YEARS, and determine that his share shall be added to this sum assured by him,—or converted into Present Payment—or applied in Reduction of the future Annual Premiums payable by him.

The last Division was declared at the Annual Meeting held on the 6th July, 1868. The Profits then divided were at the rate of 2½ per cent. per annum, or 7½ per cent. for the three years. Thus a Policy of £500, taken out before 1st November, 1865, has £37 10s., three years' Profits added to it; a Policy of the same amount, taken out before, 1st November, 1867, has £12 10s., one year's Profits added; while the total accumulated Profits on a Policy of £500, taken out in 1845, the first year of the Society's existence, now amount to the large sum of £401 0s. 4d.

The next Division of Profits will take place in July, 1871.

Persons proposing for assurance will be required to produce Certificates of Baptism, or such other proofs of age as the Directors may deem to be satisfactory.

Candidates for assurance are not charged with fees payable to the Medical Officers of the Society.

Prospectuses, Forms of Proposal, and all information respecting the Society may be obtained at the Office in Cape Town, or at any of the Agencies throughout the Colony

By command of His Excellency the Governor,

R. SOUTHEY, Colonial Secretary.

Grey Institute Schools, Port Elizabeth, April 30, 1869.

The Honourable R. SOUTHEY, Esq., Colonial Secretary, Cape Town.

SIR,—I herewith have the honour to enclose you the Annual Report and Accounts of the Public Schools at Port Elizabeth upon the Grey Foundation for the year ending 30th March, 1869.

I have, &c.,

H. M. SCRIVENOR, Honorary Secretary.

Report of the Board of Managers of the Grey Institute, 1869.

The Managers of the Grey Institute Schools have the honour to report to His Excellency the Governor that the financial arrangement entered into with the Rector, full details of which were submitted in their Report for the year 1867, continues to work satisfactorily.

At the date when this arrangement took place (1st April, 1867), the amount owing by the Grey Institute was (£1,862 11s. 3d.), which by the 31st March, 1868, was reduced to £1,606 3s. 1d., and at the corresponding date of the present year is still further reduced to £1,302 5s. 3d., from which, moreover, a deduction must be made of £88 7s. 5d., being the balance in the Standard Bank to the credit of the Grey Institute, so that the actual debt of the Board on the 31st March, 1869, amounted to £1,213 17s. 10d.

With respect to the educational condition of the schools, the Board have the pleasure to state that the number of pupils has increased from eighty-two to ninety-one during the past year. For all further information on this subject they beg to refer His Excellency to the Rector's Annual Report to the Board, which is hereto annexed.

The financial statement for the year ending 31st March, 1869 is likewise annexed, and hereby respectfully submitted to His Excellency's attention.

By order of the Board,

H. M. SCRIVENOR, Honorary Secretary.

April 27, 1869.

Grey Institute, Port Elizabeth, December 21, 1868.

To the Board of Managers of the Grey Institute.

GENTLEMEN,—The number of pupils on the books of the High School for the present quarter is forty-nine at the Elementary School forty-two—making a total of ninety-one. The corresponding totals for Christmas 1866, and Christmas, 1867, were eighty-three and eighty-two, respectively; so that the present year shows a clear increase upon the two previous years.

2. The average age of the boys in each class for the years 1866, 1867, and 1868 is as follows:—

		1866.	1867.	1868.
		High School.
Class	I.	14¼ years.	14½ years.	15 years.
	II.	14 „	13½ „	13 „
	III.	12¼ „	— „	— „
		Elementary School.
Class	I.	12 years.	11½ years.	11⅔ years.
	II.	9¾ „	10¼ „	10⅔ „
	III.	— „	— „	8¾ „

3. Paying due regard to the age of the pupils under examination, I have reason to be satisfied with the proficiency of the third class in the Elementary School. The majority of the children can read fairly, spell correctly the names of the common things about them, and answer simple questions in addition, subtraction, and multiplication. They have a general knowledge of the geography of Europe, and several of them make really good figures on their slates. In the second class of the Elementary School there are one or two boys who evidently are not so diligent as they ought to be. The bad marks attached to the names of these boys have depressed the general average of the class. There is, nevertheless, a sufficient advance in the rest of the class to make the general average higher than last year. The spelling of this class is good. The reading is good, with the exception of the pronunciation of the letter "h." Their knowledge of the general geography of Europe is satisfactory. They have but a very indifferent knowledge of the rudiments of English grammar. Their figures are quite satisfactory, and almost all of them can work easy sums in the simple rules of arithmetic. The great majority of the boys in the first class of the Elementary School are intelligent, attentive boys, and the class, as a whole, has passed a very satisfactory examination. The reading, with the sole exception of the "h," as in the second class, is quite up to the standard. The spelling of words of two syllables is unusually accurate. They know the general geography of Europe well. A few of them understand the rudiments of English grmmar. Their figures on the slate are very good, and the greater part of the class can work accurately sums in the first four rules of arithmetic, both simple and compound. Making allowance for the few deficiencies I have mentioned I may say that the boys in the Elementary School, on the whole, have pleased me, not only by the actual knowledge they have gained, but the liveliness of mind they exhibit when under examination. To awaken the mind to a cheerful interest in the subjects of instruction is the great duty and great pleasure of a schoolmaster.

4. I come next to the High School, which for the past two years has been divided into two classes, each class containing an upper and lower division. The 2nd division of the 2nd class contains a number of young boys. The average age of this d vision is less than 13 years, scarcely a year more than the average age of the first class Elementary School. The arithmetical examination in this division is a little disappointing. In other respects, their works is satisfactory. Their progress in Latin and French is quite as great as should be expected. In English subjects, viz., English history, geography, and English grammar, the majority of the boys have obtained creditable marks. The upper division of the second class contains the more intelligent portion of the class, besides having a slight advantage in age. The only weak point here is arithmetic. In English grammar, history, geography, and French the average number of marks obtained is unusually high. And those of the class who learn Latin have advanced quite to my satisfaction.

With respect to the first class of the High School, I must repeat the remark which I made in my report for last year, that the boys are very unequal in their attainments and mental capacity. With scarcely an exception, I can, however, speak in high terms of the industry and diligence of the whole class

Many of the boys in the lower division have made considerable progress in every subject they have studied; while of the upper division every boy has done creditably. More attention has been given than before to the study of English during the past year. After weighing, to the best of my ability, the claims of Greek to be made a subject of study in the Grey Institute, I have, not without reluctance, come to the conclusion that the interests of our community will be best consulted by giving the preference to French and English, rather than spend time upon a language which would be made profitable only to a very few. The Greek class has, consequently, gradually dwindled away. To compensate for this loss, the boys have acquired a fair elementary knowledge of French, and have been instructed more fully in the classical authors of their own tongue. The English subjects for the past year have been Shakspere's "Henry VIII" and Macaulay's "Virginia," in addition to history, grammar, and physical geography, which form part of the usual course. The Latin subjects read during the past year are Virgil's VI. Æneid and the second Book of Cæsar "De Bello Gallico." The first division have gone through the first two Books of Euclid, but have not yet mastered them The ordinary rules of mensuration several of the boys have mastered. Easy questions in algebra, and questions in arithmetic, scarcely to be called easy by anyone, are not beyond their power. I am happy to add that my opinion of the boys in the first class has been confirmed by the examination of their work which has been made by several gentlemen in the town, who at my request criticized their written answers to the questions set in my examination. Dr. Stewart, of Lovedale, the Rev. T. Guard, the Rev. J. Macintosh, and W. Selwyn, Esq, each kindly undertook to examine a part o the work done by the boys. The marks awarded by them to the boys' papers show that the questions were very creditably answered.

6. The Paterson Scholarship was awarded this year to August Preiss, who, I am glad to say, has proved a diligent boy during the year, and stands nearly at the top of the list in the examination just concluded.

7. The Kemp Scholarship, which is awarded to the first boy in the annual examination, having been held for two years by Harry Johnson, falls on this occasion to the lot of a lad who stands second on the list, Arthur Hutchinson. He is one who well deserves this encouragement.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

H. I. JOHNSON, M.A., Rector.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 142, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope, 25th May, 1869.

IN terms of the 27th Section of the Act No. 5 of 1856, His Excellency the Governor directs the publication for general information of the following Report of the Board of Managers of the Provincial Hospital, Port Elizabeth, for the year 1868.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,

R. SOUTHEY, Colonial Secretary.

Provincial Hospital, Port Elizabeth.

The Hon. R. SOUTHEY, Colonial Secretary, Cape Town.

SIR,—I herewith have the honour to enclose you the annual report and accounts of the Provincial Hospital for the year ending 31st day of December, 1868.

I have, &c.,

H. M. SCRIVENOR, Secretary.

PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL, PORT ELIZABETH.

Report of the Board of Managers of the Provincial Hospital of Port Elizabeth for the year ending 31st December, 1868.

The Report of the Medical Officers of the Provincial Hospital of Port Elizabeth furnishes continuous evidence of the great value of this Institution, and although the number of in-door patients has not been so large as in the preceding year, the fact happily results from the entire disappearance of the malarious fever which at the time caused so much alarm both in this Colony and elsewhere.

The attention of His Excellency the Governor during his recent visit to Port Elizabeth having been directed to the oft-repeated prayer of the Board of Managers for sufficient means to build isolated rooms for offensive and contagious disorders leads them to believe that a sufficient sum will be placed upon the estimates of this year to accomplish this very urgent purpose.

It will be for His Excellency the Governor to determine the course to be pursued on the declaration of the Medical Officers, that the increase of syphilitic cases in this Town earnestly calls for the enforcement of the Contagious Diseases Act.

Whilst the number of in-door patients has somewhat decreased during the year,—571 to 670,—for the cause before stated, the number of out-door patients has slightly increased, being 1,320 to 1,300, so that although the claims upon the Institution this year are not likely to involve it in debt, yet it will be patent to His Excellency that, in order to preserve the efficiency of the Hospital, the usual Parliamentary grant will be needed.

The general statement of receipts and expenditure is annexed.

The Managers rejoice to record a more liberal local support than heretofore. This is doubtless attributable to the popularity of the Institution, resulting from the great confidence placed in its Medical and other Officers.

The Board continues to be well satisfied that the internal management of the Hospital is efficiently and economically conducted.

THOMAS WORMALD,
EDW. L. KIFT,
W. M. FARMER,
} Managers.

H. M. SCRIVENOR, Secretary.

Report of the Medical Officers of the Provincial Hospital, Port Elizabeth, for the year 1868.

We have but little to remark on during the past year. The Hospital still continues to dispense its benefits, as formerly, among numerous applicants of all classes, although the number of patients has not been so great as in the previous year, when malarious fever so largely prevailed.

Of the out-door patients have been treated 1,320
Of in-door patients have been treated 571

We beg again strongly to call attention to the necessity for isolated rooms adverted to in our last report, and we suggest that His Excellency the Governor may be asked to place on the estimates such a sum as may be required for that purpose.

We regret to remark on the increase of syphilitic cases which came under our care during the past year, showing a state of things which earnestly calls for the enforcement of the Contagious Diseases Act in this Town.

Mr. MOSES, Honorary Dental Surgeon to the Hospital, has rendered efficient services in many cases referred to his treatment and care.

The internal economy of the Hospital is conducted much to our satisfaction.

We append a detailed list of diseases treated, &c., as usual.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 146, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
2nd June, 1869.

HIS Excellency the Governor has directed the publication of the following Dispatch from the Secretary of State and accompanying Treasury Minute on the subject of cases of Bankruptcy and Insolvency on the part of persons holding offices in the Public Service.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,
R. SOUTHEY,
Colonial Secretary.

Downing-street, 9th January, 1869.

Governor Sir P. E. WODEHOUSE, K.C.B., &c., &c., &c.

SIR,—I transmit herewith a copy of a letter from 15th Dec., 1868. the Secretary to the Treasury with a copy of a Treasury Minute on the subject of cases of bankruptcy and insolvency on the part of persons holding offices in the Public Service.

I think it very desirable that the principles laid down in this Minute should be applied to the Colonies; and I wish you to intimate to the members of the Civil Service of your Government that the rules laid down by the Treasury in such cases for the Civil Service in the United Kingdom will be acted on in the Colony under your Government.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient humble Servant,
(Signed) GRANVILLE.

Mr. Hamilton to Sir F. Rogers.

Treasury Chambers, 15th December, 1868.

SIR,—I am desired by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to request that in laying before the Secretary of State for the Colonies the enclosed copy of their Minute of the 30th ultimo, on the subject of cases of bankruptcy or insolvency on the part of members of the Civil Service, you will state that my Lords invite his co-operation in giving effect to the views therein expressed.

I am to observe that, in their Lordships' opinion, it would be for the interest of the Civil Service that the regulations which they have proposed should be adopted as a general system.

I am, &c.,
(Signed) G. A. HAMILTON.

Treasury Minute, dated November 30, 1868.

The attention of this Board has been frequently given to cases of bankruptcy and insolvency on the part of persons holding offices in the Public Service, and likewise to a practice which has been found to prevail, to some extent, amongst Clerks and others of putting their names on what are called accommodation bills, and thus getting themselves involved in the pecuniary difficulties of others.

My Lords have reason to believe that there are persons, discounters of bills, who, taking advantage of the inexperience of young men usually when they first enter into the Public Service, and inducing them to put their names on bills, supply them with money at exorbitant rates of interest, in the expectation that by threats of the exposure and consequent dismissal of these young men, their parents or other relatives may be induced to discharge these exorbitant demands.

It has been the anxious desire of every Department in the State of late years, and Parliament has liberally co-operated, to raise the Civil Servants of the Crown in efficiency and general estimation; but it is obvious that all efforts on the part of Government or the Heads of Departments to raise the standard of the Civil Service must be to a great extent unsuccessful so long as members of the Service thus allow themselves to be involved in pecuniary difficulties, and to become the victims of usurious money-lenders.

It is unnecessary for my Lords to point out that this pernicious practice must be destructive of those feelings of honour and independence which my Lords are happy to state are, and their Lordships trust will be always, characteristic of all classes of Her Majesty's Civil Servants. The young man who puts his name upon a bill for a sum of money, suffering a discount which sometimes amounts, as my Lords are informed, to 50 or even 60 per cent., must necessarily lose all feelings of independence and self-respect; he becomes the miserable dependent of the usurer who has ministered to his extravagance; his course must be downwards; and he too frequently resorts to the meanness of an untruth, in the hope of concealing his indiscretion or extravagance.

Very painful instances have occurred in which, from these causes, my Lords have been obliged to dismiss from the Civil Service of Her Majesty gentlemen whose abilities and attainments might have raised them to high positions.

But the practices referred to lead to further and serious public inconvenience; not only does the general character of the Service suffer materially, but the value of the individual officer is necessarily deteriorated by the position in which he is placed in consequence of such improvident habits. As observed in a Minute of the Board of Stamps and Taxes, dated the 23rd of June, 1862, "an efficient performance of his official duty is not to be expected from any person involved in pecuniary difficulties, as the time and thoughts of such a person, instead of being engaged in his official business, must necessarily be occupied in constant efforts to meet the exigencies of the day: and, further, it is highly inexpedient that any officer in such circumstances should be placed in a position of trust."

Not unfrequently the pecuniary embarrassment of an employé in the public service is the cause of absence from his duties, either with the view of avoiding the importunity of his creditors or of obtaining protection under the Bankruptcy Act. And where such protection is accorded, independently of the inconvenience and discredit to the Service, as is well observed in a Minute of the Board of Customs of 9th April, 1866, "the officer is placed by this course in a very difficult position, as it generally happens that upon the final discharge of the party, the Court orders a portion of his salary to be appropriated to the liquidation of his debts, varying in amount according to the circumstances of each case. By this course the Public Service is damaged. The officer upon his return to duty is called upon to act, very probably in a responsible situation, with diminished salary disproportional to the value of the service required of him, and with a character in some manner impaired."

It is the firm determination of the Board of Treasury to adopt every means within their Lordships' power for correcting such evils as these in the Public Service, and with this object my Lords have caused to be prepared, for the guidance of the Departments subordinate to this Board, the accompanying Rules, founded upon those which have been long in existence in the Revenue Establishments and in the Audit Department. Their Lordships desire that these Rules may be transmitted to all Public Departments, in the hope that, by an uniform course of action in such cases by the Heads of Offices, an effectual check may be placed upon the practices referred to.

My Lords, however, appeal with confidence not only to the Heads of Departments and gentlemen of experience and position in the Civil Service, but to the junior members of the Service themselves, to co-operate with them in repressing the evils to which they have referred.

Appointments in the Civil Service, at the very outset, are now made the reward of merit. Promotion by merit is the established rule in the Service, and to every young man who becomes the servant of the Crown in the Civil Service a way is open to independence and even eminence.

But my Lords are desirous of impressing upon the members of the Civil Service that, in proportion as these advantages are increased, in the same degree does it become imperative as a duty, and one which my Lords on their part are, to the utmost of their power, resolved to discharge, to maintain rigidly the moral standard of the Service and the independent position of its members.

My Lords are fully aware that there are cases in which pecuniary embarrassments are the result of causes beyond control. A gentleman in the Civil Service with a small salary may unavoidably fall into difficulties from sickness in his family, or from other similar causes; there can be no discredit in such cases, and there will be found no indisposition to treat them with the consideration they deserve.

The Rules which my Lords would enforce and recommend for general observance are as follows:—

1. That it is to be understood that serious pecuniary embarrassments, from whatever cause, must be regarded as a circumstance which necessarily has the effect of impairing the efficiency of a public servant, and of rendering him less valuable than he would otherwise be.

2. That such embarrassment, if occasioned by imprudence or other reprehensible cause, will be held to be an offence, as affecting the respectability of the Service and the trustworthiness of the individual; any person who has so conducted himself will be considered to have forfeited that honourable position in the Service which is necessary to give him a claim to promotion or increase of salary from length of service; and these benefits will not be permitted to accrue to him again until he shall have relieved himself from the discredit of such a position. Aggravated cases of this description will be noticed whenever they become known; and such measures will be taken either in the manner above adverted to, or in a manner more summary and severe, as the circumstances may appear to deserve.

3. That the mere fact, under whatever plea, of becoming a party to accommodation bills, whether for his own purposes, or for another person, and whether resulting in pecuniary embarrassment or not, will subject a Civil Servant to the consequences described in the preceding paragraph.

4. That in the event of any Civil Servant being arrested, or being adjudicated a bankrupt, or entering into a composition with his creditors under the Bankruptcy Act, he will, on the fact being known, be suspended from duty and salary, and will not be reinstated unless, after examination of the facts and of the schedule prepared by the Court, it shall appear that his difficulties have been occasioned by unavoidable misfortune, and not by extravagance or culpable improvidence, or unless the case shall be charactarized by previous circumstances of extenuation.

5. That any person who shall not immediately, on his being arrested, or proceedings being taken with a view to bankruptcy, inform the Head of his Department of the fact, shall, upon its becoming known, be removed from the Service without any expectation of being reinstated.

The Premiums are payable yearly in advance; or at the option of the Assured, half-yearly, with a slight increase of the Rate.

This being a MUTUAL ASSURANCE SOCIETY, the profits are not, as in Proprietary Companies, divided between the Partners and the Assured,—the whole belong to the Policy-holders.

The Profits are divided amongst the holders of Policies at the termination of every period of THREE YEARS, and each holder may determine that his share shall be added to the sum assured by him,—or converted into Present Payment—or applied in Reduction of the future Annual Premiums payable by him.

The last Division was declared at the Annual Meeting held on the 6th July, 1868. The Profits then divided were at the rate of 2½ per cent. per annum, or 7½ per cent. for the three years. Thus a Policy of £500, taken out before 1st November, 1865, has £37 10s., three years' Profits added to it; a Policy of the same amount, taken out before 1st November, 1867, has £12 10s., one year's Profits added; while the total accumulated Profits on a Policy of £500, taken out in 1845, the first year of the Society's existence, now amount to the large sum of £401 0s. 4d.

The next Division of Profits will take place in July, 1871.

Persons proposing for assurance will be required to produce Certificates of Baptism, or such other proofs of age as the Directors may deem to be satisfactory.

Candidates for assurance are not charged with fees payable to the Medical Officers of the Society.

Prospectuses, Forms of Proposal, and all information respecting the Society may be obtained at the Office in Cape Town, or at any of the Agencies throughout the Colony

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

Government Gazette.

Published by Authority.

TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1869.

[GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 150, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
7th June, 1869.

HER Majesty has been pleased to issue Her Royal Exequatur, dated the 10th day of April, 1869, empowering ALFRED EBDEN, Esq., to act as Consul for the Netherlands at Port Elizabeth, with jurisdiction over the Eastern part of the Cape Colony.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,
R. SOUTHEY,
Colonial Secretary.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 151, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
7th June, 1869.

HIS Excellency the Governor has been pleased to direct the publication for general information of the following Notice to Mariners, containing an account of a search which has been made for some doubtful Shoals in the Indian Ocean, reputed to be directly in the fairway route of homeward-bound vessels between Sunda Strait and the Cape.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,
R. SOUTHEY,
Colonial Secretary.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

The following account of search made for some doubtful shoals in the Indian Ocean, reputed to lie directly in the fairway route of homeward-bound vessels between Sunda Strait and the Cape, is published for general information.

GEO. G. RANDOLPH,
Commodore Commanding.

H.M.S. Seringepatam, at Simon's Bay,
15th May, 1869.

Reputed Shoals in the Indian Ocean.

The Irma Vigia—a danger reported to have been "seen by the French ship Irma and others, doubtful"—is placed on the Admiralty Charts in lat. 28° 7′ S., long. 43° 8′ E., south-west of Madagascar. Its reputed position is, therefore, directly in the track which homeward-bound vessels from India and China are recommended to take; than which, as Maury remarks of these vigias, "none could be better adapted to harass the navigator, turn vessels from their routes, and thus injure commerce."

At 8 miles E. by S. of this spot, in lat. 28° 9′ S, long. 43° 16′ E., a depth of 2,280 fathoms was obtained from H.M.S. Serpent.

Now, if the gradients of the most precipitous maritime peaks in volcanic districts be selected for comparison, it is found that a diameter of 24 miles is required to form the base of a submarine mountain which may rear its steep and lofty summit to the sea-level from such a depth, viz., 13,680 feet. But this minimum estimate may be safely rejected, as we have more practical evidence.

The gradients of many sea-shores have now been correctly ascertained. Off Bali and Java the depth in question is found at 28 miles from the coast; off Palmas (near Teneriffe) at 45 miles; off Ceylon, at 35 miles. These are the steepest known. Off Madeira that depth is found at 90 miles; off Portugal at 160; west of the Cape at 260; the Azores 150; Ascension 200 miles. On these grounds the mariner may well discredit the existence of the danger, at least where shown on the Charts.

Soundings by Captain WHICHELO.

The Serpent sounded over the positions assigned to these along the parallel of lat. 32° 38′ S., from long. 30° 46′ E. to 30° 13′ E., at intervals of 4 miles.

No bottom was found at depths varying from 100 to 270 fathoms, where 42, 43, and 48 appear on the Chart.

The Glendinning, near the Keeling Islands, reported to be in lat. 9° 54′ S., long. 97° 50′ E., is another such Shoal.

It has never been seen before, nor since the Queen Mab passed through a "milky sea," by one other of the countless number of ships which crossed its supposed position; and as the evidence adduced in favour of its existence (recorded in the Nawical Magazine) tends rather to disprove than support it, so the name of Glendinning, with that of Irma and Whichelo, which have already too long disfigured our Charts and harassed the navigator, ought forthwith to be expunged.

The Serpent passed over its reputed position in 1865, finding no bottom with 140 to 470 fathoms of line over an extent of 30 miles.

In conclusion, it may with justice be added that if the reporters of such dangers, on reconsideration of the data from which the positions have been computed, should find reason to assign new positions for them, as has not unfrequently been the case, then they must bear the responsibility of having by such culpable error led a multitude of ships into a real danger in order to avoid a false one.

C. J. BULLOCK,
Commander of H.M. St. Serpent.

In the Court of the Eastern Districts of the Cape of Good Hope.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith. To the Sheriff of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, or his lawful Deputy, greeting.

WHEREAS, upon the Petition to the Honourable EDWARD DWYER, Esq., Senior Judge, and to the Honourable CHARLES THOMAS SMITH, Esq., the Judges of our Court of the Eastern Districts of the Cape of Good Hope, and Judges of our Supreme Court of our said Colony, of THOMAS BROOKS, of Graham's Town, in his capacity as Sole Trustee in the Insolvent Estate of GARRETT WALSH, of Fort Beaufort, against JOHN GOLLER, heretofore of Fort Beaufort,—it appears to us that the said JOHN GOLLER is justly and truly indebted to the said THOMAS BROOKS, in his said capacity, in the sum of fifty-two pounds seven shillings and twopence sterling, as and for the balance due upon and by virtue of certain three overdue Promissory Notes for the sum of £20 each, severally and respectively bearing date the 3rd day of August, 1867, and payable, respectively, at six, twelve, and eighteen months after the date thereof, all made and signed by the said JOHN GOLLER in favour of the said THOMAS BROOKS, or Order, and by the latter endorsed in blank, and which were passed to the said THOMAS BROOKS, in his said capacity, in settlement of the purchase money of certain Landed Property situate at Fort Beaufort aforesaid, sold to the said JOHN GOLLER in the said Estate;

And whereas it further appears to us that the said JOHN GOLLER, after the making of the said Promissory Notes, departed from this Colony, and proceeded to the Gold-Fields, beyond the boundaries of this Colony, and out of the jurisdiction of this Honourable Court, with intent to defeat or delay his Creditors in the payment of their just Debts, and continues absent from the said Colony, and out of the jurisdiction of this Honourable Court, with the intent aforesaid, and thereby has committed an act of Insolvency;

And whereas it further appears to us of record that this Honourable Court did, on the 20th day of May, 1869, order that the Estate of the said JOHN GOLLER be placed under Sequestration in the hands of the Master of the Supreme Court, unless cause be shown to the contrary, on the 12th day of July, 1869:

Now, therefore, we command you that you summon the said JOHN GOLLER that he appear before our Judges of our said Court of the Eastern Districts, at Graham's Town, on the 12th day of July, 1869, next, to show cause, if he have any, why his Estate should not, by sentence of the said Court, be adjudged to be sequestrated as insolvent for the benefit of his Creditors; and return you then there this Writ, with whatsoever you have done thereupon.

Witness the Honourable EDWARD DWYER, Esquire, Senior Judge of our said Court of the Eastern Districts, at Graham's Town, this 29th day of May, 1869.

FOR

The Better Preservation of Game.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the laws relating to game: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. The following Game Law Proclamations are hereby repealed,—that is to say, the Proclamation dated 21st March, 1822, entitled "Game Law Proclamation;" the Proclamation dated 23rd August, 1822, entitled "Amendment of Game Law—Elephants;" and the Proclamation dated 14th March, 1823, entitled "Amendment of Game Law—Elands."

II. The legal meaning and import of the word "game" shall, for the purposes of this Act, be taken and understood to mean and comprehend the several birds and animals of this Colony following, not being domesticated, commonly known as paauw, korhaan, guinea-fowl, pheasant and partridge, elephant, camelopard, seacow (hippopotamus), buffalo, zebra, quagga, Burchell zebra, buck (comprehending the whole antelope species, including the gnu or wildebeest) and hare; and the words "game licence" shall, for the purposes of this Act and of the Stamp Act No. 3 of the year 1864, be taken and understood to mean a game licence duly issued by Government, on which the stamp duty of seven shillings and sixpence, or three shillings and ninepence, shall have been previously paid.

III. No person shall kill, catch, capture, sell, hawk, or expose for sale, hunt, or shoot at any ostrich not being domesticated, without having first obtained a licence to kill ostriches, under a penalty of any sum not less than twenty-five pounds sterling, and not exceeding fifty pounds sterling, for the first offence, and not exceeding one hundred pounds sterling for every subsequent offence; and any person convicted under this section may be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any term not less than six months, and not exceeding one year, unless or until the fine be sooner paid.

IV. No person shall, whether having obtained a licence to kill ostriches or not, kill, catch, capture (save as hereinafter is provided), sell, hawk, or expose for sale, hunt, or shoot at, within any district of this Colony, any ostrich not being domesticated, within the months which shall in any such district be for the time being proclaimed as fence season for ostriches under the provisions of this Act, under like penalties as by the last foregoing section are provided in cases falling within that section.

V. For every licence to kill ostriches there shall be payable a stamp duty of fifteen pounds sterling.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation to be by him issued, to fix and prescribe for the several districts in this Colony the close time or fence seasons within which it shall not be lawful to kill, pursue, hunt, or shoot at ostriches or the different kinds of game respectively within this Colony, either with or without a licence to kill ostriches, or a game licence respectively, or with or without the landowner's permission.

VII. No person shall, save as is hereinafter provided, kill, catch, capture, pursue, hunt, or shoot at, sell, hawk, or expose for sale game in any part of this Colony, without having previously obtained a game licence, under the penalty of three pounds sterling for the first offence, and six pounds sterling for every subsequent offence, to be recovered, together with the costs and expenses of the prosecution to conviction, in the manner hereinafter provided; excepting herefrom any game found injuring crops in cultivated lands or gardens. No person, however, shall be at liberty to pursue, shoot, kill, destroy, or capture any elephant, hippopotamus, or bontebok, without having obtained a special permission to that effect from the Governor for the time being, under a penalty of fifty pounds sterling for each offence, or, on failure of payment thereof, six months' imprisonment, with or without hard labour.

VIII. No person shall kill, pursue, or shoot at game in any district of this Colony, or shall in such district possess, sell, hawk, or expose for sale, or shall in such district purchase, any game during the close time, which shall be proclaimed as such for any such game in any such district, under the penalty of six pounds sterling for the first offence, and twelve pounds sterling for every subsequent offence.

IX. No person shall, without special permission of the Governor, for purposes to be mentioned in such permission, as hereinafter provided, at any time wilfully take away, disturb, or destroy eggs, or sell, hawk, or expose for sale, or shall purchase, eggs of any ostrich or game birds in any part of this Colony, under the penalty of any sum not exceeding three pounds sterling for the first offence, and not less than three pounds sterling, nor exceeding six pounds sterling, for every subsequent offence; and the said eggs shall be confiscated to Government, in whose custody soever the same may at any time be found, and may be seized brevi manu by any landowner, occupier of land, justice of the peace, field-cornet, constable, or police officer: Provided, always, that it shall be lawful for the Governor to permit under his hand any fit or proper person or persons to catch, take, or carry away the eggs of any ostrich or game bird, or the young of any ostrich or game, whether bird or other game, for the purpose of rearing or breeding the same, or for the purpose of acclimatization or scientific investigation; and any person so obtaining the Governor's written permission as aforesaid may himself obtain and take, or may by writing under his hand direct any person or persons to obtain or take, the said eggs, birds, or animals: Provided, always, that such writing shall distinctly state the number and denomination of such eggs, birds, or animals which the holders are employed to obtain or take, which shall collectively not exceed the number specified by the Governor's permission aforesaid. And any person obtaining or taking a greater number or other kinds of such eggs, birds, or animals than those specified in the Governor's permission as aforesaid, or giving or affecting to give to any person or persons authority to take or obtain, together with what he shall himself take or obtain, in the whole, more than the number or other than the kinds specified in such permission as aforesaid, shall be held guilty of wilfully taking all such young or eggs as he shall have taken or obtained, or shall have given or affected to give authority in the whole to take or obtain.

X. No person shall at any time, either with or without a game licence, kill, catch, capture, pursue, hunt, or shoot at any ostrich or game on any lands within this Colony, without the permission of the owner of such lands, if private property, under the penalty of any sum not exceeding three pounds sterling for the first offence, and not exceeding six pounds sterling for every subsequent offence, in addition to such penalty, if any, to which he may be liable under any other section of this Act,—the penalty provided by this section to be paid to the owner of the land; but any permission given by such owner after the event with reference to the offence shall be as valid as if given before the offence. But no penalty under this section shall in any case be enforced unless notice and warning shall have been given, either personally or by letter, or in the Government Gazette, or in a local newspaper, by the owner that he is desirous to preserve the game thereon.

XI. In any case prosecuted under this Act every ostrich or game animal shall be presumed to have been wild until shown to have been domesticated.

XII. The several fines abovementioned may be recovered by any person, on behalf as well of himself as of the Crown, in all cases where the fine shall not exceed fifty pounds sterling, in the Court of the Resident Magistrate of the district where the offence may have been committed, and in other cases in the Supreme Court, or in the Court of the Eastern Districts, as the case may be, or the Circuit Court for the district where the offence may have been committed; and a moiety of any fine imposed upon any offender, on conviction, for contravening any of the provisions of this Act, shall, save as is hereinbefore otherwise specially provided, be paid to the person on whose information such conviction shall have taken place, provided such person be not an accessory.

XIII. It shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation in the Government Gazette, to proclaim and declare as to any parts of this Colony that any bird or animal, to be specified in such proclamation, shall be protected and not destroyed for any number of years, not exceeding three, to be mentioned in such proclamation, and also to extend to any such bird or other animal the protection of this Act, as if the same were included among the game animals in this Act defined, or to extend to any such bird or other animal the protection of such of the provisions of this Act as may be specified in such proclamation, as if such bird or other animal were expressly protected by name in such provisions, respectively; and also from time to time to revoke, alter, or amend such proclamation.

XIV. It shall be lawful for the Governor, on good cause shown by the civil commissioner or the divisional council of any of the divisions of the Colony, to suspend, by proclamation in the Government Gazette, in whole or in part, as may seem right, the operation of this Act, or any part or parts thereof, in the said division, for any time or with regard to any animal, or both for any time and with regard to any animal, to be specified in the said proclamation.

XV. Any offender being convicted for contravention of any of the provisions of this Act, in default of payment of the fine imposed upon him or her, and in default of other provision in that behalf in this Act specially provided, shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour, and with or without spare diet, unless the fine be sooner paid.

XVI. In any prosecution for infringement of any section of this Act by doing anything without licence, it shall be prima facie sufficient for the prosecutor to show that the accused does not appear as the holder of a licence in the list of persons to whom the requisite licence in such case shall have been issued, respectively, kept in the office of the resident magistrate before whom, or in whose district, such case shall be brought for trial in any court; but it shall be lawful for such accused person to rebut such evidence by proof that he was in fact, at the time of the commission of the offence charged, the lawful holder of such a licence.

XVII. Until otherwise proclaimed, the following shall be the close or fence season for the animals and the districts hereinafter mentioned, respectively.

BILL

TO

Regulate the issue of Superannuation Allowances to the Officers of the Armed and Mounted Frontier Police, and to make provision for other Members thereof becoming unfit for Service.

WHEREAS by the regulations of Her Majesty's Service, it is provided that no public officer shall be entitled to retire on a superannuation allowance, unless incapacitated by bodily infirmity, until he shall have attained the age of sixty, and it is further provided that such superannuation allowance shall be calculated at the rate of one sixtieth of the salary paid to the officer at the time of his retirement, for each year that he shall have been in the service of Her Majesty: And whereas, from the nature of the duties which the officers of the Armed and Mounted Frontier Police are called upon to discharge, it is reasonable that they should be permitted to retire at their own option before attaining the age of sixty, and likewise that their superannuation allowances should be calculated at a scale more favourable to such officers: And whereas it is desirable to make provision for the cases of other members of the said Police who may become unfit for further service: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. The Governor may, if he shall see fit, grant to every officer of the Armed and Mounted Frontier Police above the rank of sergeant a superannuation allowance, to be calculated in proportion to his rate of salary and length of service, on his attaining the age of fifty years; and every such officer shall be entitled to claim such allowance on his attaining the age of fifty-five years.

II. In calculating the amount of superannuation allowance to which any such officer shall be entitled on retirement, whether from bodily infirmity or otherwise, there shall be granted to him a sum equal to one fiftieth of his salary then payable to him for each year that he shall have served in the said Police.

III. If any member of the said Police shall be promoted to be an officer thereof above the rank of sergeant the time which he may have served therein before such promotion shall be included in the computation of the term for which the superannuation allowance shall be granted.

IV. The Governor may, if he shall think fit, require any such officer, on his attaining the age of fifty years, to retire from the said Frontier Police, on condition of receiving a superannuation allowance to be calculated in manner hereinbefore provided.

V. Subject to the provisions hereinbefore contained, the superannuation allowances to be granted to the officers of the said Police above the rank of sergeant shall be issued in conformity with the general regulations of Her Majesty's Service in that behalf established.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Governor, in the case of any sergeant of the said force who shall have served not less than twenty-one years therein, either as sergeant or in any other grade, the whole period of his service, in whatever grade, being counted, and who shall have attained the age of fifty years, or who shall, by bodily infirmity or otherwise, become incapacitated for further service, and shall in either case have conducted himself during his service uniformly to the satisfaction of his superiors in office, to grant to such sergeant a retiring pension not exceeding the sum of one shilling and sixpence per diem during his life.

VII. It shall be lawful for the Governor, in the case of any other member of the said force, not being an officer of the same over the rank of sergeant, falling within the provisions of the last foregoing section, who shall have served not less than fifteen years therein, and who shall have attained the age of forty-five years, or who shall, by bodily infirmity or otherwise, become incapacitated for further service, and shall in either case have conducted himself during his service uniformly to the satisfaction of his superiors in office, to grant to such member a pension not exceeding in any case the sum of one shilling per diem during his life.

This Company having a Revenue from Premiums alone of One Hundred and Forty Thousand Pounds per Annum, is in a position to transact every description of LIFE ASSURANCE on as favourable terms as any other Company of equal standing.

Holders of Life Policies on the profit scale, who may hereafter fill confidential situations and require to be guaranteed, may secure considerable reductions in their life premiums, by making their life policies contingent on the continuance of fidelity.

Three fourths of the Profits are divisible amongst the Policy-holders on the "Profit Scale of Premiums," affording the advantages of Mutual Assurance, with the further security of a large subscribed capital, the prudent employment of which gives a greater ratio of increase to business and to profits than a purely Mutual Society can achieve.

Assurances are granted for £10,000 on a single life.

Premiums may be paid in one sum, or yearly, or by half-yearly, or quarterly instalments.

Policies upon which five years' payments have been made, are purchased by the Society or the Policy-holders, if unable to continue paying, may receive fresh Policies in exchange (on which no further payment is required), equivalent to the then value of the Premiums already paid.

On Policies amounting to £200 and upwards for the whole of life, one-half of the Premium may remain unpaid at Interest for five years.

No extra Premium charged for voyage to and residence in any part of Europe, New Zealand, Australia (except at the "Diggings,") the Cape Colony, or British America.

This is the only Society transacting Life Assurance with Fidelity Guarantee, whose Policies of Guarantee are authorized (by Special Act of Parliament) to be accepted by Government.

The Guarantee Policies of this Society are accepted by the Treasury, Poor Law Board, and other public departments, and by the leading London and Provincial Joint-Stock and Private Banks, the principal Railway Companies, Life and Fire Offices, Public Companies, Institutions, and Commercial Firms throughout the Kingdom.

Immediate Annuities payable during the whole Life may be purchased on the following Scale:

Annuities granted at the undermentioned Ages for every £100 of Purchase Money.

Ages	50	60	70
Annual.	£7 17s. 6d.	£10 3s. 4d.	£16 4s. 1d.

The Premiums are payable yearly in advance; or at the option of the Assured, half-yearly, with a slight increase of the Rate.

This being a MUTUAL ASSURANCE SOCIETY, the profits are not, as in Proprietary Companies, divided between the Partners and the Assured,—the whole belong to the Policy-holders.

The Profits are divided amongst the holders of Policies at the termination of every period of THREE YEARS, and each holder may determine that his share shall be added to the sum assured by him,—or converted into Present Payment—or applied in Reduction of the future Annual Premiums payable by him.

The last Division was declared at the Annual Meeting held on the 6th July, 1868. The Profits then divided were at the rate of 2½ per cent. per annum, or 7½ per cent. for the three years. Thus a Policy of £500, taken out before 1st November, 1865, has £37 10s., three years' Profit, added to it; a Policy of the same amount, taken out before 1st November, 1867, has £12 10s., one year's Profits added; while the total accumulated Profits on a Policy of £500, taken out in 1845, the first year of the Society's existence, now amount to the large sum of £401 0s. 4d.

The next Division of Profits will take place in July, 1871.

Persons proposing for assurance will be required to produce Certificates of Baptism, or such other proofs of age as the Directors may deem to be satisfactory.

Candidates for assurance are not charged with fees payable to the Medical Officers of the Society.

Prospectuses, Forms of Proposal, and all information respecting the Society may be obtained at the Office in Cape Town, or at any of the Agencies throughout the Colony

By order of the Board,

KAAPSTAD, DEN 11DEN JUNIJ, 1869.

GOUVERNEMENTS BERIGT No. 151, 1869.

Koloniale Secretarie, Kaap de Goede Hoop
7 Junij, 1869.

HET heeft Zijne Excellentie den Gouverneur behaagd, tot algemeen narigt de bekendmaking te gelasten van het volgende Berigt aan Zeevarenden, bevattende een verslag van een onderzoek, ingesteld naar eenige Zandbanken in den Indischen Oceaan, die gezegd worden te liggen in het regtstreeksche vaarwater van terugkeerende Schepen tusschen de Straat Sunda en de Kaap.

Ter Ordonnantie van Z. E. den Gouverneur,
R. SOUTHEY,
Koloniale Secretaris.

BERIGT AAN ZEEVARENDEN.

Het volgende verslag van een onderzoek naar eenige twijfelachtige zandbanken in den Indischen Oceaan, die beweerd worden te liggen in de regtstreeksche route van terugkeerende Schepen tusschen de straat Sunda en de Kaap, wordt tot algemeen narigt bekend gemaakt.

(Get.) GEO. G. RANDOLPH,
Bevelvoerende Kommodore.

H. M. S. Seringapatam te Simonsbaai,
15 Mei, 1869.

Beweerde Zandbanken in den Indischen Oceaan.

De Irma Vigia.—Een gevaarlijke plek, beweerd te zijn "gezien door het Fransche schip Irma en andere, twijfelachtig," is geplaatst op de Admiraliteitskaarten op 26° 7′ Z B. en 43° 8′ O.L., ten zuidwesten van Madagaskar. Hare ligging is dus regtstreeks in het vaarwater dat van Indie en China huiswaarts keerende schepen wordt aanbevolen te volgen. omtrent welke Vigias Maury aanmerkt, dat er "geene konden worden gevonden, meer berekend om de scheepvaart te bemoeijelijken, de schepen van hun koers te leiden en dus den koophandel te benadeelen."

Op 8 mijlen O. ten Z. over deze plek, op 26° 9′ Z B. en 43° 16′ O.L., werd door H.M. St. Serpent eene diepte gepeild van 2280 vademen.

Indien nu de hellingen der steilste zeepieken in vulkanische streken voor vergelijking worden uitgekozen, bevindt men, dat er een diameter van 24 mijlen vereischt wordt om de bazis te vormen van een onderzeeschen berg, die deszelfs steile en verheven kruin opsteekt tot het waterpas der zee van zulk eene diepte, nl. 13,680 voet. Maar deze minimum begrooting kan veilig worden verworpen, vermits wij meer praktische bewijzen hebben.

De helling van vele zeekusten zijn nu naauwkeurig bekend. Op de hoogte van Bali en Java is de bevaarde diepte gevonden op 28 mijlen van de kust; op de hoogte van Palmas (nabij Teneriffe) op 45 mijlen. Deze zijn de steilste die bekend zijn. Op de hoogte van Madeira wordt die diepte gevonden op 90 mijlen; bij Portugal op 160; ten westen van de Kaap op 260; de Azores 150; Ascension, 200 mijlen. Om die reden mag de Zeevarende het bestaan van het gevaar wel betwijfelen, althans waar het op de Kaart is aangewezen.

Peilingen van Kapt. WICHELO.

De Serpent heeft op de liggingen, voor die ondiepte aangewezen, langs de parallel van 32° 38′ Z.B., van 30° 46′ tot 30° 13′ O.L., op afstanden van 4 mijlen, peilingen genomen en kon geen grond vinden op diepten, varierende van 100 tot 270 vademen, alwaar 42, 43 en 48 vademen verschijnen op de kaart.

De Glendinning, nabij de Kieling Eilanden, die beweerst wordt te liggen op 9° 54′ Z.B., 97° 50′ O.L, is ook zulk eene ondiepte.

Zij is nimmer noch vóór noch sedert gezien, de Queen Mab door eene "Melkzee" passerende door één van het talrijke aantal schepen, dat hare veronderstelde ligging overgaat; en daar de bewijsvoeringen ten gunste van haar bestaan (medegedeeld in de Nautical Magazine) eerder dienen om dat tegen te spreken dan te bevestigen, zoo behoort de naam van "Glendinning" met dien van "Irma" en van "Wichelo," die reeds te lang onze Kaarten ontzierd en de Zeeman bemoeijelijkt heeft, onmiddelijk te worden uitgewischt. De Serpent is in 1865 over hare beweerde standplaats gegaan en vond geen grond met 140 tot 470 vademen lijns over eene uitgestrektheid van 30 mijlen.

Ten slotte mag er regtmatig worden bijgevoegd dat indien de berigt-gevers van die gevaren, bij nadere overweging van de gegevens, waarop die liggingen zijn berekend, redenen mogten vinden om andere positien daarvoor aan te wijzen, hetgeen niet zelden het geval is geweest, dan moeten zij de verantwoordelijkheid dragen van door zoodanige strafbare dwaling eene menigte schepen in werkelijk gevaar te hebben geleid, ten einde een gewaand gevaar te ontwijken,

(Get.) C. J. BULLOCK,
Kommdt. van H.M. St. Serpent.

VICTORIA, bij de Gratie Gods van het Vereenigde Koningrijk van Groot Brittannie en Ierland, Koningin, Handhaafster van het Geloof. Aan den Baljuw van de Kolonie de Kaap de Goede Hoop, of zijn wettigen Adjunct,—Salut.

AANGEZIEN ons is gebleken uit de Petitie aan den Edel Achtbaren Heer EDWARD DWEIJER, Oudsten Regter, en aan den Edel Achtbaren Heer CHARLES THOMAS SMITH, de Regters bij ons Hof voor de Oostelijke Distrikten van de Kaap de Goede Hoop en Regters bij ons Hoog Geregtshof onzer gezegde Kolonie, van THOMAS BROOKS, van Grahamstad, in diens hoedanigheid van eenig Curator in den Insolventen Boedel van GARRETT WALSH, van Fort Beaufort, tegen JOHN GOLLER, bevorens wonende te Fort Beaufort,—dat de gezegde JOHN GOLLER regtmatig en naar waarheid aan den gezegden THOMAS BROOKS schuldig is de som van Twee-en-vijftig Ponden Zeven Shillings en Twee Pence Sterling, als en voor het saldo, debet op en uit krachte van sekere drie vervallen promessen, elk voor de som van £20, elk afzonderlijk en respektivelijk gedagteekend den 3den Augustus, 1867, en betaalbaar respektivelijk over zes, twaalf en achttien maanden na derzelver datum, allen gemaakt en geteekend door den gezegden JOHN GOLLER ten favoure van den gezegden THOMAS BROOKS, of Order, en door deze laatste geëndosseerd in blanko, welke promessen gepasseerd waren aan den gezegden THOMAS BROOKS in diens gezegde hoedanigheid, in voldoening van den Koopschat van zeker Vastgoed, gelegen te Fort Beaufort voornoemd, verkocht aan den gezegden JOHN GOLLER uit gezegden Boedel;

En aangezien ons verder bij proces verbaal gebleken is, dat op last van dit Hof de Boedel van den gezegden JOHN GOLLER op den 20sten dag van Mei, 1869, onder Sekwestratie is geplaatst in handen van den Meester van het Hoog Geregtshof, tenzij redenen ter kontrarie worden aangevoerd op den 12den dag van Julij, 1869;

Zoo is het dat wij u gelasten den gezegden JOHN GOLLER te dagvaarden om te verschijnen voor de Regters bij ons gezegd Hof voor de Oostelijke Distrikten te Grahamstad, op den 12den dag van Julij, 1869, des voormiddags 10 ure, om redenen aan te voeren, waarom zijn Boedel niet bij vonnis van het gezegde Hof zal worden verwezen tot Sekwestratie ten bate zijner krediteuren; en waar gij van de dagvaarding zult verslag doen met al wat door u daarin is gedaan.

Getuige de Edel Achtbare Heer EDWARD DWEIJER, Oudste Regter bij ons gezegd Hof voor de Oostelijke Distrikten, te Grahamstad, heden, den 29sten dag van Mei, 1869.

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

Government Gazette.

Published by Authority.

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1869.

[GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 165, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
14th June, 1869.

HIS Excellency the Governor has directed the publication of the following Drafts of Bills, which it is his intention to submit for the consideration of Parliament in its next ensuing Session, viz.:—

Bill to amend Act No. 15 of 1856, intituled "An Act to amend the Laws regulating the relative Rights and Duties of Masters, Servants, and Apprentices.

Bill to make better provision for the Construction and Maintenance of the Main Roads of the Colony.

By Command of His Excellency the Governor,

R. SOUTHEY, Colonial Secretary.

TO

Amend Act No. 15 of 1856, intituled "An Act to amend the Laws regulating the relative Rights and Duties of Masters, Servants, and Apprentices."

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Act No. 15 of 1856, intituled "An Act to amend the Laws regulating the relative Rights and Duties of Masters, Servants, and Apprentices:" Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. The fourth section of Chapter two of Act No. 15 of 1856, intituled "An Act to amend the Laws regulating the relative Rights and Duties of Masters, Servants, and Apprentices," shall be and the same is hereby repealed; and from and after the promulgation of this Act no written contract shall be valid or binding for a longer period than one year from the date thereof, nor shall any contract for service in writing be valid or binding in any case on any servant, unless the service so contracted for shall be to commence within the period of one month from the date of the contract, except in each of such cases the contract be signed by the name, or in case of illiterate persons, with the mark of the contracting parties, in the presence of a magistrate or other proper officer, nor unless such magistrate or other proper officer shall subscribe such written contract, in attestation of the fact that it was entered into by the parties voluntarily, and with a clear understanding of its meaning and effect. So much of the said Act as is contained in the fifth chapter thereof shall be and is hereby repealed, and the following shall be and be read as if the same were the fifth chapter of the same Act.

OF THE JURISDICTION OF THE RESIDENT MAGISTRATE IN CASES BETWEEN MASTERS AND SERVANTS AND APPRENTICES.

II. The resident magistrates within the Colony have jurisdiction in all cases arising in their respective districts between masters and their servants and apprentices, and with reference to their relative rights and duties, or to any matter or thing, or offence, as to which provision is made by this Act.

III. Every resident magistrate has jurisdiction in any such case as aforesaid, brought before him against any person being at the time within his district, whether the grounds of such case arose within the district or not, or whether the person against whom the case is brought has his usual residence or place of abode in that district or not; but the magistrate shall, whenever it shall appear to him that any such case can be more conveniently tried or determined by the resident magistrate of any other district, dismiss such case, and in the event of his doing so, when the servant or apprentice is accused of desertion, and when he shall have probable cause shown to him, by oath or affidavit of any credible person, for believing this to be the fact, such magistrate may, if he think fit, issue a warrant for the conveyance, under sure custody, of such servant or apprentice to the town or place where the court of such other magistrate is held; provided the master shall undertake to pay the expense of such conveyance; and the magistrate by whom the cause shall be ultimately tried and decided shall adjudge by which of the parties the said expenses shall be paid.

IV. Any servant or apprentice may be fined any sum not exceeding ———— pounds sterling, and in default of payment of the same may be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding one month, in case he shall be convicted of any of the following acts or instances of misconduct, that is to say:

1. If he shall, after having entered into a contract, fail or refuse, without lawful cause, to commence the service at the stipulated time.
2. If he shall, without leave or other lawful cause, absent himself from his master's premises, or other place proper and appointed for the performance of his work.
3. If he shall, during working hours, unfit himself, by becoming or being intoxicated, for the proper performance of his work.
4. If he shall neglect to perform any work which it was his duty to have performed, or if he shall negligently perform any work which, from its nature, it was his duty, under his contract, to have performed carefully and properly.
5. If he shall, without leave and for his own purposes, make use of any horse, vehicle, or other property belonging to his master.
6. If he shall refuse to obey any command of his master, or of any person lawfully placed by his master in authority over him, which command it was his duty to obey.
7. If he shall make any brawl or disturbance in, at, or near his master's dwelling-house, and after being, by his master or by any other person belonging to his master's family, desired to desist, shall, notwithstanding, continue making such brawl or disturbance.
8. If he shall use any abusive or insulting language to his master, or to his master's wife, or to any person placed by his master in authority over him, calculated to provoke a breach of the peace.

V. In case of a second conviction under the last preceding section, or of more such convictions than a second, within the space of six months next after any former conviction, the offender may, in regard to such second or any further conviction, be fined any sum not exceeding ———— pounds sterling, and in default of payment thereof may be imprisoned and kept at hard labour for any period not exceeding six weeks, and shall be liable during such imprisonment (or so much thereof as the convicting magistrate shall adjudge) to be kept in solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or on spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter is mentioned, and upon a conviction under the next ensuing section of this Act followed within six months by a conviction under the last preceding section, the offender shall be liable to the like punishment, as if both convictions had been had under the last preceding section.

VI. Any servant or apprentice may be fined any sum not exceeding ———— pounds sterling, and, in default of payment, may be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding two months, or may be imprisoned without the infliction of any fine, at the discretion of the magistrate, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding two months; and during any such imprisonment as in this section is mentioned may be kept in solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or on spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter mentioned, in case he shall be convicted of any of the following acts or instances of misconduct, that is to say:

1. If he shall, by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by drunkenness, do any act tending to the immediate loss, damage, or serious risk of any property placed by his master in his charge, or placed by any other person in his charge for delivery to, or on account of, his master.
2. If he shall, by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by drunkenness, refuse or omit to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving in safety any property placed by his master in his charge, or placed by any other person in his charge for delivery to, or on account of, his master.

3. If, being employed as a herdsman, he shall fail to report to his master, on the earliest opportunity for so doing, the death or loss of any animals placed in his charge, which he shall allege to have died or been lost,—or if he shall fail to preserve, for his master's use or inspection, any part or parts of any such animal as he shall allege to have died, which part or parts he shall, by his master, have been directed, and shall have undertaken, to preserve, unless such herdsman shall prove to the satisfaction of the court the death of such animals,—or if it shall be made by his master to appear that any animal or animals alleged by him to have strayed away or otherwise become irrecoverably lost, could not, under the circumstances of the case, have become irrecoverably lost without his act or default.
4. If, being employed in any capacity other than that of a herdsman, he shall allege the loss of any property placed in his charge by or for his master, and it shall be made by his master to appear that the property in question could not have been lost without his act or default.
5. If he shall, without lawful cause, assault, or attempt to assault, or threaten to assault his master, his master's wife, or any relation of his master living with him in the same house, or any of his fellow-servants: Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent a preparatory examination being taken in any case of assault which shall seem to require that form of proceeding, in order to the trial of the offender before the Supreme or some circuit court
6. If he shall, without leave or other lawful cause, depart from his master's service, with intent not to return again thereto.

VII. In case of a second conviction under the last preceding section, or of more such convictions than a second, within the space of six months next after any former conviction, the offender may, in regard to such second or any further conviction, be fined any sum not exceeding ——— pounds sterling, and in default of payment thereof, may be imprisoned and kept at hard labour for any period not exceeding three months, or may be imprisoned, without the infliction of any fine, at the discretion of the magistrate, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding three months, and shall be liable during any such imprisonment as in this section is mentioned, or so much thereof as the convicting magistrate shall adjudge, to be kept in solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or on spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter mentioned. And upon a conviction under the fourth section of this Act, followed within six months by a conviction under the last preceding section, the offender shall be liable to the like punishment as if both convictions had been had under the last preceding section.

VIII. No fine paid or period of imprisonment undergone, under this Act, by a servant or apprentice, shall have the effect of cancelling the contract of service or apprenticeship.

IX. Nothing in any of the preceding sections, from fourth to eighth, both inclusive, shall extend or apply to servants or apprentices under the age of sixteen years, or to any apprentice, of whatsoever age, who shall be apprenticed to learn any branch of the medical or legal profession, or to any merchant or dealer, or to any apprentice with whom any fee or premium not less than five pounds shall have been paid.

X. No servant shall be convicted under any of the foregoing sections of this Act unless the master shall lodge his complaint within one month next after the day on which he became cognizant of the offence or alleged offence.

XI. If any servant or apprentice whose contract of service or apprenticeship still subsists shall, upon being discharged from prison after undergoing imprisonment under this Act, refuse or neglect, upon his master's request, to resume his service under his contract, he shall be liable to be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding one month, and so on for successive periods, not any of them exceeding one month, until he shall consent to resume, and shall resume, his service under his contract; and every such period of imprisonment, or so much thereof as the convicting magistrate shall adjudge, may be with solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or with spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter mentioned: Provided, however, that no servant or apprentice shall, under this Act, be imprisoned continuously, and without any intermediate resumption of service, under his contract, for longer than six months in all.

XII. When any period of imprisonment shall be undergone by any servant or apprentice for any offence under this Act, a like period shall be added to the term of service stipulated for in the contract of service or apprenticeship, as it subsisted when such imprisonment was commenced, so that such servant or apprentice shall be obliged to serve a further period equal to the period of his imprisonment, in addition to the term of service originally stipulated.

XIII. When the offence of which any servant or apprentice shall be convicted under this Act shall be the offence of absenting himself from, or of departing from, the service of his master, then the period of his absence shall be added to the term of service originally stipulated, in like manner as in the last preceding section directed in regard to the period of imprisonment therein mentioned; and it shall be the duty of the magistrate convicting such servant or apprentice to ascertain, at the trial, the period of absence, and to certify the same by some writing under his hand, to be delivered to the master, and the period mentioned in such writing shall, by all courts and in all places, be deemed to be added to the original term of service.

XIV. As often as any property of the master shall be lost or damaged by means of any act or omission of his servant or apprentice, which act or omission is by this Act declared to be an offence, it shall be lawful for the magistrate, should he so think fit, and the master shall thereto agree, to ascertain whether such servant or apprentice is able to make compensation for such loss or damage, and if so, to fix the amount of such compensation, and make such order as to the payment thereof, either at once or by instalments out of wages to be yet earned, or otherwise, as shall seem reasonable and just, and in the meantime, and until default made in such payment, or in the payment of some such instalment, to defer passing sentence upon the party offending; but such magistrate shall preserve on record the evidence in the case, and, upon application of the master, and proof given, upon oath, of some such default as aforesaid, shall issue his warrant for the apprehension of such servant or apprentice, and shall pronounce upon him such sentence as, regard being had to the circumstances of the original offence, and to the degree in which such servant or apprentice has made, or failed to make, the compensation ordered, shall appear equitable and just.

XV. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice who shall be convicted of any offence under this Act shall desire the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, the magistrate, should he so think fit, may order the cancellation of the same, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly: Provided that such cancellation shall not prevent the execution of any sentence which the magistrate may pronounce or may have pronounced upon the offender for his offence.

XVI. As often as the master shall have caused any servant or apprentice to be brought before the magistrate to answer any charge preferred against him by such master, and such master shall fail in obtaining the conviction of such servant or apprentice, then the magistrate, should he so think fit, may, at the desire of such servant or apprentice, order the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly.

XVII. In order to save time and expense, the master of any servant or apprentice alleging matter of complaint against such servant or apprentice may warn and order such servant or apprentice, to appear before the magistrate of the district, on some day and hour to be named by such master or apprentice, as the case may be, there to answer some certain charge, of the nature of which such complainant shall inform such defendant; and should the defendant fail to attend, in pursuance of such warning, the magistrate, upon the application of the complainant, and upon proof, by affidavit, that such defendant received such warning, and received the same a reasonable time before the time fixed for his appearance, and that, to the best of the deponent's knowledge and belief, such defendant has no lawful cause for not appearing, may issue his warrant for the apprehension of such defendant, in order to the trial of the complaint.

XVIII. Any servant or apprentice having ground of complaint against his master under this Act shall be entitled to require reasonable leave of absence from his master's service for the purpose of proceeding to the resident magistrate to make his complaint and to take out the process of the resident magistrate's court to compel the attendance of such master and of the witnesses deemed necessary by such servant or apprentice in support of his case; and any master refusing such reasonable leave of absence to such servant, or delaying the same unreasonably, shall be deemed guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall on conviction thereof be fined any sum not exceeding ——— pounds, and in default of payment shall be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any term not exceeding ——— months; and no servant or apprentice who shall leave his master's service for the purpose merely of lodging any complaint which he may have against his master, after such leave of absence shall have been unreasonably refused, shall by reason only of his so leaving his master's service be deemed to have deserted his master's service, or to have in anywise contravened this Act.

XIX. Should any complainant who shall have warned any such defendant as aforesaid to appear as aforesaid himself fail to appear at the time fixed by him for the appearance of such defendant, then and there to prosecute his complaint, the magistrate, upon proof, by affidavit, that such defendant was warned by such complainant to appear at the said time, to answer a charge of a certain nature, shall ascertain the distance which such defendant shall have travelled, and the distance which any person or persons shall have travelled whom such defendant may have brought with him as witnesses, and shall, upon being satisfied that such witnesses would or might have been necessary for his defence, make an order, in writing, against such complainant for the payment of the expenses of such defendant and his witnesses, if any, at and after the same rate as if each of the said persons had been a witness summoned at the instance of the public prosecutor, and attending to give evidence in the court of such magistrate upon a criminal case; and if such complainant shall, upon presentation to him of such order by the person or persons in whose favour the same shall have been made, refuse or neglect to comply therewith, he shall incur and be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and in default of payment of the same, to imprisonment with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding one month: Provided that one such order may include the expenses of all or any of the persons whose expenses are to be paid, or separate orders may be delivered to one or more of such persons, as may be most convenient.

XX. No servant or apprentice summoned or otherwise brought before the magistrate to answer for any offence alleged in the summons or otherwise to be in contravention of the fourth section of this Act, shall be entitled to an acquittal because the proof given in the case may show that he is only guilty of contravening the sixth section of this Act; and no servant or apprentice summoned or otherwise brought before the magistrate to answer for any offence alleged in the summons, or otherwise to be in contravention of the sixth section aforesaid shall be entitled to an acquittal because the proof given may show that he is only guilty of contravening the said fourth section: Provided, however, that the punishment to be awarded upon a conviction in any such case shall not exceed the punishment provided by the said fourth section; and provided, also, that the servant or apprentice shall have had, in every case, sufficient notice of the nature of the charge which he was called upon to answer.

XXI. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice shall be convicted of the offence of withholding the wages of such servant or apprentice without reasonable and probable cause for believing that the wages so withheld were not really due, he shall be fined any sum not exceeding five pounds sterling and not less than one pound sterling, and in default of payment shall be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one month; and the convicting magistrate shall, besides passing the said sentence, give judgment for the amount of the wages so wrongfully withheld, and for the costs of the proceedings, which costs shall be the same as in a civil case before the said court; and the said wages and costs shall, if not paid, be levied of the moveable property of the said master, under and by virtue of a warrant under the hand of the said magistrate, together with the cost of the said levy: Provided, however, that when and as often as the magistrate shall acquit the master of the aforesaid offence, but shall yet find that wages are due by such master to such servant or apprentice which have been retained by such master, it shall be lawful for such magistrate, and he is hereby required forthwith to give judgment for the amount of wages which he shall find to be due to such servant, and make such order as to the payment of costs, should he award any, by the master as shall seem to such magistrate to be in accordance with real and substantial justice.

XXII. If any master shall, after judgment obtained against him for any wages, still withhold the payment thereof, or of any costs which he shall have been ordered to pay, he shall be deemed by such withholding to have anew committed a contravention of the last foregoing section, and may again be proceeded against under the same section; and in such case the former judgment, even though the same may not have been a conviction, may on his conviction be offered in evidence as an aggravation, under the clause hereinafter contained in that behalf.

XXIII. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice shall be convicted of the offence of having, either before or after the expiration of the contract of service or apprenticeship, upon demand made and without lawful cause, refused to deliver or permit to be taken away any of such servant or apprentice's cattle, sheep, goats, or other animals lawfully remaining or being upon such master's land, without reasonable and probable cause for believing that the animals in question were lawfully detained, such master shall be fined any sum not less than one pound for every animal so unlawfully detained; provided, however, that the total amount of the fine so payable shall not exceed the sum of five pounds altogether; and in default of payment, shall be imprisoned for any period, with or without hard labour, not exceeding one month; and the convicting magistrate shall, besides passing the said sentence, give judgment for the delivery of the said animals, and for costs, as in a civil action before the said court, which costs, if not paid, shall be levied in the same manner as in the twenty-first section directed; but neither the fact that the contract of service or apprenticeship of such servant or apprentice has not yet expired, nor the fact that money is due or alleged to be due by such servant or apprentice to the master, shall be deemed or taken to be, of itself, reasonable and probable cause for such detention: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall impair the effect of any express contract of a lawful kind, by force of which the master shall claim a right to retain any such animals as aforesaid.

XXIV. If any master shall, after judgment given for the delivery of any animals under the last foregoing section, upon demand lawfully made, withhold or refuse to deliver or permit to be taken away the said animals, he shall be deemed by such withholding or refusal to have anew committed a contravention of the last foregoing section, and may again be proceeded against under the same section; and in such case the former judgment may, on his conviction, be offered in evidence against him in aggravation, under the clause hereinafter contained in that behalf.

XXV. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice shall be convicted of the offence of failing, upon demand, to supply or deliver to such servant or apprentice, the food, bedding, or other articles stipulated for in the contract of service or apprenticeship, or of supplying or delivering food, bedding, or other articles, not conformable to the said contract, he shall be liable to be fined any sum not exceeding five pounds, and in default of payment, to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one month.

XXVI. Whenever any master shall be convicted of any offence under this Act, any former conviction for any offence under this Act, or under any portion of the Act 15 of 1856, repealed by this Act, on his part as a master, may be offered in evidence against him in aggravation; and if such aggravation shall be proved then the magistrate before whom he shall be tried shall, in lieu of the penalties hereinbefore provided in the case of first offences, fine the offender any sum not exceeding _____ pounds, and in default of payment sentence him to be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any term not exceeding _____; and the civil remedies shall be the same as in the case of a first conviction.

XXVII. As often as it shall be made to appear to the magistrate in any such case as aforesaid, instituted by any servant or apprentice against his master, that the master has not fairly and faithfully performed his part of the contract of service or apprenticeship, the magistrate may, should he so think fit, and should the servant or apprentice so desire, order the cancellation of such contract, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly.

XXVIII. As often as any master shall be convicted of wrongfully and unlawfully assaulting his servant or apprentice, the convicting magistrate may, should he so think fit, and should the servant or apprentice so desire, order the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly.

XXIX. As often as any master shall complain against his servant or apprentice, or any servant or apprentice shall complain against his master, the prosecution shall be a private prosecution; but should it appear that any servant or apprentice complaining against his master is unable from poverty to advance the costs of process and of witnesses, then the process of the court of resident magistrate for compelling the attendance of the party accused, and of all necessary witnesses, shall be issued at the public charge: Provided, always, that if, at the trial, the charge shall appear to have been brought by the said servant or apprentice without reasonable or probable cause, such servant or apprentice shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and also to defray the costs of process and of the witnesses in the case; and in default of payment of such fine and costs, shall be liable to be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one month: Provided, also, that such fine may be imposed upon the occasion of such trial, and without any fresh action or proceeding for the recovery thereof.

XXX. In all convictions under this Act, no prisoner shall be adjudged to be kept in solitary confinement for more than three days in each week, or on spare diet more frequently than every second day: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to empower the magistrate, in the infliction of solitary confinement and spare diet, to exceed such instructions as shall have been or shall from time to time be made by the Governor under Act No. 21 of 1856.

XXXI. All fines under this Act shall, when recovered, be paid into the public treasury.

XXXII. If any child under the age of sixteen years shall be wrongfully detained by any person as a servant or inmate, the resident magistrate of the district in which it shall be so detained, shall have jurisdiction to order the restoration of such child to such of its parents as would, under this Act, be entitled to apprentice such child, if then about to be apprenticed: Provided, however, that should it be made to appear, upon the hearing of any such case, that the person complained against originally obtained the said child in a lawful manner, and when an infant under the age of five years, and that the parent claiming the same has so acted in reference to the said child, and to the person bringing it up, as to make it a breach of good faith on the part of such parent to seek to take it away, as he or she now seeks to do,—and that from the character of the said parent, the purpose for which he or she appears to desire to obtain possession of the said child, or other circumstances, it will be for the manifest benefit of the said child to remain with the person with whom it is residing, rather than to be delivered to the parent applying, then the magistrate shall refuse to order the delivery of the said child, leaving it to the parent applying for the same to take such other proceedings, if any, as he or she may be advised; and such magistrate may, in the meantime, authorize the person rearing up such child to retain possession thereof.

TO

II. All and singular the roads mentioned and set forth in the schedule to this Act annexed, marked A, are hereby declared to be main roads; and it shall be lawful for the Governor, from time to time, at the request of the two Houses of Parliament, by proclamation to be published in the Government Gazette, to add to or alter the line of any main road mentioned in the said schedule, and to declare any other road not mentioned therein to be a main road, and to add to or alter the line of any such lastmentioned main road.

III. From and after the passing of this Act, the construction of any part of any main road mentioned in the said Schedule, not already completed, and the construction of any new main road, or part thereof, shall remain with and belong to the general Government; and the maintenance or keeping in repair of every such main road, and of all bridges on the same, shall, except as is hereinafter excepted, belong to the divisional councils of the Colony, respectively.

IV. And whereas certain portions of the said main roads and certain bridges have been constructed at great expense, and it is expedient that special provision should be made for the maintenance and repair of the same: Be it therefore further enacted that the maintenance and repair of the several portions of the main roads and of the bridges which are severally described and set forth in the Schedule B to this Act annexed shall remain with and belong to the general Government. And it shall be lawful for the Governor, from time to time, at the request of the two Houses of Parliament, by proclamation in the Government Gazette, to make the like provision for the maintenance and repair of any other portion of a main road, or of any bridge on the same, to be specially described and set forth in such proclamation

V. Subject to the limitations hereinafter contained, every divisional council is hereby invested, for the purposes of this Act, with all and singular the rights, powers, and authorities set forth in the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth sections of the Act No. 9 of 1858.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Governor with the advice of the Executive Council to establish toll-bars at the bridges mentioned in the Schedule B, and on or near the portions of main roads set forth and described in the said Schedule, or which shall be hereafter set forth and described in any proclamation to be published under the provisions of the fourth section hereof; and likewise at the several ferries mentioned in the Schedule C hereto annexed; and such persons as shall be authorized by the Governor so to do shall be entitled to demand and receive at such toll-bars respectively the several tolls set forth in the Schedule D to this Act annexed.

VII. From and after the passing of this Act, it shall not be lawful for any divisional council to establish any toll-bar on any main road, or on any divisional road leading into the same, at any place within ——————— miles from any toll-bar to be established under the preceding section. And in any case in which any divisional council shall, before the passing of this Act, have entered into a contract for the collection of the tolls at any toll-bar within the said distance of any such lastmentioned toll-bar, then such contract shall, until the termination thereof, be deemed to have been entered into with the general Government; and all sums which would have become payable thereunder to such divisional council shall be payable to the said Government.

VIII. Subject to the provisions of the preceding section, the tolls taken at toll-bars established or to be established on any main road lying or being within any division shall belong to the divisional council of such division; and every such council may, after having given six weeks' previous notice in the Government Gazette of their intention to establish a new toll, erect and establish at such places as it may deem fit, upon any main road under its charge, as many toll-bars as it may deem requisite, and may demand and receive thereat such reasonable tolls at it may deem proper, to be appropriated to the maintenance and repair or improvement of such main road. But no toll-bar shall be erected or established, and no toll shall be demanded or received, without the previous sanction of the Governor, to be signified by a proclamation to be by him published in the Government Gazette.

IX. Every divisional council may, with the previous sanction of the Governor, increase the amount of tolls from time to time payable at any toll-bars in such division; and it shall be lawful for any divisional council, from time to time, with such sanction as aforesaid, at its discretion, to alter particular items in any tariff of tolls, by increasing or diminishing the same, without altering the other items of such tariff, as also to add new items or omit old items. But it shall not be competent for any divisional council to increase any toll existing at the time of the taking effect of this Act to rates or amounts exceeding treble the rates or amounts of the tolls payable at the time of the taking effect of this Act.

X. All and singular the provisions of the fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth sections of the Act No. 9, 1858, in regard to toll-bars and tolls, shall, so far as any divisional council is concerned, apply to such council, and to all toll-bars and tolls within such division, in like manner as if the said sections, mutatis mutandis, were herein again set forth and word for word repeated.

XI. It shall be lawful for every divisional council, at any time after the first day of January, 1865, to assess rates upon the immovable property within such division, for the purpose of keeping the main roads except such portions thereof as are by this Act devolved upon the general Government within such division in repair, in like manner, precisely, as such council might now, by law, assess rates upon such property for making, improving, and maintaining the divisional roads of such division; and the valuation for the time being of such property under the Act No. 9, 1858, as amended by the "Road Act Amendment Act, 1860," shall be the valuation for assessment under this Act.

XII. It shall be lawful for any divisional council, should it so think fit, to include in one and the same rate moneys required for the purpose of main roads and moneys required for the purpose of divisional roads; but in every case of such joint assessment, some fixed and definite proportion of the rate assessed shall be devoted to the purpose of main roads, and the remainder shall be devoted to the divisional roads, and the accounts showing the receipts and expenditure for main roads shall be kept separate and distinct from the accounts showing the receipts and expenditure for divisional roads: Provided that so much of the thirty-eighth section of the Act No. 9, 1858, as provides that no rate shall exceed one penny in the pound upon the value of the property liable to be rated shall be, and the same is hereby repealed.

XIII. Every rate assessed under this Act for the maintenance of main roads shall be payable and recoverable as if it were a rate assessed for the purpose of divisional roads, and the provisions of the thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first sections of the Act No. 9, 1858, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to every such rate.

XIV. All moneys raised or received by any divisional council from any source whatever, for the purposes of this Act, shall be appropriated to the maintenance and keeping in repair of the several main roads within such division and the public dams upon such roads.

XV. As often as any line of main road within any division shall pass through any municipality or corporate town, the divisional council and the commissioners of such municipality or the corporation of such corporate town (as the case may be) shall contribute, share and share alike, to the cost of maintaining and keeping in repair that piece or portion of such main road lying within the limits of such municipality or corporate town, and the said council and the said commissioners or corporation shall, by mutual agreement, settle between them by whom, or in what manner, the work of maintaining and keeping in repair such piece or portion of road shall be performed: Provided that should the said council and the said commissioners, or corporation, be unable to agree in regard to any matter or question relating to their respective rights and duties under this section, the matter or question in controversy may by either party be submitted to the Governor, who, after hearing both parties, shall, with the advice of the Executive Council, decide the same, and whose decision shall be final.

XVI. If any divisional council shall neglect to maintain and keep in usual and customary repair any main road within the division to which such council belongs, it shall be lawful for the divisional council of any other division through any part of which the said main road shall run, or for any number of land-owners within any division through any part of which such main road shall run, not fewer than five, to require, in writing, the divisional council so in default to put the said main road lying within the said division into such repair as aforesaid; and if such council shall not, within a reasonable time after the receipt of such requisition, put the said main road into such repair as aforesaid, then it shall be lawful for the council which made the said requisition, or any five or more of the land-owners aforesaid (as the case may be), to apply to the Governor, who shall appoint some competent and proper person or persons to inspect the main road which is alleged to be out of repair; and should such person or persons report that such main road is out of repair, the Governor shall, by some writing, signed by the Colonial Secretary, direct the divisional council in default to put the said road into such repair as aforesaid within some reasonable time, to be limited in such writing; and unless, within such time, the said council shall put the said main road into such repair, then the Governor shall cause the same to be put into such repair, and the sum expended in putting the same into repair, together with the reasonable expenses of the person or persons who made the inspection aforesaid, shall be a debt due by the said divisional council: Provided, also, that a certificate, signed by the Auditor of the Colony, and setting forth the amount of such debt, shall in all courts and places be conclusive evidence of the amount thereof.

XVII. Whenever any main or divisional road shall have been diverted, or any new road shall have been declared open between any two points, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, in the case of a main road, and for the divisional council of the division in which the old line so diverted or lying between the points between which such new road shall be opened, in the case of a divisional road, or if such old line shall lie in more divisions than one, then for the divisional councils in which the same shall lie, to proclaim by notice in the Government Gazette that such old line shall be abandoned and closed as a line of road; and thereupon all public rights of way thereon shall cease and determine, and the owner of the land through which the same shall pass shall be at liberty to use his land as if no such old line had existed thereon or thereover.

XVIII. It shall be lawful for the Colonial Secretary, acting for and on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen, to sue the divisional council aforesaid for the amount of any such debt as aforesaid.

XIX. In case there should not be at any time after the taking effect of this Act, in any division, for the space of three months, any divisional council, then it shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation, to annex such division to any adjoining division in and for which division a divisional council shall exist, and thereupon the divisional council of such last-mentioned division shall become the divisional council of the other division so annexed, and shall be competent to exercise, and is hereby required to exercise, all and singular the provisions and authorities which might under this Act have been exercised by the divisional council of the division so annexed, did such a council exist: Provided, however, that such annexation shall take place only for the purposes of this Act, and not for any other purpose: And provided, also, that notwithstanding any such annexation, the divisional council of the division to which any other division shall have been annexed shall frame the accounts in the twenty-third section of this Act mentioned in such a way as to keep the receipts and expenditure of the division which shall have been so annexed as aforesaid distinct and separate from the receipts and expenditure of the division to which such division shall have been annexed.

XX. Notwithstanding anything in the preceding section mentioned, it shall be lawful for the Governor, under the circumstances therein set forth, instead of annexing the division in and for which no divisional council shall exist to another division, to nominate and appoint, by proclamation, such number of fit and proper persons as he shall select, being not less than five nor more than seven, to be the road council of such division, for the purposes of this Act; and every such nominated road council shall be competent to exercise, and is hereby required to exercise, all and singular the powers and authorities which might under this Act have been exercised by a divisional council duly elected, did such a council exist: Provided that the persons so nominated and appointed may or may not be persons resident within such division, as may be found convenient: And provided that every nominated council shall go out of office at the end of three years, reckoned from the day of the publication of the proclamation appointing such council, and be succeeded by another council to be appointed by proclamation as aforesaid, and so on, as long as no divisional council shall be elected for that division.

XXI. Should any division which shall have been annexed as aforesaid to any other division, or for which a divisional council shall have been appointed as aforesaid, at any time after such annexation or appointment, elect and have a divisional council for such division, it shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation, to revoke and annul such annexation or appointment from and after such convenient day as the Governor shall fix and announce; and from and after such day, but not sooner, the divisional council shall be deemed so elected and taken to be in office, and shall take over from the divisional council previously in office all moneys, contracts, officers, matters, and things belonging to the administration of such council in regard to such division, in the plight and condition in which they shall then be, precisely as if the period of office of such previous council had terminated by effluxion of time.

XXII. The twenty-fifth section of the Act No. 9 of 1858 shall be and the same is hereby repealed; and no road within the limits of the municipality of Cape Town shall henceforth be held to be a main or divisional road; and as often as any rate for road purposes shall be assessed and imposed by the divisional council of the Cape Division upon the immovable property within such division, then as regards all such property liable to rate within the said municipality, every such rate shall be deemed and taken to be one half, and no more, of the rate so assessed and imposed.

XXIII. Every divisional council shall cause an exact and particular account to be kept, and to be made up and balanced at the end of each year, of all moneys raised or collected or otherwise received by such council or by any person on its behalf, under the provisions or for the purposes of this Act, and of all rates assessed under this Act due and in arrear, and of all disbursements made and expenses incurred by the said council for the said purposes, distinguishing the amount derived from each source of receipt, and shall furnish a copy of such account, together with all necessary vouchers, to the Governor, in order that the same, after having been audited by the Auditor of the Colony, may be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

XXIV. Every valuator appointed after the taking effect of this Act by any divisional council, under the twenty-seventh section of the Act No. 9, 1858, shall, before entering upon the valuation entrusted to him, take, before any resident magistrate in the division to which such council belongs, the following oath:

I, A B, do solemnly swear that I will, to the best of my skill and knowledge, and without fear, favour, or prejudice, truly and impartially appraise and value all such property as I shall be called upon to appraise and value in the division of ———, for the purpose of road assessment, and that I shall conscientiously value the same at and for the full and fair price or sum which such property would, in my judgment, be likely to realize if brought at the time of such valuation to voluntary sale, and sold upon the terms and conditions usual in the said division. So help me God!

(Signed) A B.

Sworn at ——— this ——— day of ———, 186 .

Before me,—C D. Resident Magistrate.

XXV. Every such oath as aforesaid shall be lodged with and preserved by the divisional council to which it relates.

XXVI. The presiding member of any such court as is in the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth sections of the Act No. 9, 1858, described, shall, before said court proceeds to hear objections to any valuation, take himself, in open court, the following oath:

I, A B, do solemnly swear that I will, to the best of my skill and knowledge, and without fear, favour, or prejudice, truly and impartially adjudge upon all questions that may come before me as a member of this court. So help me God!

And the presiding member shall then administer the same oath to the members of the court.

XXVII. The moiety of the forfeiture in the fifty-sixth section of the Act No. 9, 1858, mentioned, and which moiety is therein directed to be paid to the colonial treasury, shall, from and after the taking effect of this Act, be paid to the divisional council of the division within which the offence entailing such forfeiture shall have been committed, if such offence shall have been committed in respect to any road, toll-bar, building, or work of any kind, belonging to or in charge of such council; and every such council shall be entitled, in respect of the same, to claim the remedy or relief which, by the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh sections of the said Act is made claimable by any commissioner, as in the said sections mentioned.

XXVIII. In the interpretation of this Act, the term "construction" shall mean the first making of a main road or portion thereof, which shall not have been before made, notwithstanding that the line thereof may have been proclaimed and used as a main road, and for which making a sum shall be specially voted by Parliament; and the terms "maintenance" and "keeping in repair" shall both signify the same thing, and shall include all work necessary to be done to any main road already proclaimed a main road, in order to put, keep, and have it in usual and customary repair; and if at any time any doubt or question should arise whether any particular work necessary to be done in or about any main road should be regarded as coming under the head of "construction" or the head of "maintenance," such doubt or question shall be, in the first instance, decided by the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, and such decision shall be final, unless Parliament shall otherwise decide; and all papers and information connected with such doubt or question, and the decision thereof, shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament at their then next meeting.

XXIX. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Road Act, 1869."

PROCLAMATION

BY HIS EXCELLENCY SIR PHILIP EDMOND WODEHOUSE,

Knight Commander of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's Colony of the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa, and of the Territories and Dependencies thereof, and Vice-Admiral of the same, and Her Majesty's High Commissioner, &c., &c., &c.

WHEREAS, by the 21st Section of the Act No. 9 of 1858, entitled "An Act to provide for the Management of the Public Roads of the Colony," it is enacted that it shall and may be lawful for the Governor of the Colony, at the request of any Divisional Council, to declare, by Proclamation, to be by him from time to time issued, what particular Roads shall be deemed and taken to be Branch Roads for the purpose of the said Act; and whereas the Divisional Council of Prince Albert has requested that the line of Road hereinafter mentioned may be declared to be a Branch Road for the Division of Prince Albert, viz.:

From the Main Station in Seven Weeks Poort, through Boschhuiskloof and Dwakas Poort, to Prince Albert:

Now, therefore, I do hereby proclaim and declare that the said Road, described as above, shall be, and is hereby declared to be, a Branch Road for the purposes of the said Act.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 151, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
7th June, 1869.

HIS Excellency the Governor has been pleased to direct the publication for general information of the following Notice to Mariners, containing an account of a search which has been made for some doubtful Shoals in the Indian Ocean, reputed to be directly in the fairway route of homeward-bound vessels between Sunda Strait and the Cape.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,

R. SOUTHEY,
Colonial Secretary.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

The following account of search made for some doubtful shoals in the Indian Ocean, reputed to lie directly in the fairway route of homeward-bound vessels between Sunda Strait and the Cape, is published for general information.

GEO. G. RANDOLPH,
Commodore Commanding.

H.M.S. Seringapatam, at Simon's Bay,
15th May, 1869.

Reputed Shoals in the Indian Ocean.

The Irma Vigia—a danger reported to have been "seen by the French ship Irma and others, doubtful"—is placed on the Admiralty Charts in lat. 28° 7′ S., long. 43° 8′ E., south-west of Madagascar. Its reputed position is, therefore, directly in the track which homeward-bound vessels from India and China are recommended to take; than which, as Maury remarks of these vigias, "none could be better adapted to harass the navigator, turn vessels from their routes, and thus injure commerce."

At 8 miles E. by S. of this spot, in lat. 28° 9′ S, long. 43° 16′ E., a depth of 2,280 fathoms was obtained from H.M.S. Serpent.

Now, if the gradients of the most precipitous maritime peaks in volcanic districts be selected for comparison, it is found that a diameter of 24 miles is required to form the base of a submarine mountain which may rear its steep and lofty summit to the sea-level from such a depth, viz., 13,680 feet. But this minimum estimate may be safely rejected, as we have more practical evidence.

The gradients of many sea-shores have now been correctly ascertained. Off Bali and Java the depth in question is found at 28 miles from the coast; off Palmas (near Teneriffe) at 45 miles; off Dondra Head, Ceylon, at 35 miles. These are the steepest known. Off Madeira that depth is found at 90 miles; off Portugal at 160; west of the Cape at 260; the Azores 150; Ascension 200 miles. On these grounds the mariner may well discredit the existence of the danger at least where shown on the Charts.

Soundings by Captain WHICHELO.

The Serpent sounded over the positions assigned to these along the parallel of lat. 32° 38′ S., from long., 30° 46′ E. to 30° 13′ E., at intervals of 4 miles.

No bottom was found at depths varying from 100 to 270 fathoms, where 42, 43, and 48 appear on the Chart.

The Glendinning, near the Keeling Islands, reported to be in lat. 9° 54′ S., long. 97° 50′ E., is another such Shoal.

It has never been seen before, nor since the Queen Mab passed through a "milky sea," by one other of the countless number of ships which crossed its supposed position; and as the evidence adduced in favour of its existence (recorded in the Nautical Magazine) tends rather to disprove than support it, so the name of Glendinning, with that of Irma and Whichelo, which have already too long disfigured our charts and harassed the navigator, ought forthwith to be expunged.

The Serpent passed over its reputed position in 1865 finding no bottom with 140 to 470 fathoms of line over an extent of 30 miles

In conclusion, it may with justice be added that if the reporters of such dangers, on reconsideration of the data from which the positions have been computed, should find reason to assign new positions for them, as has not unfrequently been the case, then they must bear the responsibility of having by such culpable error led a multitude of ships into a real danger in order to avoid a false one.

C. J. BULLOCK,
Commander of H.M. St. Serpent.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—170, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
17th June, 1869.

WITH reference to Government Notice No. 219, of the 20th July, 1868, publishing a Dispatch from the Secretary of State relative to the Whitworth Scholarships for Mechanical Science, His Excellency the Governor directs the publication of the following further Dispatch on the same subject.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,

R. SOUTHEY,
Colonial Secretary.

CIRCULAR.]

Downing-street, 3rd May, 1869.

SIR,—With reference to my predecessor's Circular Dispatch of the 30th May last, I transmit to you a copy of a letter from the Department of Science and Art, from which you will learn that it will be necessary for British Subjects in the Colonies who desire to compete for the Whitworth Scholarships to come to England for that purpose.

I regret that I have been unable to induce the Committee of Council to agree to the establishment of Local Examinations in the Colonies; but there are difficulties connected with the examination of Candidates in practical skill (described in page 64 of the enclosed Prospectus), which stand in the way of such an arrangement. As soon as the special regulations on this point are completed, you will be informed of them, for the guidance of Candidates in future years; and I shall not fail to bear in mind the importance of endeavouring, if possible, to devise some plan which will enable young men from the Colonies to compete for these Scholarships without having to incur the trouble and expense of a journey to England.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) GRANVILLE.

The Officer Administering the Government of the Cape of Good Hope.

Mr. MACLEOD to Sir F. ROGERS.

Science and Art Department, London, W.,
21st January, 1869.

SIR,—I am directed to inform you that the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education have had under their consideration the letter from the Chancellor of the University of Melbourne, transmitted by the Governor of Victoria, and forwarded by you on the 15th ultimo.

In his letter to Sir H. T. Manners Sutton, Sir Redmond Barry asks whether Candidates for the Whitworth Scholarships from the Colony of Victoria would be allowed to submit themselves for examination in Victoria and not be required to go to England, and whether, in the case of the selection of such a Candidate for a Scholarship, residence in England will be enjoined.

Their Lordships have consulted Mr. Whitworth on the subject, and I am directed to inform you that it will be necessary for British Subjects in the Colonies who desire to compete for the Whitworth Scholarships to present themselves in England for the purpose.

The question of where the successful Candidates are to pursue their studies is left very much to the circumstances of the case. They may go to the Universities or Colleges affording scientific or technical instruction, and their residence in England will not be enjoined, provided they are bonâ fide engaged in furthering their education in the theory and practice of Mechanics and its cognate sciences, for which purpose the Scholarships were endowed by Mr. Whitworth.

I am, &c.,
(Signed) NORMAN MACLEOD,
Assistant Secretary.

Sir F. ROGERS, Bart., &c., &c., &c.

TO

Amend the Ordinance No. 16 of 1847, entitled "An Ordinance for the better Regulation of Pounds and Prevention of Trespasses."

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend in certain respects the Ordinance No. 16 of 1847, entitled "An Ordinance for the better Regulation of Pounds and Prevention of Trespasses:" Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. So much of the Ordinance No. 16 of 1847 as is repugnant to or inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Act is hereby repealed.

II. No stallion above the age of two years which shall hereafter be lawfully impounded shall be released by the owner thereof, or sold out of the pound, without being previously castrated, unless such stallion shall be released under the provisions of the fifth section hereof.

III. Every such stallion not released under the provision of the fifth section hereof shall be castrated by the poundmaster, or by some person employed by him at his own expense, and such poundmaster shall be allowed for the performance of this duty a fee of [ten shillings], to be recovered from the owner of such stallion, if known, or deducted from the proceeds of sale, should such animal be sold out of the pound: Provided, however, that no such fee as aforesaid shall be recoverable from the owner in respect of any animal which shall die in consequence of such castration.

IV. No stallion shall (except as hereinafter is provided) be castrated under the provisions of this Act until it shall have been impounded for at least five weeks; and any stallion not released by or on behalf of the owner thereof shall, subject to such regulations as may be in force at the date of such sale, be sold at the first sale of animals impounded in such pound occurring after the expiration of forty-five days from the date of such stallion having been impounded: Provided, however, that if the owner of such stallion shall give his consent, or shall decline to release it under the fifth section hereof, such stallion may be castrated forthwith, and shall be castrated without unnecessary delay should the owner thereof desire to release the same under the ordinary provisions of the law.

V. The owner of any stallion which may hereafter be impounded shall be entitled to release such stallion without its being castrated, upon payment of pound fees and other charges, and upon giving security, to the satisfaction of any resident magistrate or justice of the peace or field-cornet, for the payment of any fine or penalty and costs of suit recoverable under the fifty-first and fifty-fifth sections of the said Ordinance: Provided, always, that every such owner shall be entitled to tender to any person claiming any penalty under the fifty-first and fifty-fifth sections aforesaid, such sum as he shall consider adequate to cover such fine or penalty as aforesaid; and in the event of such tender being refused, the person claiming any such fine or penalty shall be condemned in the costs of such legal proceedings as he may afterwards institute, unless the court in which the same shall be pending shall find that such fine or penalty should exceed the amounts so tendered.

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

Government Gazette.

Published by Authority.

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1869.

Government-house, 24th June, 1869.

THIS DAY His Excellency the Governor opened the First Session of the Fourth Parliament of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope,—the Legislative Council and House of Assembly being assembled in the State Room at Government-house,—and His Excellency was pleased to deliver the following Speech:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

I have taken the earliest opportunity of requesting your attendance in Parliament, not only because the period for which Supplies were voted in the last Session is about to expire, but because the financial condition of the Colony is such as to require your immediate and most careful consideration.

The accounts of the Revenue and Expenditure of the past year are ready for your inspection. Omitting, for the sake of convenience, the advances of previous years recovered and the advances paid in 1868, which will appear in proper form in the accounts of subsequent years, it will be seen that our Receipts, which had been calculated at £597,804, amounted actually to no more than £564,867; while our Expenditure, estimated at £645,378, reached to the sum of £656,173. The balance against us, therefore, was £91,306. For the current year, we cannot prudently reckon on receiving from our present sources of income more than £615,000, while our estimate of Expenditure amounts to £666,000. The Expenditure that has been incurred without the express sanction of Parliament has been most trifling. The strictest economy has been enforced. But we have been obliged to have recourse to Temporary Loans for meeting the current expenses of the Government. And it is our duty to use our best efforts to prevail upon you to provide an adequate remedy.

It would seem that the Constituencies of which you have lately been elected the Representatives desire that the Revenue and Expenditure should be equalized, that all existing Establishments and conveniences should be kept up, and that there should be no addition to the taxation,—those objects, the attainment of all of which is manifestly impracticable. The first ought to be effected—and by the partial sacrifice of the others. It is my desire, therefore, at the opening of the present Session to propose for your consideration a policy of which I may hope to gain your approval. The situation of affairs is so serious as to demand the cordial co-operation of the Legislature and the Executive Government.

I do not intend to propose a general reduction of Salaries. That measure was practically condemned by the last Parliament. And it must be admitted that the mass of the Salaries paid are so low as to preclude the expectation of material relief from the diminution of them. In the matter of abolition of Establishments, also, due regard should be had to the proceedings of the last Parliament, and to the indications of public feeling in the Colony. I may still retain the opinion that the Establishments and Institutions of the Colony are too numerous and too costly; that some of the Divisional Establishments might be consolidated; that the numbers of the two Houses of Parliament might be much reduced. But I have before me the recent deliberate rejection by the last Parliament of proposals of that nature, and circumstances do not, in my opinion, justify the expectation of a different decision now. There are few parts of the Colony which I have not visited. Nowhere have I met with the slightest willingness to consent to reductions of Establishments. Everywhere, it may be said, there is a demand for extension in some shape. The cost of it has little weight with those who ask for it. For the prosecution of public works, also, there is an incessant demand. The Government is charged with apathy and indifference because, being wholly without funds, it does not plunge into expensive undertakings, and apply the public Revenue to the encouragement of the new industries to which attention has lately been given, and which seem to hold out the best prospect of a revival of prosperity. The Government does not yield to any in its wish to foster these efforts. It has no pleasure in resisting these desires. It would gladly cast off its inactivity, and do its part in promoting improvements. But its ability to do so depends entirely on you. You alone can give it the power. While, therefore, I shall continue to take advantage of every opportunity for effecting reductions which appear desirable, and which can be made at my discretion, it is necessary to additional Income that we must look chiefly for the equalization of the Revenue and Expenditure.

A moderate Export Duty would, I believe, be little felt, would be collected at little cost, and would go far to restore the balance of your finances. But public opinion is against it, and it will not be proposed. The Government, therefore, having given the subject the most careful consideration, have resolved to recommend to you a measure necessarily experimental here, but which, if successful, cannot fail to effect most beneficial changes in the administration of your affairs. I mean the imposition of a moderate but general Property and Income Tax. We do not wish to disguise the pressure to which all will thus be subjected—its universality will be one of its chief commendations. Neither do we put out of sight the difficulties to be encountered. The chief financial authority in England, speaking very lately on this same subject of the Income Tax, said: "If you wish to attain an object, the plan is to fix your eyes steadily upon it, to adopt the necessary means to attain it, and to put aside minor consequences and considerations. If, on the contrary, you wish to fail, you will try to do two things at once—to carry your object and conciliate this interest and the other."

This Government proposes to itself to follow this rule. It does not attempt—it would be vain to attempt—to conciliate any particular interest. Its proposal may be welcome to none, but is necessary to all. If it be adopted, it must be in a spirit of confidence in the Government, without which the very attempt would be futile; but with, which the difficulties we apprehend will speedily disappear. If it be adopted in that spirit, we believe that the measure can be successfully carried out, and we are prepared to undertake the task. If it be rejected, those to whom the rejection may be due can scarcely ensure themselves from the obligation to devise other means for meeting the urgent necessities of the Colony. It will be no slight gain if by its success it should extricate the Colony from its present mischievous dependence on the Customs Revenue, which too often prompts an interference with the operations of Trade, and if it should hereafter enable you to reduce Duties that are oppressive and extinguish others that are unproductive.

We should also, with your approval, avail ourselves of this occasion for effecting an important change in the system of administration. Experience has tended to establish the inconvenience of that union of Judicial and Revenue functions in the person of the same Officer which prevails throughout the Colony. The collection of the Revenue does not receive proper attention. The interests of the Division suffer There is sometimes an unseemly collision of powers. This might be remedied at no very great cost, by entrusting the actual collection of all Inland Revenue to other hands than those of the Civil Commissioner and Resident Magistrate. Resolutions will, therefore, be proposed for adoption, granting an Income and Property Tax of Three Pence in the Pound (Incomes not exceeding Fifty Pounds being exempted), for a term of three years. I do not name this limit in the belief that if the measure should prove successful, the Legislature would then feel disposed to dispense with the Tax. But by that time experience will have been gained for correcting defects and inequalities; and its very success will put it in your power either to reduce this Tax or to relieve the Tax-payer in some other form which may better commend itself. The Tax should take effect as from the 1st July next; that for one half of this year should be payable on the 1st January next, and thereafter the Tax of the whole of each succeeding year should be payable on the 1st January following.

You will be glad to hear that very satisfactory progress has been made in the Survey of Crown Lands for Lease under the Act of 1864. Upwards of 2,000,000 morgen have been surveyed and advertised, of which about 1,500,000 morgen have been leased. The expense incurred has been £23,000. The annual Rents amount to £13,000. At the present moment, Surveys are in progress over areas estimated in all at more than 3,000,000 morgen, and an Index Map of the whole Colony, based on the points of the Trigonometrical Survey, is in course of construction. We have every reason to hope for the receipt, at a future day, of a very important addition to the public Income from this source. But the Government must be left at liberty to exercise its judgment as to the extent of the demand, and to guard against a reckless and wasteful alienation of the Public Lands.

The subjects on which, in the course of the Session, you will be invited to legislate will not be numerous, although by no means unimportant.

The Bill for the establishment of a Government Paper Currency will be again introduced, and I hope that the favour with which the project has been received in different parts of the Country may lead to its becoming law without further delay.

It is but a simple act of duty on my part again to press on your attention the propriety of laying down just regulations for the Pensions of the Frontier Police. Frequent demands have of late been made for their services under circumstances of no ordinary character, and exposing them to serious risks and hardships. They have been met with ready zeal and cheerfulness. Some of the Force have unfortunately lost their lives in the courageous discharge of their duty; and a large body are now in the field for the protection of the Northern Districts. Her Majesty's Government, moreover, have conveyed to me their opinion that the time has arrived for giving effect to the arrangement proposed by the late Government, in respect to the contribution by this Colony towards the annual cost of the Regiments stationed here. They have further decided that as the Cape Mounted Rifles are not a body raised for the general service of Her Majesty, they should cease to be a charge on the British Treasury, and should, unless the Colony desires to maintain them at its own expense, be disbanded. I have, in reply, intimated to the Secretary of State my conviction that the Colony will not be prepared to meet the latter charge; and I cannot doubt that before the Session closes you will have given your consent to such a settlement of the Pensions of the Police as is called for not only on the score of justice, but also as essential to the maintenance of the efficiency of the Force.

It will again be necessary for you to provide for the construction and maintenance of the Main Roads of the Colony; and the Government have determined to propose a considerable modification of the Act of 1864, in the hope that it may lead to a permanent settlement of the subject. Circumstances have created a general impression that better precautions must be taken for the preservation of the chief Passes and other portions of the Main Roads, as well as of the principal Bridges, which have been constructed at great cost, and which require more systematic and persevering attention, and a larger outlay for their maintenance, than they are likely to receive at the hands of the Divisional Councils. To this extent, therefore, the Bill restores the duty of maintenance to the general Government; and in consideration of the transfer extinguishes all the contributions payable in various cases under the existing law from one Division to another. Certain Tolls will become payable to the Government, and will diminish the drafts that must be made on the general Revenue. But it should be understood that this arrangement is put forward on the supposition that you will be prepared to grant the Income Tax.

A Bill will be brought forward for amending in certain respects the Law which governs the relations of Masters and Servants. The mode of proceeding will be simplified, and certain objectionable provisions reasonably modified.

In the course of the last few months the various Eastern Harbour Works have, at your desire, been carefully inspected by a professional Engineer selected by Mr. Coode. And although it is not probable that the Plans to be prepared from his Report can be submitted to you in your present Session, I believe I am justified in saying that in most of these Works we may look for ultimate success; and that they should be prosecuted to completion. They should not be regarded as rivals, operating to the prejudice of each other. Rather let us hope that they will become the legitimate channels of the Trade which should spring from the energy and enterprise now exhibited around them. In the single instance of Port Elizabeth it is desirable that immediate steps should be taken for arresting the injurious deposit of Sand around the Works already executed. And I shall ask for your sanction to expend a sum of £5,000 for that purpose, under the superintendence of Engineers to be appointed by the Government, and upon a plan received from Mr. Neate and approved by Mr. Coode.

No progress has been made in the negotiations for obtaining possession of the Works at the Kowie, in consequence of the objections of the Shareholders to accept the terms offered by the last Parliament.

The Works in Table Bay have been steadily progressing; and the last Report received from the Harbour Board expresses the belief that if the present Force of Convicts be continued at the Works, the opening of the Dock for the whole Trade of the Port will not be delayed beyond the present year.

The correspondence which has passed between the Government and the Wellington Railway Company with regard to the transfer of the undertaking to the Colony, and also with regard to the total amount to be comprehended in the Government Guarantee, will be laid before you. And it is probable that in the course of the Session I shall have to request you to take the matter into your consideration.

I trust also that the proposed transfer to the Government of the several Lines of the Electric Telegraph will not be lost sight of.

The repression of the disorders prevailing in the Northern Districts has been attended with considerable difficulty, and has involved a large outlay. Very soon after the commencement of operations, it was found that the marauders had occupied as their stronghold a number of thickly-wooded Islands in the Orange River, from which, with a view to permanent tranquillity, it would be necessary to dislodge them; and it became clear that the limited Body of Police raised under the authority of Parliament for service in those Districts was not in itself strong enough to accomplish the task.

The Government did not feel disposed to have recourse to a Commando; and, after full deliberation, it was determined to detach a considerable body of the Frontier Police, and to place the direction of the expedition in the hands of Sir Walter Currie.

Looking to the extreme poverty of that part of the Country and the high price of provisions, it was impossible to insist on a strict adherence to the terms on which the Frontier Police are engaged and the Government undertook to bear the cost of conveyance of all supplies.

We have not yet received any report of the arrival at the scene of action of Sir W. Currie and his Detachment; but I trust that these arrangements will ensure success, and that before the Session closes we may be in possession of information which will enable me to propose to you measures tending to the permanent preservation of order and the gradual spread of civilization in those remote Districts of the Colony.

You are aware that I have been enabled to conclude a Convention with the Government of the Free State for the settlement of the affairs of Basutoland; and I shall lay the papers before you.

In 1868, before reaching Basutoland, and in consideration of the recent successes of the Free State, I decided on offering to it no less than 300 Farms out of Basuto Territory; and I subsequently proposed a temporary Boundary, avowing that it was intended ultimately to become the permanent Boundary between Europeans and Natives, whether under the rule of the Free State or of the British Government. This proposal was at the time most clearly explained to the Basutos, who thoroughly understood it, and acquiesced in the line.

That same Boundary has been established by the Convention of Aliwal, with the exception of a small tract at its North-western angle. To the possession of this the Free State, and not unreasonably, attached very great importance; and as I well knew that I could in another direction provide the Basutos with ample compensation, I had no justification for prolonging the evils and miseries of contention, by obstinate resistance to the wishes of the Free State. Much of the land ceded to the latter was lightly regarded by the Basutos. For them full accommodation has been retained, and the latest accounts lead me to believe that the territory preserved may be in excess of what the Tribe can by themselves usefully occupy.

In connection with this subject, much interest has been expressed with respect to the position of the French Protestant Missionaries. Those Gentlemen were subjects of the French Empire, and were regarded with little favour by the people of the Free State. My intervention on their behalf was therefore of necessity limited to friendly and respectful counsel to the latter. By such a course I obtained for them strong assurances of a just and liberal consideration of their case; and I still hope that they may be in a great degree compensated for the losses and hardships they have sustained.

The protracted course of the negotiations and other circumstances have compelled me to retain in Basutoland a portion of the Frontier Police. The pacification of that country is of such importance to the Colony that I do not anticipate objections on your part to this proceeding, which has not, to my knowledge, caused any inconvenience: and in a few months I trust the resources of the country will fully provide for its administration.

It was natural that while engaged in these negotiations I should keep in view the proposition that has been canvassed both here and in England for the restoration of British Sovereignty in the Free State. We have always maintained that it would be most unwise to promote such a measure, except in deference to the clear will of a decided majority of the people. In the absence of any sufficient indication of the existence of such a majority, I consider that we should frankly and loyally support the Government that now rules the State, and, as far as in us lies, assist it in promoting the welfare of both communities. My journey homeward from Basutoland was made through the whole of Kafirland, from the borders of Natal; and it afforded me an opportunity of conferring with nearly every Chief of importance in that Territory.

I believe there is every reason to regard with satisfaction the political position we there hold. On the upper slopes of the Drakensberg we have undisputed authority over a very extensive tract of fine country, hitherto unoccupied by the Kafirs, who have located themselves on the lower ground.

On this high tract I have placed not only a portion of the Basutos, but also Fingoes from our own Locations; and there can be no doubt that a very convenient habitation will here be found for some of the Native Population that is now overcrowded in our Locations.

Of the Kafir Chiefs it may with truth be said that in their relations to each other there is no spirit of cohesion. All are jealous of each other. All desire to ingratiate themselves with us. All seek the appointment of British Residents. And although such arrangements are to be approached with much caution, we may fairly regard the anxiety for them as an indication of the respect and confidence we have won by the exhibition of justice and fair-dealing in our intercourse with them.

The Natives of different Tribes whom we have ourselves located between the Kei and the Bashee are fast advancing in wealth and prosperity, and fully appreciate the boon bestowed upon them. But here, too, the same spirit of mutual distrust prevails; and all are sensible of the necessity for retaining our approval and goodwill.

It is but reasonable to suppose that sooner or later, by the force of circumstances we cannot at present foresee, all this population will be brought peaceably and quietly under our direct control. But we can well afford to wait. It is better for us that habits and customs to which we cannot reconcile ourselves should be undermined by the gradual but sure advance of civilization while the people are still nearly independent; and that an outlet should thus for a time be kept open for those even of our present subjects to whom our habits are irksome and unwelcome.

Viewing the position of the Colony as a whole, I am glad to think that, notwithstanding the many disasters with which its people have had to contend, and from which they are still suffering, there is much in its prospect for the future that is encouraging; and I trust that during the present Session there will be that cordial co-operation of the several branches of the Legislature which cannot fail to produce results beneficial to all.

XIII. On the first Wednesday in July in every year an election by ballot shall take place of eight councillors, being one for each ward of the said municipality.

XIV. On or before the first Monday in September in every year the town clerk shall cause a true list to be made, in alphabetical order, of all men qualified to vote at the election of councillors for the city of Graham's Town, setting forth the christian and surname of each at full length, the place of his abode, his business or quality, the nature of his qualifications, and the ward or wards in which he is entitled to vote, and shall transmit the same to the mayor.

XV. The mayor shall forthwith cause such list to be published by affixing it in some conspicuous place upon the town-hall, and to every list so published he shall subjoin a notice of not less than fourteen days that all objections thereto will be heard and determined at such time and place as he may fix for that purpose.

of this Act, and shall cause the names of the persons who have signed such requisition as is hereinbefore mentioned to be published by affixing the same on some conspicuous place on the town-hall.

XX. Within fourteen days after the publication of the names of the several candidates invited to stand as councillors, the mayor shall, by a public notice of not less than fourteen days, in accordance with the eighty-second section of this Act, call separate meetings of the citizens of each of the wards respectively, to be holden at some convenient place or places, for the election of the councillors required to fill the vacant seats out of the number of candidates invited for each ward, except when the number of candidates does not exceed the number of vacancies, as hereinafter mentioned.

XXI. Every such meeting for the election of any councillor or councillors shall be presided over by a returning officer, to be appointed for that purpose by the mayor. The poll shall commence at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and shall finally close at three o'clock in the afternoon of the same day.

XXII. At every meeting for the election of any councillor or councillors who shall have accepted a requisition in manner aforesaid every qualified citizen, duly enrolled as aforesaid, shall be entitled to vote in person, but not otherwise.

XXIII. The votes shall be taken by ballot, and the person or persons having the greater number of votes shall be taken to be duly elected: Provided that all candidates shall have the right to be present, either personally or by proxy, during the whole time the voting is going on, and when the contents of each ballot-box is examined by the returning officer.

XXIV. If such ballot shall be rendered indecisive by reason of an equality of votes, the returning officer shall thereupon publicly determine by lot which of the persons shall be elected for whom an equal number of votes shall have been given.

XXV. In the event of the number of duly qualified candidates invited in writing to stand as councillors for any particular ward being only sufficient to fill the vacancies in the representation of such ward, the mayor shall declare such candidates duly elected.

XXVI. The returning officer for each ward shall immediately transmit the names of the persons elected, together with the final state of the poll, to the mayor.

XXVII. When the mayor has received the names of the persons so elected, or when he himself has declared persons elected as aforesaid, he shall forthwith cause a list of all such persons, with the names of the wards for which they are elected, to be published.

XXVIII. Of the persons so elected as hereinbefore mentioned, the councillor in each ward who shall have been elected by the smallest number of votes shall vacate his seat at the expiration of one year from the first Wednesday in July, and in case, by reason of any such councillors having been elected by an equal number of votes, or in the event of the election being an uncontested one, it shall be uncertain which of them shall vacate his seat, the mayor shall cause such question to be determined by lot, and the remaining councillors for each ward shall vacate their seats in like manner, at the expiration of two and three years respectively; and upon the retirement from office of such councillors respectively, they shall be succeeded by councillors who shall be elected as hereinbefore provided, so that at every subsequent yearly election there shall be elected one councillor for each ward, who shall enter upon his office on the first Wednesday in July next after his election, and continue therein for three years; and every retiring councillor shall be eligible for re-election.

XXIX. If any councillor shall die, resign, or become insolvent or otherwise disqualified, or shall be absent from the meetings of the council for a period of four calendar months, his office shall be declared vacant, and another councillor shall be elected in his place and stead, in manner hereinbefore provided, who shall hold office for the remainder of the term for which the councillor who has vacated office, and whom he shall succeed, would otherwise have remained in office: Provided, always, that if such absence as aforesaid arise from sickness or other sufficient cause, the council shall be empowered to extend the term for one month longer.

XXX. At the second ordinary meeting after the annual election of the mayor in July, the mayor and council shall appoint from among the citizens two persons to be auditors of the accounts of the council, who shall continue in office until the same day in the year following.

XXXI. No person shall be eligible as an auditor who shall not be a duly enrolled citizen, or who shall be a councillor, treasurer, clerk, or other officer of the municipality.

XXXII. If any auditor shall die, resign, or become insolvent, another auditor shall be elected in his stead, on a day to be fixed by the mayor.

XXXIII. In case of an equality of votes at any election of auditors, the mayor shall determine by lot which of the persons for whom an equal number of votes shall have been given shall be elected, in case such persons cannot be both or all of them elected.

XXXIV. On the Thursday following every yearly election of councillors, those of the councillors then in office, together with the newly elected councillors, shall choose from amongst themselves, by ballot, the mayor of the municipality for the following year, and a deputy mayor, and every such mayor and deputy mayor shall enter forthwith upon his office, and shall continue therein for one year then next ensuing.

XXXV. It shall be lawful for the mayor or deputy mayor to resign his office, provided that he shall give to the council not less than one calendar month's notice of his intention so to do.

XXXVI. If any mayor or deputy mayor shall die, or resign, or shall become insolvent or otherwise disqualified as a councillor, or shall be absent from the municipality without the permission of the council for one month, or shall neglect to attend the meetings of the council for the period of three months, such mayor or deputy mayor shall be held to have vacated office, and the council shall elect out of their own number a successor for the remainder of the year, a week's notice having been given to each councillor of such election.

XXXVII. The deputy mayor shall, in case of the absence or illness of the mayor, or in case of a vacancy in the office of mayor, during such absence, illness, or vacancy, do all matters and things which could be done by the mayor, and enjoy all the rights and privileges of mayor, and shall, in such cases, be considered as meant wherever the word mayor is used in this Act, or in any by-laws or municipal regulations framed or in force thereunder.

XXXVIII. If any member of the council, or person holding any office in the gift or disposal thereof, shall, directly or indirectly, as agent or otherwise, have any share or interest in any contract with or employment by the council, otherwise than as a shareholder in any bank with which such council may transact business, or in any joint-stock company which shall contract with the council for the lighting or supplying with water or insuring against fire any part of the municipality, or shall receive any fee, reward, or compensation for any vote given or act performed in his capacity of councillor or officer, he shall thenceforward cease to be a member of the council, or to hold such office as aforesaid; and shall, upon conviction, be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds sterling: Provided that the case of the receipt of salary by an officer for the performance of the duties of his office, and that the case of a lease between the council and a councillor, as landlord and tenant, be excepted.

XXXIX. The council shall have power and authority to do the following acts: To make, alter, and keep in repair the roads, streets, dams, sewers, drains, and bridges within the limits of the municipality. To excavate, construct, and lay watercourses, water-pipes, conduits, sluices, dams, reservoirs, aqueducts, and other works for supplying the municipality with water, and to keep the same in repair, or to grant leave to any person or company of persons to lay down pipes, or to execute any other like works. To make regulations for the management of the common pasture lands of the municipality, and for fixing the number and description of cattle which each householder shall be allowed to depasture on such lands. To establish and provide for the management of public pounds: Provided that no toll, due, or fee, or charge for any permit or licence, or any punishment or penalty, shall be imposed by reason of anything in this section contained, unless the same shall have been imposed by some such municipal regulation as is in the next succeeding section mentioned.

Every mortgage aforesaid, or power of attorney for authorizing the execution of a mortgage of any land or property under this Act, shall be under the common seal of the corporation, and shall be executed by the mayor and be contersigned by the town clerk, and every debenture issued under this Act shall be executed in the same manner under the common seal.

XLIX. As often as any mortgage granted or debenture issued under any of the preceding sections of this Act shall be called up, or any debenture shall become payable, it shall be lawful for the said council to raise by a fresh mortgage of the same land, property, or rates which was or were mortgaged by such mortgage, or to raise by the issue of fresh debentures, any sum not exceeding the sum then required to be paid off; and the council may raise upon debentures moneys required to pay off mortgages, and conversely may raise by mortgage moneys required to pay off debentures, so long as the same land, property, and rates which were charged by the one form of security, and none other, shall be charged by the other or substituted form of security: Provided that it shall not be necessary for the council to obtain the consent of the Governor aforesaid for the granting of any mortgage or the issue of any debentures under the provisions of this section.

L. The council may lease any portion of the lands belonging to the municipality, or any buildings already erected, for a period not exceeding twenty-one years: Provided that such leases shall be put up to public competition, and that they shall contain a power to re-enter for non-payment of rent or non-performance of covenants.

LI. The council may by public sale or tender, from time to time, lease the privilege of working any mines or quarries belonging to the municipality, for any term not exceeding five years.

LII. No lessee of any such lands, mines, or quarries as aforesaid shall assign or sublet the same without the previous consent, in writing, of the council; and any assignment or subletting, without such consent, shall, as against the council, be null and void.

LIII. In case the said council shall require to take or use any land with or without the buildings, if any, erected thereon, for the purpose of making, widening, or improving any street, market, or public building; or to dig out or carry away any materials belonging to any person within the said municipality; or to appropriate or make use of any springs, streams, or other supplies of water belonging to any person who shall not be bound by law to allow the council so to do, then and in that case it shall be lawful for the said council, and it is hereby authorized and empowered, to treat and agree with every such person for the purchase or hire, as the case may be, of any such land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water as aforesaid, or for the payment of consequential damages, and generally to enter into such contract or contracts relative to the obtaining of any such land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water, upon such terms and conditions as the said council shall judge expedient. And in case any such person and the said council shall not agree upon the purchase money, hire, or recompense to be respectively given by the one party and accepted by the other, then the said council shall cause to be served upon such person a written notice offering as recompense or compensation whatever sum of money it shall deem sufficient, and requiring such person to state, in writing, to the said council, or to some person by it appointed, within a certain time to be specified in the said notice, not being less than fourteen days from the service of the said notice, whether he is willing to accept the sum therein mentioned or not; and in case the person shall refuse to accept the sum offered, or shall neglect to reply to the said notice, the said council shall, by another notice in writing, call upon such person to refer to arbitration the amount of recompense or compensation to be paid to him by the said council, and for that purpose to transmit to the said council within a certain reasonable time, to be specified in the said lastmentioned notice, the name of some person whom he shall select to be an arbitrator upon such arbitration; and the said council, upon receiving the name of the person so selected, shall nominate a second arbitrator, and shall cause a deed of submission to be prepared, which shall be signed, on behalf of the said municipality, by the town clerk for the time being, and by the person claiming such recompense or compensation as aforesaid, and which shall clearly set forth the matter to be determined by the said arbitrators, together with a power to the said arbitrators before commencing such arbitration to appoint an umpire, and their or his decision shall be final; and the award of such arbitrators or umpire, as the case may be, shall be made a rule of the Supreme, Eastern Districts, or any circuit court of this Colony, and shall be binding and conclusive, and may be pleaded in bar of any action or proceeding at law brought for or on account of the same subject matter. And in case such person as aforesaid claiming such recompense or compensation shall neglect or refuse to name some person to be such arbitrator as aforesaid, or to sign the said deed of submission, it shall be lawful for the said council, and it is hereby authorized, to lodge in some joint-stock bank in the Eastern Province of this Colony the sum of money offered by it, as aforesaid, in its first notice in this section mentioned, for or on account and at the risk of such person aforesaid, who shall at all times be entitled to draw the same out of the said bank as his absolute property; and the said council, upon so lodging the said sum, shall be authorized and entitled to take or use the said land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water in question, as freely as if the said sum had been agreed upon between the parties as the sum to be paid, or had been an order by the arbitrators or umpire under the provisions of this section; and as if all acts by law required for vesting in the said council a sufficient title to the use of or property in the land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water aforesaid had been duly done and performed.

LIV. In case the said council shall require to take or use any of the land, with or without the buildings, if any, erected thereon, or to dig or carry away any of the materials, or to appropriate or make use of any springs, streams, or other supplies of water in the last preceding section mentioned, of which the owner shall be absent from the Colony, and not represented therein by any agent duly accredited, or shall not be discoverable, it shall be lawful for the said council, and it is hereby authorized, to cause a notice to be inserted in the Government Gazette and one or more local papers for four successive months, describing, as accurately as may be, the materials, land, buildings, springs, streams, or other supplies of water which are required to be taken or used, and calling by name on the owner of the said land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water, if known, or, if not known, then upon the owner, whoever he may be, to take notice that the said council is ready and willing to treat with the owner, or any person duly authorized by him, for the recompense or compensation to be made or paid by the said council for the said land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water, and requiring such owner to apply within six months from the date of such notice, which shall be the day of its first publication, to the said council, stating the recompense or compensation claimed and if the owner shall so apply within the said period, then the like proceedings in regard to the agreeing for or otherwise determining the recompense or compensation to be respectively given and received shall in all respects be had and taken, which are prescribed in the last preceding section, precisely as if the said owner or owners had from the first been in actual occupation. And in case such owner shall not apply to the said council within the said period, then it shall be lawful for the said council to appoint some competent person, to be approved of by the civil commissioner of the division, to appraise the value of the land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water required, and such person shall make oath before some justice of the peace that he hath to the best of his judgment fairly appraised such value; and thereupon it shall and may be lawful for the said council to pay whatever sum such person shall have valued the land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water in question at, into the Guardians' Fund, to the credit of the party or parties entitled thereto, subject to the same provisions in all respects which are provided by the Ordinance No. 105, bearing date the 5th July, 1833, in regard to moneys placed in the said fund belonging to the persons absent from the Colony; and the said council, upon so paying the said sum, shall be authorized and entitled to take or use the land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water in question, as freely as if the said sum had been agreed upon between the parties as the sum to be paid, and as if all acts by law required for vesting in the said council sufficient title to the use of or property in the land, buildings, materials, springs, streams, or other supplies of water aforesaid had been duly done and performed.

LV. All acts, matters, or things hereby authorized or required to be done by the council, and all questions that may come before it, shall, except as hereinafter exeepted, be done and decided by the majority of councillors who shall be present at any meeting at which not less than seven members of the council shall attend: Provided that nothing herein contained shall extend to alter or affect the provisions of the fortieth and sections of this Act.

LVI. An ordinary meeting of the council shall take place at least once in every four weeks, and all such ordinary meetings shall be open to the public.

LVII. The mayor, or any three councillors, may at any time call a special meeting of the council, provided that he or they cause a notice of the time and place of such intended meeting, specifying the object thereof, and signed by him or them, or by the town clerk, to be served on every councillor, either personally or by leaving the same at his usual place of abode, twelve hours at least before such meeting.

LVIII. At every meeting of council, the mayor, if present, shall preside; in case of his absence, the deputy mayor, if present; and in case of the absence of both mayor and deputy mayor, the councillors present shall elect a chairman from among themselves.

LIX. In all cases of equality of votes, the mayor, deputy mayor, or chairman, as the case may be, shall have a second or casting vote.

LX. Minutes of the proceedings of every meeting shall be entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall be read at the next succeeding meeting, and signed by the person presiding thereat.

LXI. It shall be lawful for the council to appoint out of their own body such and so many committees, either of a general or special nature, and consisting of such number of members as to the council may seem fit, for any purpose which, in the judgment of the council, would be better managed by means of a committee: Provided, always, that the proceedings of every such committee shall be reported to the council. The mayor to be ex-officio member of all such committees.

LXII. It shall be lawful for the council from time to time to appoint fit persons (not being members of the council) to be town clerk and treasurer; and also to appoint such other officers as they shall think necessary for enabling them to carry into execution the provisions of this Act, and to pay all the officers so to be appointed such salaries as the council shall deem reasonable, and, unless it shall be otherwise stipulated in the contract of service, to remove all such officers upon a notice of not less than three months, or, in case of misconduct, without any notice.

LXIII. The said council are hereby empowered from time to time to appoint and employ such number of able-bodied streetkeepers and policemen as shall be required for the protection of the inhabitants and property, streets and public places within the municipality, by day and by night, and to provide all such streetkeepers and policemen with such clothing, arms, ammunition, and weapons, and shall appoint to them such duties and hours and times of duty, and shall also make such rules, orders, and regulations relative to such streetkeepers and policemen and their duties, as shall be deemed fit.

LXIV. All such streetkeepers and policemen shall act as constables while in the execution of their duties under the Act, and are hereby invested with and shall have and enjoy the like powers and authorities, privileges, and immunities, and shall be subjected to such and the like penalties and forfeitures, as constables are invested with or shall or may have or enjoy or are or may be subject or liable to by law.

REVENUES.

LXV. For the purpose of raising the means for making new roads, streets, market-places, bridges, drains, sewers, watercourses, reservoirs, aqueducts, and other waterworks; for the purchase of such lands or erection of such buildings as may be required in or about the execution of the powers hereby given to the council; for the purchase of water-pipes, fire-engines, and appurtenances; for the effecting of all other permanent public works and improvements within the municipality; for the purpose of raising the means for effecting the repairs of all such works as the council is hereby empowered to make or to have made for the maintaining of waterworks, fire-engines, police establishments, markets and pounds, for the payment of salaries and all other ordinary current expenses required to be borne by the municipality, the council shall receive the amount arising from licences issued by the Government to trade within the municipality, other than wine and spirit licences; and shall also have the power to impose, levy, and recover all such market dues, water-rates, pound-fees, and licences as shall be deemed necessary and reasonable, and shall be authorized by any such by-laws as aforesaid; and shall also have the power, as often as shall be deemed necessary, to make and levy, in manner hereinafter provided, a rate and assessment upon all immovable property within the municipality, the value of which to be ascertained in the manner hereinafter provided: Provided that no rate shall be made or levied by the council unless there shall be present at the meeting at which such rate shall be imposed at least fifteen members of the said council; and provided, also, that no rate or assessment shall be imposed upon any immovable property belonging to Her Majesty the Queen, nor on public prisons or police-stations, alms-houses or hospitals, nor on any buildings appropriated to public worship, nor upon burial-grounds, nor upon buildings or lands attached thereto solely appropriated to the purposes of education.

LXVI. All persons owning or occupying property within the limits of the municipality, excepting such property as is hereinafter exempted, shall be liable to be rated on account of such property to the city rate in such manner and to such extent as is hereinafter provided.

LXVII. Within three months after the passing of this Act the council shall appoint one or more competent appraisers, not being members of such council, for the purpose of valuing all and singular the immovable property situate within the municipality.

LXVIII. As soon as any valuation as aforesaid shall be completed it shall lie in the office of the town clerk for the inspection of every owner or occupier of any property included therein who may, upon all lawful days, and at all reasonable times, inspect the same, and take extracts therefrom; and the council shall, by public notice, announce for general information that it will, upon some day and at some hour and place to be fixed in such notice, hold a court for the purpose of hearing and determining objections to such valuation: Provided that such notice shall be published fourteen days at least before the day appointed therein for the holding of such court: Provided, also, that it shall not be necessary, in any suit or proceeding for the recovery of any rate, to prove anything further in the nature of due notice of any such valuation as aforesaid than the publication of the notice aforesaid in one of the newspapers of the municipality.

LXIX. Upon the day and at the place and hour mentioned in such notice, the council shall hold a court, and shall hear all objections which may be urged to any valuation by any owner or occupier or other person on his behalf, and shall inquire into the merits of such objections, and for that purpose may take the oath of any person whom it shall see fit to examine (which oath the presiding member of the council is hereby authorized to administer), and shall confirm or correct any valuation objected to: Provided that the said court may be adjourned from time to time upon the application of any person objecting, who shall show reasonable grounds for not being ready with his proofs, or for the purpose of obtaining further evidence in regard to any case which shall have been partly heard.

LXX. The decision of the council upon any objection to any valuation shall be final and conclusive, and shall not be capable of being reviewed or reversed by any court or proceeding whatsoever.

LXXI. The council shall annually, in the month of February, make an estimate of the amount of money required for the purposes aforesaid, and shall assess the rate accordingly, and give public notice thereof in one or more of the newspapers of the municipality; and shall in like manner, if any further or unforeseen expenditure shall become necessary during the same year, make a supplementary estimate thereof and assess a second or further rate, whereof they shall give public notice in like manner: Provided that it shall not be lawful for the council, in any one year, to levy any rates amounting in the aggregate to more than one penny half-penny in the pound on the value of the immovable property assessed, without obtaining the consent of the majority of the citizens present and entitled to vote at a public meeting to be called for the purpose of considering such rate or rates, of the object and time and place of holding which meeting at least seven days' notice shall be given in manner hereinbefore mentioned: And provided that it shall be lawful for any two or more duly enrolled citizens at such meeting to demand a poll of the citizens entitled to vote, which poll shall be taken on a day to be fixed by the mayor, not later than seven days from the date of the meeting, of which day not less than three days' notice shall be given in one of the papers of the municipality, and which poll shall commence at ten o'clock a.m., and be closed at three o'clock p.m., of such day.

LXXII. Every rate so assessed as aforesaid shall become due and payable upon a certain day, to be fixed by the council, of which day and the amount of which rate the said council shall give at least fourteen days' notice in one of the local newspapers: Provided that it shall not be necessary, in any suit or proceeding for the recovery of any such rate, to prove anything further as to due notice having been given than the publication of the announcement thereof in one of the newspapers aforesaid.

LXXIII. When the council shall have announced in one of the local papers the day on which any rate duly assessed under this Act will become due and payable, it shall be incumbent upon all persons liable to such rate to pay the amount thereof so due by him to any person whom the council may have authorized to receive the same, on or before the day fixed in the said announcement for the payment of the same, on pain of being forthwith liable to legal proceedings for the recovery of the amount.

LXXIV. The council may, in suing for the recovery of rates, proceed against the owner, or in case of his absence from the Colony, his agent or the person receiving the rents for him, or the occupier, either separately or both of them, in one and the same action, each for the whole rate, in any competent court, and recover the same by the judgment and process of such court: Provided that no occupier of any immovable property shall be liable for any rate which had become due and payable thereon at any time before he entered on the occupation thereof; and provided, further, that any person who, as occupier, may have become liable for any rate as aforesaid shall continue to be liable for such rate, although he may have ceased to occupy the property in respect of which the rate had been imposed.

LXXV. The council shall, once in every year, publish in one or more of the newspapers of the municipality a statement of every sum in arrear, and of the property in respect of which the same is due.

LXXVI. The first valuation, to be made as aforesaid, for the purposes of this Act shall subsist and be in force for five years from the date of the first assessment under this Act; at the expiration of which term, and of each successive term of five years, a fresh valuation shall be made, in the same manner as is hereinbefore directed with regard to the first valuation.

LXXVII. In case any new building shall be erected during any such period of five years, or in case of any addition to, or alteration of, any building then already rated, increasing the value thereof, the council shall proceed to have the land and such building thereon valued or re-valued, as the case may be, in the same manner as is hereinbefore provided with regard to the first valuation; and after such valuation is completed the property so valued or re-valued shall be in the same plight and condition as to future rates as if it had been included in the first or then preceding general valuation.

LXXVIII. Instead of the mode aforesaid of ascertaining the value of property within the said municipality to be rated as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the council, by resolution, to adopt the valuation of such property subsisting and in force for the time being made for road purposes by or under the direction of the divisional council of Albany; and such valuation shall thereupon become and be the valuation for the purposes of this Act, just as if it had been made by appraisers appointed by the council as aforesaid.

LXXIX. It shall be lawful for the council, by any by-law as aforesaid, to impose such toll or dues as may be reasonable on all persons making use of any road, bridge, or market-place within the municipality, which the council is hereby empowed to make or maintain, and in case of the non-payment of such tolls or dues, to recover the same by legal process, or in such other manner as may by the by-laws be in that behalf provided.

LXXX. No toll shall be payable by any officer or soldier or member of any volunteer corps, being in proper staff or regimental or military uniform, dress or undress, and on duty, or by any judicial or civil officer, mail-carrier, or other Government servant whilst travelling on public duty; and further that no more than one toll shall be payable in any one day, to be computed from twelve o'clock in one night to twelve o'clock in the next succeeding night, for or in respect of the same vehicle or animal.

LXXXI. The treasurer of the said municipality shall, in books to be kept for that purpose, enter true accounts of all sums of money by him received and paid, and of the several matters in respect whereof such sums shall have been received and paid. All such accounts, with all vouchers and papers relating thereto, together with a full abstract or balance-sheet thereof, shall yearly, at such times as the council shall appoint, be handed by him to the auditors, and to such members of the council as the mayor shall name, for the purpose of being examined and audited: and such abstract or balance-sheet, when found correct, shall be signed by the auditors, and shall be forthwith published by the treasurer in one or more of the newspapers published within the municipality.

LXXXII. Every notice calling a public meeting of the shareholders, and any notice or other document or thing required by this Act to be published, shall, except when otherwise provided, be so published by causing a copy thereof to be inserted in one or more of the newspapers of the municipality, and a copy of the same shall also be affixed in some conspicuous place upon or near the town-hall.

LXXXIII. All fines or penalties imposed by this Act, or by any by-laws made by virtue thereof, or now in force, shall be sued for by civil process in any competent court by the council, by the name of "The Council of the City of Graham's Town," and shall, when recovered, be paid to the treasurer of the municipality for municipal purposes: Provided that no such suit as aforesaid shall be commenced later than three months from and after the date of the act or omission complained of.

LXXXIV. The storing of gunpowder or other explosive or inflamable material shall not be permitted, except in such places as may be approved of and licensed by the town council for that purpose.

LXXXV. So soon as any burial-ground or portion thereof shall become so crowded as to be, in the opinion of two thirds of the council, dangerous to the public health, the council shall be empowered to give six months' notice that burials therein shall cease; and after the expiration of the said term of six months any person causing any interment to be made therein shall be liable to pay a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, to be recovered in any competent court.

LXXXVI. This Act may for all purposes be cited as "The Graham's Town Municipality Act, 1869."

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 181, 1869.

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
24th June, 1869

HIS Excellency the Governor has been pleased to direct the publication of the accompanying Dispatch from the Right Honourable Earl Granville, Secretary of State for the Colonies, transmitting a Copy of a Letter from a Silk Supply Association, with a Copy of a Report of the proceedings of a Meeting, and the Resolutions adopted for establishing a Silk Supply Association in London.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,

CIRCULAR.]

Downing-street, 15th April, 1869

The Officer administering the Government of the Cape of Good Hope.

SIR,—I transmit to you herewith a Copy of a Letter 8th March, 1869. from a Silk Supply Association, with a Copy of a Report of the proceedings of a Meeting, and the Resolutions adopted for establishing a Silk Supply Association in London.

In case you should be of opinion that the interest of the Colony might be advanced by giving publicity to the objects of the Association, you will take such steps as you may consider fitting for that purpose.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) GRANVILLE.

Secretary to Silk Supply Association to Earl Granville

Silk Supply Association,

March 8, 1869.

The Right Honourable the Earl GRANVILLE, K.G., &c.
Secretary of State for the Colonies.

MY LORD,—I have the honour to forward herewith a Copy of the Proceedings and Resolutions establishing a Silk Supply Association in London.

Looking at the importance of the objects, and of the national industry concerned therein, I have to ask, on behalf of the Association, for your Lordship's kind aid in bringing the subject officially under the notice of the Governors of the several Colonies, so as to promote the objects of the Association.

From the various specimens of Silk shown at the last International Exhibitions at London and Paris, it is quite clear that there are many of the British Colonies, in Australia, South Africa, Mauritius, the West Indies, &c., which could profitably enter upon the production of Silk, and in course of time contribute useful supplies to the mother country. What they chiefly stand in need of is practical information as to the culture of the mulberry, management of the silkworm, and mode of reeling and shipping the cocoons,—information which the Association proposes to circulate extensively.

Many of the Colonies which are anxious to introduce new industries will, no doubt, gladly further the objects of the Association.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) P. L. SIMMONDS, Hon. Sec.

SILK SUPPLY ASSOCIATION.

(From the "Journal of the Chambers of Commerce" for March.)

On Thursday, February 18, an important and influential meeting of gentlemen connected with the silk trade was held at the office of Stubbs' Mercantile Agency, Gresham-street, London, to consider the propriety of establishing a Silk Supply Association on the model of the Cotton Supply Association of Manchester. The chair was occupied by Mr. David Chadwick, M.P. for Macclesfield; and amongst those present were Mr. Brocklehurst, M.P. for Macclesfield; Mr. Thos. Dickins, of Manchester; Sir Daniel Cooper, Bart., of New South Wales, Commissioner at the different International Exhibitions; Dr. A. Campbell, India; Dr. Mann, Emigration Commissioner from Natal and Inspector of Education there, author of several works on the colony; Dr. Hyde Clarke, late Cotton Commissioner in Turkey, who largely promoted its culture, and was decorated by the Sultan for the same; the Hon. W. Fitzwilliam; Messrs. H. Browett, of the Coventry Chamber of Commerce; Thomas Brooks, silk merchant; Edward Fox (Bailey, Fox, Son, & Co.); F. Bennoch, London; John Slater (J. Slater & Co.); C. Kipling (Kipling, Fain, & Co.); J. Howell (Ellis, Howell, & Co.), London; J. W. Chancellor; P. L. Simmonds, F.S.S., Superintendent of the Colonial Department at all the principal International Exhibitions, and Member of the Jury at those of Dublin, Paris, Havre, &c.; J. Vavasseur (Vavasseur, Carter, & Collier); J. B. Hilditch (Geo. R. and James Hilditch); Thos. Bingham; J. S. Martin; Chas. Jupe, of Mere, Bath; and Professor Leoni Levi, Reporter on the Silk Manufactures at the Paris Exhibition, &c., &c.

The meeting had been convened by Messrs. D. Chadwick, M.P., and Thos Dickins, by a Circular, in which they said:—

"The high price of silk during the last few years, arising from disease in the silkworm in the countries formerly contributing the greater portion of raw silk for European consumption, has produced the conviction in the minds of many of those interested in silk manufacture that the time has arrived when an effort should be made to repair the great national loss arising from this calamity by the establishment of a Silk Supply Association, on a basis analogous to that of the Cotton Supply Association. Whilst the imports of raw silk have decreased nearly 40 per cent, the price has increased in some cases more than 100 per cent. The objects of the proposed Association may be briefly stated as follows:—

1st. To stimulate the production of silk by cottage cultivation and otherwise in every country where the mulberry-tree is capable of giving food to silkworms.

2nd. To encourage the introduction and exchange of the eggs of the best kind of silkworms in silk-producing districts.

3rd. To offer practical suggestions and encouragement to the producers of silk for improving the quality, and securing a better classification, and for ensuring greater care in the reeling of the silk.

4th. To promote the cultivation of silk in the various silk-producing districts in India, where the production of silk has not recently increased, and in other districts of India where the cultivation of the silkworm has almost ceased, but which are known to possess special advantages by the growth of the mulberry-tree and the habits of the people for its propagation.

5th. To promote the exportation of cocoons from countries not well able to reel them.

6th. To communicate with the Foreign, Colonial, and Indian Departments of Her Majesty's Government, and to obtain the aid of the English Representatives in the British Colonies and Consular Agents in all Foreign Countries to promote and extend the cultivation of silk.

"It is intended that all the officers in connection with the proposed Association shall be honorary, and that no payments be made except for rent, clerks' services, printing, postages, and office management. It is estimated that a subscription of one guinea a year will produce a sum quite sufficient to cover the necessary expenses of the Association for the first year. We annex copy of letter from Dr. Forbes Watson on the cultivation of silk in India. The following is the letter referred to:—

"'To DAVID CHADWICK, Esq., M.P.

"'DEAR SIR,—With reference to your letter lately addressed to me on the subject of the establishment of a Silk Supply Association based on the same principles as the one in Manchester, which has had such an important influence on the culture of cotton, I have no hesitation in saying that I consider very beneficial results would be likely to follow such a step. There are, it appears to me, excellent reasons why the silk trade of this country should occupy a more important position than it has hitherto done. The field is wide, and one most worthy of cultivation. We have capital, and can command the best appliances; and there is no reason to suppose that the requisite artistic skill, upon which so much depends, will be wanting—our manufacturers are beginning to see the importance of that. The main difficulty affecting the silk trade of Europe is, as you are so well aware, the uncertainty connected with the supply of the raw material. This difficulty has of late years been enhanced by the failure of its cultivation in France, the effect of which, of course, is to render her more dependent upon foreign sources of supply, and so help in some measure to equalize, so to speak, the elements of competition between her manufactures and ours. A judiciously-worked Silk Supply Association, like that suggested by you, is, I think, very worthy of support. I believe it might be instrumental in improving and extending the cultivation of silk in India and elsewhere, and, if established, I shall be happy to be of any service to it in my power.—I am, dear Sir, yours very faithfully,

"'J. FORBES WATSON.'"

Mr. D. Chadwick, M.P., in opening the proceedings, said:—Though not directly connected with the silk trade, I have been led in various ways to feel an interest in it, and for many years I have taken an interest in the working of the Cotton Supply Association. In my communication with silk manufacturers, when the high price and short supply of silk have been mentioned, I have inquired whether any efforts were being made with regard to silk similar to those made to obtain cotton, and the result has been the proof that there was no united action having for its object the increase of the supply of silk. Without going into the question of the inadequacy of the silk supply, I may say that the price of silk alone indicates that there is something radically wrong in regard to its production; otherwise we should never find ourselves in the position of having silk of some qualities 100 per cent. higher than it was a few years ago. In 1860, the total weight of our silk imports was 9,200,000 lb.; in 1867, it was 5,800,000 lb.: and in 1868 it was 6,800,000 lb. The prices of the various classes of silk have risen from 40 to considerably over 100 per cent. These few facts are quite sufficient to justify inquiry by all engaged in the different branches of the silk trade, with a view to ascertaining whether some steps cannot be taken to remedy the national loss occasioned by the short supply of silk, due partly to the diseases of the silkworm in European countries and to the warlike and political disturbances in China and Japan. The short supply and the high price have continued so long that it behoves those engaged in the trade and interested in it in any way to see if a remedy can be devised. The remedy we point out is following in the footsteps of the Cotton Supply Association. It has been eminently successful, and no one connected with it, except the secretary and the clerks in the office, has received any remuneration; every one else gives his services gratuitously. The members contribute from one guinea upwards, according to the interest they have in the cotton manufacture. The Cotton Supply Association combines, as we trust the Silk Supply Association will combine, all parties. Every one interested in having an increased supply will, we hope, become a member. That being the object, we have endeavoured to put in the plainest possible language the groundwork of the constitution of the proposed Association. The statement of objects has been carefully prepared, and I trust you will approve of it without much alteration. Mr. Dickins has had prepared the map exhibited on the wall, showing the large portion of the world that is capable of producing silk, and the small portion that is producing it. This map shows how vast a field there is for the labours of the Silk Supply Association. Wherever the mulberry-tree grows, there you can produce silk. In a recent journey through the South of France and Austria, to the Lebanon, and as far as Damascus, I saw silk reeled, spun, and woven in the open air, by the same rude machinery which was used 2,000 years ago. I brought specimens of the silk manufacture of Damascus with me. In Syria and Egypt I passed through large districts in which silk can be produced in great abundance. These things led me to communicate with Mr. Dickins, who has been the adviser in every step taken and in all the arrangements made so far. He has been largely engaged in the silk manufacture, and having retired from it, he is prepared to devote his time to the public service in a matter in which he has taken so much interest. I was led to communicate with Dr. Forbes Watson, Professor Leoni Levi, and others interested, and I had interviews with Mr. Ashburner, Collector and Magistrate for Khandeish. He called my attention to a report he had made to the Government, in which there was a remarkable expression as to the capabilities of Khandeish for growing silk. Speaking of the decline of the silk culture in India, he says that the Hindoos are opposed to the culture of it on religious grounds, and it is important, therefore, it should be introduced among the Mussulman population. As many of the operations are carried on in-doors, the occupation is particularly suited to the Mussulman population, whose women do not appear in public. They are generally impoverished and discontented, and this new branch of industry would tend to restore them to prosperity. Could we have a stronger claim upon the Government than an effort which would produce so great a result? Mr. Ashburner said that the very smallest encouragement through Government agents in Khandeish would induce the people to rear the silkworm, and produce a large supply of silk. He also spoke of several other districts which only require encouragement to a small extent to obtain a similar result. It behoves, then, all engaged in the trade to spread information, by which alone they may accomplish a very large result.

Mr. Dickins next said:—Mr. Chadwick will be the founder of an Association of extreme importance to the silk trade, for this movement is entirely due to him. It is one of the greatest importance to the silk industry. The trade had a hard battle to fight, even under protection; and when the last crutch was somewhat rudely removed from it, it had then a harder battle still; but the main impediments to its progress are the high price and the scarcity of raw material. At present we get only a clumsily and partially manufactured article in the raw silk that comes from all countries except Italy and France. Very many attempts have been made to improve the quality of the silk. I have wasted several thousand pounds in attempting to introduce silk-reeling into this country, and I succeeded so far as to produce silk equal to any from France, Italy, or any other country; but my difficulties, and the difficulties of others who made similar attempts, were with the raw material—the cocoons. Sometimes they would come in a tolerably perfect state, at others in a damaged and inferior state, yet all costing the same price; and the labour in this country was such a novelty that what I attempted was too much for any individual to accomplish. Attempts have been made in China to improve the reeling of silk, and a gentleman of great reputation as a silk-reeler is producing very superior silk there; but he is keeping all his information to himself, and is rigidly excluding any one who could encroach on the benefits he is enjoying. I think we may fairly conclude that any individual efforts are only selfish and monopolizing in character. This Association will take a broader, a more liberal, and a more generous view of the whole thing; it will not keep its information, but disseminate it throughout the world—wherever the mulberry-tree grows and silk may be produced. That is the essential and important difference between what individual efforts and that which a society by its aggregate efforts may be able to accomplish. All the inferior silk produced is due to defective reeling. The cocoons from every country are about the same size in the thread, and if an equal number of cocoons be continuously reeled together you will obtain an even silk; but in China, India, Persia, Asia Minor, and all countries except France and Italy, so little care is given to the proper number of cocoon threads being taken up and reeled at one time, that the silk varies in size from eight or ten to thirty or forty threads. If we can inform the people of those countries how to reel the silk evenly, the profitable result will in time follow. We must also ascertain the best way of cultivating the mulberry, and disseminate that information everywhere; we must also collect and diffuse information as to the kinds of silk-worm suited to different countries; and we must also spread information as to reeling and other processes. The map shows how large an area there is for the culture of silk; and I do not despair of silk being produced in this country. It has been produced in Ireland; and I have seen silk from Cornwall and Devonshire quite equal to that in the natural branch of cocoons now exhibited in this room which was presented to me in France some two or three years ago. It should be known that one acre of ground planted with a good and proper mulberry-tree, if the land is in a suitable situation, will produce £100 worth of silk; and I do not know of anything else the cultivation of which will produce so much. From the £100 will have to be deducted, of course, the cost of production; but the labour of two or three young persons for a few weeks in the year is sufficient to produce a pound of silk. It is not an unreasonable hope to entertain that in many of the southern parts of England silk may be grown, but the grower should not attempt to reel silk; he must be content to grow the mulberry, feed the worm, and produce the cocoons, and then find a market for them. If there were many small producers a market would, of course, be found. Silk may grown throughout the whole of Asia Minor. It is being grown in the south of Russia, but the growers do not know how to reel it, and they are sending cocoons to Moscow and other places, where the silk is wasted in the reeling, whilst we are starving for want of the raw material. It is with the benevolent view of generally extending silk culture that it is proposed to found this Association. It may be small in its beginnings, but I doubt not in two or three years we shall see a wonderful result from the diffusion of information generously and liberally distributed in every part of the world.

Mr. Brocklehurst, M.P.:—It is almost unnecessary that I should be asked to bear witness to the necessity for an increased supply of silk for the benefit of the silk trade of this country. From what has been said by my colleague, it might be inferred that there had been a considerable diminution in the quantity of silk imported into and used in this country; but it must be remembered that, since 1860, a considerable proportion of the silk that formerly came into the English market now finds its way direct into France. Formerly, London was the emporium from which silk was sent into France; and now, a large proportion of silk, instead of coming to London, is landed at Marseilles. I rather think the production of silk throughout the world is on the increase. Whether it is so or not, it is certain that in England we have a short supply, and it would benefit us as manufacturers and throwsters if silk were lower in price, because we know that as cost is diminished consumption increases. It is, therefore, of great importance to us that we should have as large an increase as possible in the supply of the raw material. It would find labour for our working classes and diminish pauperism, and on that ground alone we ought to endeavour to increase the supply. Formerly there came to this country a large quantity of the Indian silk of that kind from which Indian bandannas used to be made; and the importation of that silk has almost entirely ceased. We are told there is a greater absorption of labour than formerly on the railways,—that other calls for labour have employed those who formerly raised silk in India; but I am told that the cultivation of the silk has to a great extent ceased because there is a want now of those funds which the East India Company used to spend in encouraging silk-growing, and since those funds have been withdrawn we have found a difficulty in getting as much silk as formerly. I have not much else to say except that I shall feel very great interest indeed in doing what I can to forward the objects of this Association. We should remember that, though Free Trade has apparently caused a diminution in the supply of silk to this country, and though we are not such successful competitors in the manufacture of silk with our French neighbours as we were formerly, yet it is a gratifying fact that the throwstering department of the silk trade in this country has very much increased of late. We are actually now exporting large quantities of the produce of our mills to France to be woven in their looms. The increase has been five-fold this year as compared with last year in our export of thrown silk from this country to France, and I think it is a gratifying and promising state of things. Though we cannot compete in the manufacture, we are able to supply the French with material for their looms, and we know it is an employment which gives the means of living to a great many English people, for I believe there are something like 27,000 persons interested in the throwing business in this country.

Mr. J. Howell was called upon to make some remarks as the representative of a large London house, engaged in the sale of silk. He said he simply came to the meeting as a listener, but he must add that he belived it was a matter of the greatest importance to the trade that the raw material for the manufacturers should be increased in every possible way. With a proper organization, and by proper information being conveyed to those who were ignorant of silk-growing, he believed more silk might be obtained. Having referred to the cultivation of silk in Italy in the time of the Romans, he said he thought an article so beautiful as silk wanted a little cherishing—it might be by artificial means. In the present age, when we had the power of conveying information by means of the Press, he thought a great deal of good might be done by disseminating whatever instructions they could give through the world.

Mr. T. Dickins said he held in his hand a copy of a French paper, the editor of which had made some observations upon the proposed establishment of the Association. The paper was the Semaphore de Marseilles. The editor had not only addressed a letter to Mr. Chadwick, but, in his paper, he had written a long article, showing that the subject had attracted attention in France. He would only trouble the meeting with one or two quotations:—"We cannot stand by uninterested in this country when an English Association of this nature has been proposed. . . We are interested, in a certain measure, in the success of this Associa ion, which, well directed, may, and ought to, bring very active and serious support to repair, to a great extent, the evils and sufferings of silk production. . . One can see that the English, having acquired an exact acquaintance with the wants and power of production, when once they carry their attention to apply a remedy, great benefits are sure to follow. . . An abundant supply will follow this movement. . . This Association, properly organized, will be to the producers of silk a centre of action very active and very powerful." Such was the opinion, continued Mr. Dickins, of an important silk paper in France.

Sir Daniel Cooper, Bart. (in responding to the Chairman's invitation to give his opinion), said he had passed many years on the east coast of Australia, and more then twenty years ago this subject of cultivating silk was started at Sydney, in the hope that a company might be formed and silk become a permanent production in New South Wales. He did not think the thing was properly managed or properly started; and then the gold discovery came, and the silk worm and cocoons and things of that sort were all forgotten. From his knowledge of the country, and from the botany of Australia, he knew that nearly every part of Australia would produce the proper kind of mulberry; and even where they had not marked on the map produced by Mr. Dickins, in the elevated parts the mulberry would grow, even up to the Gulf of Carpentaria. In the colony of New South Wales the ladies had always had a liking for the production of silk; in all their local exhibitions there was invariably exhibited small quantities of silk from various quarters. The only thing wanted was the knowledge that had been alluded to by Mr. Chadwick and Mr. Dickins. They did not know, in the first place, what kind of worm to get, and when they got the cocoon they did not know what to do with it; but if an Association like the one proposed would give all these details, beginning with the commencement, he was quite sure that in the course of a few years small quantities of silk would be coming into the market from Australia. The Cotton Supply Association might appear to have done little, but from his knowledge of the country he knew that it had done a great deal, and that the quantity of cotton sent home would increase year by year. Sugar would soon be cultivated to such an extent as to supply from New South Wales all the sugar Australia required; and he was quite sure the idle part of the family, who did not like the cultivation of sugar and cotton, would take to the lighter work of producing silk if they could add to the income of the family by so doing. Information as to the kind of egg and worm, the way to use them, and the mode of reeling, was what was wanted.

The Chairman:—Would the Government of New South Wales take part in making the matter generally known?

Sir Daniel Cooper:—If you will give me the information I will take care to push it myself; but the local Government, I am quite sure, will do all in their power. They did the same for the Cotton Supply Association. As they have Crown Lands Commissioners in the different districts of the Colony, they would have no difficulty in disseminating the information. In fact, I shall be going out there myself next year, and will do what I can in the matter (hear, hear).

Dr. A. Campbell (who was also invited to speak) said:—He had served thirty-five years in India. Bengal was a large silk producing country. There was one wild worm which produced a coarse silk, and another worm which fed upon the castor-oil plant, which produced a most excellent silk. The growth of this kind of silk might be extended, he believed, to any amount. The fabric it produced was very good, and was much used in many parts of India, though it was rather too heavy to wear in Bengal. It was much worn in the hills, and exported also beyond the hills to Thibet. He believed that in England it would be a most valuable product. It was of the colour of brown holland, but by washing became silky. It would wear almost for ever. As Mr. Dickins had observed, it was very rough in the reeling off; but if the cocoons were sent to England or elsewhere to be reeled he believed a very good and perfect silk could be obtained. Nearly all the inhabitants might be got to join in its cultivation.

Mr. Fitzwilliam said:—He had only to confirm what had been stated by Dr. Campbell. All that was wanted in India was English capital, not only to be applied to indigo, but to silk. There were other parts of India where the mulberry grew, and where a higher class of silk might be produced. What was wanted was information and capital. The Government should be urged to ask the Government of India to encourage capital being introduced into India for this purpose, and to give every facility for the extension of the growth of silk.

Mr. Browett (representing the Coventry Chamber of Commerce) approved of the formation of the Association, and added that silk would no doubt be most successfully cultivated wherever cheap labour could be obtained.

Mr. C. Kipling trusted the manufacturers would support the Association, and suggested that they might be able to deal direct with the Association in the purchase of silk. India and China silk, he added, was not adapted for all classes of goods, and the manufacturers were obliged to go to France and Italy for silk for the best goods.

Mr. Jupe differed somewhat from the proposal to seek new fields for the supply of silk, and thought the operations of the Association would be better confined to resuscitating the silk production in those countries from which the supply had fallen off.

Dr. Mann (Commissioner from Natal) said:—He had resided nine years in Natal, and knew pretty well every mile of the country in the whole district. From the sea-coast up to an elevation of 6,000 feet above the level of the sea there was not an acre of ground that would not grow the white mulberry as well as it would grow wheat. He had seen the mulberry chopped up into lengths of twelve inches, and stuck into the ground, and the difficulty was to keep it from growing, it grew with such rapidity and so soon choked the land by filling up the space which should separate the trees. The proposed Association was an essential one for Natal for two or three reasons. There was a district extending one hundred and fifty miles along the coast and sixteen miles inland which grew coffee and sugar readily and well. Beyond that there was a region whose only products for export were silk, tobacco, and a few grain crops, and the resources of which were very imperfectly developed. In this district there were nearly 5,000,000 acres of land which the Colonial Government was prepared to give away on certain conditions. In this region the mulberry grew everywhere. The men who had been sent out there could not find a product which they could export for money. There were in Natal 240,000 natives—just the people who would concern themselves with silk culture. They did not like hard work or work that was protracted; they would work only for a short period. Their wages were from 6s. to 10s. a month; and the cost of maintaining each labourer was less than that; and they simply wanted to be shown how silk was managed. The silkworm was already in the Colony, and thriving exceedingly well. In the rearing of worms in Natal there was one circumstance that would necessitate careful treatment, and that was that the summer was a period of wet, and the eggs were hatched when the rains began; but he did not think this would present any practical difficulty. As soon as the Association was established he would communicate its plans and proposals to the Government of Natal, who, he had no doubt, would offer their most cordial co-operation. This Association might be the means of supplying exactly what was wanted to render Natal a silk-exporting country; and its operations could hardly be directed more legitimately than to the attainment of its objects by stimulating enterprise in an English colony. In Natal there were 17,000 Europeans; multiply them by ten, and there would then be a prosperous community.

Dr. Hyde Clarke said:—I am not connected with silk; I am connected with cotton and the Cotton Supply Association, having been Commissioner to the Ottoman Government for a period of nine years. All the doubts, difficulties, and objections you have been discussing to-day were discussed when the Cotton Supply Association was formed. You must decide in the same way, and rely on it you will have the same success. I can say the Ottoman Government will do for you what they have done for the Cotton Supply Association; they will go to a large expense in carrying out the objects of the Association which have been advocated here. One very important object is to supply information. What the Cotton Supply Association furnished has been printed in every language used in Turkey, and has been disseminated through the provinces. With regard to Bruss, the trade has been taken out of the hands of the English by the French merchants. This must be recovered by our industry and energy. The Italian agents have penetrated into Persia and Central Asia in search of what is called grain—the silkworm's eggs. This Association could obtain a large supply of silk from Central Asia by using its energies in that direction. I should like to confirm what our Indian friends have said with regard to India. Silk culture is particularly available for the Mussulman population. In Syria, silk culture is carried on, not by the poorest classes, but by the wives and daughters of the respectable classes, nominally for the purpose of pocket-money, but, in reality, as a means of subsistence for the family. What this Association has to do is to communicate to these persons correct information as to improving the quality. I only regret there is not time to go into many matters which would strengthen our case, but this Association will set a great deal of machinery in motion.

Mr. J. Vavasseur said:—The objects of this Association, I take it, are twofold—to increase the supply of silk and to improve the reeling. Mr. Jupe objects to increase the field for supply; there is good ground for his objection, because there is a large amount of silk on the market, and yet the price is very high; but Mr. Jupe loses sight of one thing, that while you give a high price for silk, you do not get the quality improved. While you continue to give the Chinese such a high price for silk, they will not pay any attention to its improved reeling. There is a general concurrence of opinion as to the large field in which silk can be produced; there is no difficulty about the growth of the mulberry-tree—there is no difficulty in the reeling up to a certain point—the great difficulty is when the cocoon is spun the growers of silk are at a loss to know what to do with it; information should be disseminated upon this point. Measures should be adopted for taking the raw material direct from the growers. I must say that the objects of the Association will in a measure fail, unless efforts are concentrated on that point. If the grower finds a difficulty in getting rid of the material, he will be discouraged from further efforts. If information is placed in his way there is every chance of success.

Mr. Brooks said :—We deem it desirable, under a certain form, to establish an Association; but I am satisfied, unless you get every section of the silk trade in England to support you, you cannot succeed. I am not going to say anything to discourage the attempt, but I want you to look the difficulties in the face. It may be very well if you can supply the throwsters with a large quantity of silk—it is very well to supply large quantities for the brokers and speculative dealers—but it will be of little use unless you can interest the large body of manufacturers in England. (Mr. Brooks then spoke of the influence of the French Treaty upon the silk trade, and continued.) I should like to see the matter taken up by all the large manufacturers and throwsters. Unless you can show to our operatives that you can improve their rates of wages, nothing in the world will improve the silk trade of this country. I do ask you to take a serious view of the large manufacturing silk industry of this country, and obtain for it terms as advantageous as possible. You will thus confer a great benefit on a large portion of the population of this country which is now almost starving.

The Chairman said:—In the Borough of Macclesfield we have two thousand empty houses, arising from distress in the silk trade. We are trying to do something to increase the prosperity of silk manufacture by attempting to increase the supply of raw material. This Association has nothing of a political character; it has nothing in regard to Acts of Parliament, Art Education, or any other questions brought into connection with the silk trade. Unless we confine our attention to the sole object of increasing the supply of the raw material without reference to whom it will or may effect, I believe we shall go wrong. Every department of Her Majesty's Government will no doubt aid the efforts of this Association to the utmost extent in their power. The Association is not attempting to secure individual profit; it is a combination for the good of a trade which is really of national importance. We must not mix up this question either with the French Treaty or questions of Free Trade; if we do, we shall be shivered into a thousand sections. We must have one common ground on which to unite. I took occasion to bring this subject before the Chamber of Commerce at Macclesfield, at their last meeting. It was unanimously approved of by the silk men of Macclesfield, who cordially agreed with the objects of the Association. We have not received one letter or communication which throws the slightest doubt on the necessity and practical nature of the objects of the Association—everyone wishes it success; it is really a Silk Manufacturers' Association. We cannot expect to have the support of the great houses of brokers. We have not failed to appeal to Messrs. Durant, Messrs. Eaton, and others. They have said in effect, "We shall be glad to sell as much silk as you will bring to us." Whilst we hope to continue on friendly terms with great brokers, this is a manufacturers' question; therefore, when we get samples of silk, our friend Mr. Dickins will have to make use of the silk brokers, as the Cotton Supply Association does of the cotton brokers.

Mr. David Chadwick, M.P., proposed, and Mr. Brocklehurst seconded the resolution:—"That Mr. Thomas Dickins be requested to accept the office of President of the Association."

Mr. Chadwick said, a more able President they could not have. Mr. Dickins had retired from business, and was willing to devote a great portion of his time in furthering the objects of the proposed Association, and congratulated those present upon having secured his co-operation.

Mr. Thomas Dickins moved that David Chadwick, Esq., M.P., do accept the office of Treasurer to the Association, and said:—Before I put this resolution I wish to thank you for the great honour you have conferred upon me by placing me at the head of this Institution. I have not sought this honour; I have desired that some more worthy person should occupy the position. But at the request of my friends Messrs. Chadwick and Brocklehurst I agreed to accept it. I have studied the question of silk culture for many years, and have paid dearly for it. I am content to study it still more. I am willing to give as much time as I can to promote the objects of this Association, and to give information to every one willing to receive it in any part of the world with reference to silk industry.

Mr. Kipling seconded the resolution, which was carried unanimously.

Sir Daniel Cooper, Bart., moved:—"That P. L. Simmonds, Esq., F.S.S., be requested to act as honorary secretary."

Dr. Hyde Clarke seconded the motion, which was carried, and said:—It will be a great benefit to the Association that it has for its honorary secretary a gentleman who is so well known for his numerous published works on commercial products, and who stands distinguished in Europe for the attention he has paid to economical subjects.

The Chairman moved:—"That the gentlemen present do form themselves into a general committee."

Mr. F. Bennoch seconded the motion, and said:—I think this Association should devote its attention to those ancient countries where silk is almost indigenous, but where, from the neglect of the common manipulation, the production has become a discredit. I have no hesitation in saying that there is every disposition on the part of the Chinese Government to do all they can to encourage the production of silk. I have this on the best authority, His Excellency, our Ambassador in China, who is a friend of mine of twenty years' standing, who said he would guarantee that there was no district in China where the Englishman should not go to train the Chinese to work in silk, and perfect the productions of that great empire. I think we should first direct our attention to the old districts, to see if we cannot improve the production of silk by importing fresh eggs. We are not at the same time going to be so blind as not to encourage the Colonial Governments to carry out this matter. We are most fortunate in having as President of this Association the most practical man in England. There is no point in regard to silk which he does not understand. We have in him a combination of all the qualities we require. I trust this Association will be the means of bringing the producer into harmony and connection with the consumer, and that it will send good judges to the silk-producing districts to obtain from the cocoons what is desired.

Mr. J. Howell said:—I happen to have two nephews who have been ten years in China and Japan, connected with the silk trade, and I regret very much that I did not invite them to attend this meeting. They tell me one cause of the high price of silk is the facility with which telegraphic communication goes to China, and the extreme knowingness and cunning of the Chinese merchants, who watch the markets and thus derive a large benefit. The Chinese are the most unchangeable people on the face of the earth; they prepare their silk in the same way as they did thousands of years ago—in the way their forefathers did in the time of Confucius. The Europeans have made much progress by the application of mechanical skill and science. I trust, therefore, this Association will turn its direct attention to China and to the English colonies.

Professor Leoni Levi said:—Before such practical men, men so conversant with the production of silk, it is not for me to stand and speak. I am very glad to find that the very slight hint thrown out in the report which I had the honour of making to the Government on the silk productions at the Paris Exhibition, gave some ground for the formation of such an Association as this, and I am much delighted to find at its head one so well fitted to occupy that position, and to see my friend Mr. Chadwick, who has so much energy, such a command of figures, and such information as will be valuable to this Association, occupying the position he does in connection therewith. In reviewing the products at the Paris Exhibition, I felt quite certain there are many countries, almost unknown to us, where the silkworm will thrive, and where the mulberry-tree can be grown and rendered useful for silk production most extensively. I am convinced that this Association will be eminently successful. I will not enter into statistics, but will just say that an abundant supply is the A B C of progress. Cotton is a large and leading industry, and I do not see any reason why the silk industry should be less successful; the only thing wanted is a larger supply of the raw material, and the skill to bring it to the quality suitable to the different articles of silk manufacture produced in this country. In 1864, India produced 1,400,000lb. of silk—this country received only 160,000lb.; that is a great deal, but we ought to obtain a larger supply.

Mr. T. Brooks moved, and

Mr. T. Dickins seconded, a vote of thanks to the Chairman for presiding. This terminated the proceedings.

BILL

FOR

The Better Preservation of Game.

(Transmitted to the House of Assembly by His Excellency the Governor.)

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the laws relating to game: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. The following Game Law Proclamations are hereby repealed,—that is to say, the Proclamation dated 21st March, 1822, entitled "Game Law Proclamation;" the Proclamation dated 23rd August, 1822, entitled "Amendment of Game Law—Elephants;" and the Proclamation dated 14th March, 1823, entitled "Amendment of Game Law—Elands."

II. The legal meaning and import of the word "game" shall, for the purposes of this Act, be taken and understood to mean and comprehend the several birds and animals of this Colony following, not being domesticated, commonly known as paauw, korhaan, guinea-fowl, pheasant and partridge, elephant, camelopard, seacow (hippopotamus), buffalo, zebra, quagga, Burchell zebra, buck (comprehending the whole antelope species, including the gnu or wildebeest), and hare; and the words "game licence" shall, for the purposes of this Act and of the Stamp Act No. 3 of the year 1864, be taken and understood to mean a game licence duly issued by Government, on which the stamp duty of seven shillings and sixpence, or three shillings and ninepence, shall have been previously paid.

III. No person shall kill, catch, capture, sell, hawk, or expose for sale, hunt, or shoot at any ostrich not being domesticated, without having first obtained a licence to kill ostriches, under a penalty of any sum not less than twenty-five pounds sterling, and not exceeding fifty pounds sterling, for the first offence, and not exceeding one hundred pounds sterling for every subsequent offence; and any person convicted under this section may be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any term not less than six months, and not exceeding one year, unless or until the fine be sooner paid.

IV. No person shall, whether having obtained a licence to kill ostriches or not, kill, catch, capture (save as hereinafter is provided), sell, hawk, or expose for sale, hunt, or shoot at, within any district of this Colony, any ostrich not being domesticated, within the months which shall in any such district be for the time being proclaimed as fence season for ostriches under the provisions of this Act, under like penalties as by the last foregoing section are provided in cases falling within that section.

V. For every licence to kill ostriches there shall be payable a stamp duty of fifteen pounds sterling.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation to be by him issued, to fix and prescribe for the several districts in this Colony the close time or fence seasons within which it shall not be lawful to kill, pursue, hunt, or shoot at ostriches or the different kinds of game respectively within this Colony, either with or without a licence to kill ostriches, or a game licence respectively, or with or without the landowner's permission.

VII. No person shall, save as is hereinafter provided, kill, catch, capture, pursue, hunt, or shoot at, sell, hawk, or expose for sale game in any part of this Colony, without having previously obtained a game licence, under the penalty of three pounds sterling for the first offence, and six pounds sterling for every subsequent offence, to be recovered, together with the costs and expenses of the prosecution to conviction, in the manner hereinafter provided; excepting herefrom any game found injuring crops in cultivated lands or gardens. No person, however, shall be at liberty to pursue, shoot, kill, destroy, or capture any elephant, hippopotamus, or bontebok, without having obtained a special permission to that effect from the Governor for the time being, under a penalty of fifty pounds sterling for each offence, or, on failure of payment thereof, six months' imprisonment, with or without hard labour.

VIII. No person shall kill, pursue, or shoot at game in any district of this Colony, or shall in such district possess, sell, hawk, or expose for sale, or shall in such district purchase, any game during the close time, which shall be proclaimed as such for any such game in any such district, under the penalty of six pounds sterling for the first offence, and twelve pounds sterling for every subsequent offence.

IX. No person shall, without special permission of the Governor, for purposes to be mentioned in such permission, as hereinafter is provided, at any time wilfully take away, disturb, or destroy eggs, or sell, hawk, or expose for sale, or shall purchase, eggs of any ostrich or game birds in any part of this Colony, under the penalty of any sum not exceeding three pounds sterling for the first offence, and not less than three pounds sterling, nor exceeding six pounds sterling, for every subsequent offence; and the said eggs shall be confiscated to Government, in whose custody soever the same may at any time be found, and may be seized brevi manu by any landowner, occupier of land, justice of the peace, field-cornet, constable, or police officer: Provided, always, that it shall be lawful for the Governor to permit under his hand any fit or proper person or persons to catch, take, or carry away the eggs of any ostrich or game bird, or the young of any ostrich or game, whether bird or other game, for the purpose of rearing or breeding the same, or for the purpose of acclimatization or scientific investigation; and any person so obtaining the Governor's written permission as aforesaid may himself obtain and take, or may by writing under his hand direct any person or persons to obtain or take, the said eggs, birds, or animals: Provided, always, that such writing shall distinctly state the number and denomination of such eggs, birds, or animals which the holders are employed to obtain or take, which shall collectively not exceed the number specified by the Governor's permission aforesaid. And any person obtaining or taking a greater number or other kinds of such eggs, birds, or animals than those specified in the Governor's permission as aforesaid, or giving or affecting to give to any person or persons authority to take or obtain, together with what he shall himself take or obtain, in the whole, more than the number or other than the kinds specified in such permission as aforesaid, shall be held guilty of wilfully taking all such young or eggs as he shall have taken or obtained, or shall have given or affected to give authority in the whole to take or obtain.

X. No person shall at any time, either with or without a game licence, kill, catch, capture, pursue, hunt, or shoot at any ostrich or game on any lands within this Colony, without the permission of the owner of such lands, if private property, under the penalty of any sum not exceeding three pounds sterling for the first offence, and not exceeding six pounds sterling for every subsequent offence, in addition to such penalty, if any, to which he may be liable under any other section of this Act,—the penalty provided by this section to be paid to the owner of the land; but any permission given by such owner after the event with reference to the offence shall be as valid as if given before the offence. But no penalty under this section shall in any case be enforced unless notice and warning shall have been given, either personally or through any servant or agent of such owner, or by letter to the person so offending, or unless public notice shall have been given in the Government Gazette, or in a local newspaper, by the owner that he is desirous to preserve the game upon such lands.

XI. In any case prosecuted under this Act every ostrich or game animal shall be presumed to have been wild until shown to have been domesticated.

XII. The several fines abovementioned may be recovered by any person, on behalf as well of himself as of the Crown, in all cases where the fine shall not exceed fifty pounds sterling, in the Court of the Resident Magistrate of the district where the offence may have been committed, and in other cases in the Supreme Court, the Court of the Eastern Districts, as the case may be, or the Circuit Court for the district where the offence may have been committed; and a moiety of any fine imposed upon any offender, on conviction, for contravening any of the provisions of this Act, shall, save as is hereinbefore otherwise specially provided, be paid to the person on whose information such conviction shall have taken place, provided such person be not an accessory.

XIII. It shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation in the Government Gazette, to proclaim and declare as to any parts of this Colony that any bird or animal, to be specified in such proclamation, shall be protected and not destroyed for any number of years, not exceeding three, to be mentioned in such proclamation, and also to extend to any such bird or other animal the protection of this Act, as if the same were included among the game animals in this Act defined, or to extend to any such bird or other animal the protection of such of the provisions of this Act as may be specified in such proclamation, as if such bird or other animal were expressly protected by name in such provisions, respectively; and also from time to time to revoke, alter, or amend such proclamation.

XIV. It shall be lawful for the Governor, on good cause shown by the civil commissioner or the divisional council of any of the divisions of the Colony, to suspend, by proclamation in the Government Gazette, in whole or in part, as may seem right, the operation of this Act, or any part or parts thereof, in the said division, for any time or with regard to any animal, or both for any time and with regard to any animal, to be specified in the said proclamation.

XV. Any offender being convicted for contravention of any of the provisions of this Act, in default of payment of the fine imposed upon him or her, and in default of other provision in that behalf in this Act specially provided, shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour, and with or without spare diet, unless the fine be sooner paid.

XVI. In any prosecution for infringement of any section of this Act by doing anything without licence, it shall be prima facie sufficient for the prosecutor to show that the accused does not appear as the holder of a licence in the list of persons to whom the requisite licence in such case shall have been issued, respectively, kept in the office of the resident magistrate before whom, or in whose district, such case shall be brought for trial in any court; but it shall be lawful for such accused person to rebut such evidence by proof that he was in fact, at the time of the commission of the offence charged, the lawful holder of such licence.

XVII. Until otherwise proclaimed, the following shall be the close or fence season for the animals and the districts hereinafter mentioned, respectively.

BILL

TO

Amend Act No. 15 of 1856, intituled "An Act to amend the Laws regulating the relative Rights and Duties of Masters, Servants, and Apprentices."

(Transmitted to the House of Assembly by His Excellency the Governor.)

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Act No. 15 of 1856, intituled "An Act to amend the Laws regulating the relative Rights and Duties of Masters, Servants, and Apprentices:" Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. The fourth section of Chapter two of Act No. 15 of 1856, intituled "An Act to amend the Laws regulating the relative Rights and Duties of Masters, Servants, and Apprentices," shall be and the same is hereby repealed; and from and after the promulgation of this Act no written contract shall be valid or binding for a longer period than one year from the date thereof, nor shall any contract for service in writing be valid or binding in any case on any servant, unless the service so contracted for shall be to commence within the period of one month from the date of the contract, except in each of such cases the contract be signed by the name, or in case of illiterate persons, with the mark of the contracting parties, in the presence of a magistrate or other proper officer, nor unless such magistrate or other proper officer shall subscribe such written contract, in attestation of the fact that it was entered into by the parties voluntarily, and with a clear understanding of its meaning and effect. So much of the said Act as is contained in the fifth chapter thereof shall be and is hereby repealed, and the following shall be and be read as if the same were the fifth chapter of the same Act.

OF THE JURISDICTION OF THE RESIDENT MAGISTRATE IN CASES BETWEEN MASTERS AND SERVANTS AND APPRENTICES.

II. The resident magistrates within the Colony have jurisdiction in all cases arising in their respective districts between masters and their servants and apprentices, and with reference to their relative rights and duties, or to any matter or thing, or offence, as to which provision is made by this Act.

III. Every resident magistrate has jurisdiction in any such case as aforesaid, brought before him against any person being at the time within his district, whether the grounds of such case arose within the district or not, or whether the person against whom the case is brought has his usual residence or place of abode in that district or not; but the magistrate shall, whenever it shall appear to him that any such case can be more conveniently tried or determined by the resident magistrate of any other district, dismiss such case, and in the event of his doing so, when the servant or apprentice is accused of desertion, and when he shall have probable cause shown to him, by oath or affidavit of any credible person, for believing this to be the fact, such magistrate may, if he think fit, issue a warrant for the conveyance, under sure custody, of such servant or apprentice to the town or place where the court of such other magistrate is held; provided the master shall undertake to pay the expense of such conveyance; and the magistrate by whom the cause shall be ultimately tried and decided shall adjudge by which of the parties the said expenses shall be paid.

IV. Any servant or apprentice may be fined any sum not exceeding ———— pounds sterling, and in default of payment of the same may be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding one month, in case he shall be convicted of any of the following acts or instances of misconduct, that is to say:

1. If he shall, after having entered into a contract, fail or refuse, without lawful cause, to commence the service at the stipulated time.
2. If he shall, without leave or other lawful cause, absent himself from his master's premises, or other place proper and appointed for the performance of his work.
3. If he shall, during working hours, unfit himself, by becoming or being intoxicated, for the proper performance of his work.
4. If he shall neglect to perform any work which it was his duty to have performed, or if he shall negligently perform any work which, from its nature, it was his duty, under his contract, to have performed carefully and properly.
5. If he shall, without leave and for his own purposes, make use of any horse, vehicle, or other property belonging to his master.
6. If he shall refuse to obey any command of his master, or of any person lawfully placed by his master in authority over him, which command it was his duty to obey.
7. If he shall make any brawl or disturbance in, at, or near his master's dwelling-house, and after being, by his master or by any other person belonging to his master's family, desired to desist, shall, notwithstanding, continue making such brawl or disturbance.
8. If he shall use any abusive or insulting language to his master, or to his master's wife, or to any person placed by his master in authority over him, calculated to provoke a breach of the peace.

V. In case of a second conviction under the last preceding section, or of more such convictions than a second, within the space of six months next after any former conviction, the offender may, in regard to such second or any further conviction, be fined any sum not exceeding ———— pounds sterling, and in default of payment thereof may be imprisoned and kept at hard labour for any period not exceeding six weeks, and shall be liable during such imprisonment (or so much thereof as the convicting magistrate shall adjudge) to be kept in solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or on spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter is mentioned, and upon a conviction under the next ensuing section of this Act followed within six months by a conviction under the last preceding section, the offender shall be liable to the like punishment, as if both convictions had been had under the last preceding section.

VI. Any servant or apprentice may be fined any sum not exceeding ———— pounds sterling, and, in default of payment, may be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding two months, or may be imprisoned without the infliction of any fine, at the discretion of the magistrate, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding two months; and during any such imprisonment as in this section is mentioned may be kept in solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or on spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter mentioned, in case he shall be convicted of any of the following acts or instances of misconduct, that is to say:

1. If he shall, by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by drunkenness, do any act tending to the immediate loss, damage, or serious risk of any property placed by his master in his charge, or placed by any other person in his charge for delivery to, or on account of, his master.
2. If he shall, by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by drunkenness, refuse or omit to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving in safety any property placed by his master in his charge, or placed by any other person in his charge for delivery to, or on account of, his master.
3. If, being employed as a herdsman, he shall fail to report to his master, on the earliest opportunity for so doing, the death or loss of any animals placed in his charge, which he shall allege to have died or been lost,—or if he shall fail to preserve, for his master's use or inspection, any part or parts of any such animal as he shall allege to have died, which part or parts he shall, by his master, have been directed, and shall have undertaken, to preserve, unless such herdsman shall prove to the satisfaction of the court the death of such animals,—or if it shall be made by his master to appear that any animal or animals alleged by him to have strayed away or otherwise become irrecoverably lost, could not, under the circumstances of the case, have become irrecoverably lost without his act or default.
4. If, being employed in any capacity other than that of a herdsman, he shall allege the loss of any property placed in his charge by or for his master, and it shall be made by his master to appear that the property in question could not have been lost without his act or default.
5. If he shall, without lawful cause, assault, or attempt to assault, or threaten to assault his master, his master's wife, or any relation of his master living with him in the same house, or any of his fellow-servants: Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent a preparatory examination being taken in any case of assault which shall seem to require that form of proceeding, in order to the trial of the offender before the Supreme or some circuit court

6. If he shall, without leave or other lawful cause, depart from his master's service, with intent not to return again thereto.

VII. In case of a second conviction under the last preceding section, or of more such convictions than a second, within the space of six months next after any former conviction, the offender may, in regard to such second or any further conviction, be fined any sum not exceeding ——— pounds sterling, and in default of payment thereof, may be imprisoned and kept at hard labour for any period not exceeding three months, or may be imprisoned, without the infliction of any fine, at the discretion of the magistrate, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding three months, and shall be liable during any such imprisonment as in this section is mentioned, or so much thereof as the convicting magistrate shall adjudge, to be kept in solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or on spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter mentioned. And upon a conviction under the fourth section of this Act, followed within six months by a conviction under the last preceding section, the offender shall be liable to the like punishment as if both convictions had been had under the last preceding section.

VIII. No fine paid or period of imprisonment undergone, under this Act, by a servant or apprentice, shall have the effect of cancelling the contract of service or apprenticeship.

IX. Nothing in any of the preceding sections, from fourth to eighth, both inclusive, shall extend or apply to servants or apprentices under the age of sixteen years, or to any apprentice, of whatsoever age, who shall be apprenticed to learn any branch of the medical or legal profession, or to any merchant or dealer, or to any apprentice with whom any fee or premium not less than five pounds sterling shall have been paid.

X. No servant shall be convicted under any of the foregoing sections of this Act unless the master shall lodge his complaint within one month next after the day on which he became cognizant of the offence or alleged offence.

XI. If any servant or apprentice whose contract of service or apprenticeship still subsists shall, upon being discharged from prison after undergoing imprisonment under this Act, refuse or neglect, upon his master's request, to resume his service under his contract, he shall be liable to be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one month, and so on for successive periods, not any of them exceeding one month, until he shall consent to resume, and shall resume, his service under his contract; and every such period of imprisonment, or so much thereof as the convicting magistrate shall adjudge, may be with solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or with spare diet with or without solitary confinement, subject as hereinafter mentioned: Provided, however, that no servant or apprentice shall, under this Act, be imprisoned continuously, and without any intermediate resumption of service, under his contract, for longer than six months in all.

XII. When any period of imprisonment shall be undergone by any servant or apprentice for any offence under this Act, a like period shall be added to the term of service stipulated for in the contract of service or apprenticeship, as it subsisted when such imprisonment was commenced, so that such servant or apprentice shall be obliged to serve a further period equal to the period of his imprisonment, in addition to the term of service originally stipulated.

XIII. When the offence of which any servant or apprentice shall be convicted under this Act shall be the offence of absenting himself from, or of departing from, the service of his master, then the period of his absence shall be added to the term of service originally stipulated, in like manner as in the last preceding section directed in regard to the period of imprisonment therein mentioned; and it shall be the duty of the magistrate convicting such servant or apprentice to ascertain, at the trial, the period of absence, and to certify the same by some writing under his hand, to be delivered to the master, and the period mentioned in such writing shall, by all courts and in all places, be deemed to be added to the original term of service.

XIV. As often as any property of the master shall be lost or damaged by means of any act or omission of his servant or apprentice, which act or omission is by this Act declared to be an offence, it shall be lawful for the magistrate, should he so think fit, and the master shall thereto agree, to ascertain whether such servant or apprentice is able to make compensation for such loss or damage, and if so, to fix the amount of such compensation, and make such order as to the payment thereof, either at once or by instalments out of wages yet to be earned, or otherwise, as shall seem reasonable and just, and in the meantime, and until default made in such payment, or in the payment of some such instalment, to defer passing sentence upon the party offending; but such magistrate shall preserve on record the evidence in the case, and, upon application of the master, and proof given, upon oath, of some such default as aforesaid, shall issue his warrant for the apprehension of such servant or apprentice, and shall pronounce upon him such sentence as, regard being had to the circumstances of the original offence, and to the degree in which such servant or apprentice has made, or failed to make, the compensation ordered, shall appear equitable and just.

XV. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice who shall be convicted of any offence under this Act shall desire the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, the magistrate, should he so think fit, may order the cancellation of the same, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly: Provided that such cancellation shall not prevent the execution of any sentence which the magistrate may pronounce or may have pronounced upon the offender for his offence.

XVI. As often as the master shall have caused any servant or apprentice to be brought before the magistrate to answer any charge preferred against him by such master, and such master shall fail in obtaining the conviction of such servant or apprentice, then the magistrate, should he so think fit, may, at the desire of such servant or apprentice, order the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly.

XVII. In order to save time and expense, the master of any servant or apprentice alleging matter of complaint against such servant or apprentice may warn and order such servant or apprentice to appear before the magistrate of the district, on some day and hour to be named by such master or apprentice, as the case may be, there to answer some certain charge, of the nature of which such complainant shall inform such defendant; and should the defendant fail to attend, in pursuance of such warning, the magistrate, upon the application of the complainant, and upon proof, by affidavit, that such defendant received such warning, and received the same a reasonable time before the time fixed for his appearance, and that, to the best of the deponent's knowledge and belief, such defendant has no lawful cause for not appearing, may issue his warrant for the apprehension of such defendant, in order to the trial of the complaint.

XVIII. Any servant or apprentice having ground of complaint against his master under this Act shall be entitled to require reasonable leave of absence from his master's service for the purpose of proceeding to the resident magistrate to make his complaint and to take out the process of the resident magistrate's court to compel the attendance of such master and of the witnesses deemed necessary by such servant or apprentice in support of his case; and any master refusing such reasonable leave of absence to such servant, or delaying the same unreasonably, shall be deemed guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall on conviction thereof be fined any sum not exceeding ——— pounds sterling, and in default of payment shall be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any term not exceeding ——— months; and no servant or apprentice who shall leave his master's service for the purpose merely of lodging any complaint which he may have against his master, after such leave of absence shall have been unreasonably refused, shall by reason only of his so leaving his master's service be deemed to have deserted his master's service, or to have in anywise contravened this Act.

XIX. Should any complainant who shall have warned any such defendant as aforesaid to appear as aforesaid himself fail to appear at the time fixed by him for the appearance of such defendant, then and there to prosecute his complaint, the magistrate, upon proof, by affidavit, that such defendant was warned by such complainant to appear at the said time, to answer a charge of a certain nature, shall ascertain the distance which such defendant shall have travelled, and the distance which any person or persons shall have travelled whom such defendant may have brought with him as witnesses, and shall, upon being satisfied that such witnesses would or might have been necessary for his defence, make an order, in writing, against such complainant for the payment of the expenses of such defendant and his witnesses, if any, at and after the same rate as if each of the said persons had been a witness summoned at the instance of the public prosecutor, and attending to give evidence in the court of such magistrate upon a criminal case; and if such complainant shall, upon presentation to him of such order by the person or persons in whose favour the same shall have been made, refuse or neglect to comply therewith, he shall incur and be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds sterling, and in default of payment of the same, to imprisonment with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding one month: Provided that one such order may include the expenses of all or any of the persons whose expenses are to be paid, or separate orders may be delivered to one or more of such persons, as may be most convenient.

XX. No servant or apprentice summoned or otherwise brought before the magistrate to answer for any offence alleged in the summons or otherwise to be in contravention of the fourth section of this Act, shall be entitled to an acquittal because the proof given in the case may show that he is only guilty of contravening the sixth section of this Act; and no servant or apprentice summoned or otherwise brought before the magistrate to answer for any offence alleged in the summons, or otherwise, to be in contravention of the sixth section aforesaid shall be entitled to an acquittal because the proof given may show that he is only guilty of contravening the said fourth section: Provided, however, that the punishment to be awarded upon a conviction in any such case shall not exceed the punishment provided by the said fourth section; and provided, also, that the servant or apprentice shall have had, in every case, sufficient notice of the nature of the charge which he was called upon to answer.

XXI. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice shall be convicted of the offence of withholding the wages of such servant or apprentice without reasonable and probable cause for believing that the wages so withheld were not really due, he shall be fined any sum not exceeding five pounds sterling and not less than one pound sterling, and in default of payment shall be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one month; and the convicting magistrate shall, besides passing the said sentence, give judgment for the amount of the wages so wrongfully withheld, and for the costs of the proceedings, which costs shall be the same as in a civil case before the said court; and the said wages and costs shall, if not paid, be levied of the moveable property of the said master, under and by virtue of a warrant under the hand of the said magistrate, together with the cost of the said levy: Provided, however, that when and as often as the magistrate shall acquit the master of the aforesaid offence, but shall yet find that wages are due by such master to such servant or apprentice which have been retained by such master, it shall be lawful for such magistrate, and he is hereby required, forthwith to give judgment for the amount of wages which he shall find to be due to such servant, and make such order as to the payment of costs, should he award any, by the master as shall seem to such magistrate to be in accordance with real and substantial justice.

XXII. If any master shall, after judgment obtained against him for any wages, still withhold the payment thereof, or of any costs which he shall have been ordered to pay, he shall be deemed by such withholding to have anew committed a contravention of the last foregoing section, and may again be proceeded against under the same section; and in such case the former judgment, even though the same may not have been a conviction, may on his conviction be offered in evidence as an aggravation, under the clause hereinafter contained in that behalf.

XXIII. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice shall be convicted of the offence of having, either before or after the expiration of the contract of service or apprenticeship, upon demand made and without lawful cause, refused to deliver or permit to be taken away any of such servant or apprentice's cattle, sheep, goats, or other animals lawfully remaining or being upon such master's land, without reasonable and probable cause for believing that the animals in question were lawfully detained, such master shall be fined any sum not less than one pound sterling for every animal so unlawfully detained; provided, however, that the total amount of the fine so payable shall not exceed the sum of five pounds sterling altogether; and in default of payment, shall be imprisoned for any period, with or without hard labour, not exceeding one month; and the convicting magistrate shall, besides passing the said sentence, give judgment for the delivery of the said animals, and for costs, as in a civil action before the said court, which costs, if not paid, shall be levied in the same manner as in the twenty-first section directed; but neither the fact that the contract of service or apprenticeship of such servant or apprentice has not yet expired, nor the fact that money is due or alleged to be due by such servant or apprentice to the master, shall be deemed or taken to be, of itself, reasonable or probable cause for such detention: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall impair the effect of any express contract of a lawful kind, by force of which the master shall claim a right to retain any such animals as aforesaid.

XXIV. If any master shall, after judgment given for the delivery of any animals under the last foregoing section, upon demand lawfully made, withhold or refuse to deliver or permit to be taken away the said animals, he shall be deemed by such withholding or refusal to have anew committed a contravention of the last foregoing section, and may again be proceeded against under the same section; and in such case the former judgment may, on his conviction, be offered in evidence against him in aggravation, under the clause hereinafter contained in that behalf.

XXV. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice shall be convicted of the offence of failing, upon demand, to supply or deliver to such servant or apprentice, the food, bedding, or other articles stipulated for in the contract of service or apprenticeship, or of supplying or delivering food, bedding, or other articles, not conformable to the said contract, he shall be liable to be fined any sum not exceeding five pounds sterling, and in default of payment, to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one month.

XXVI. Whenever any master shall be convicted of any offence under this Act, any former conviction for any offence under this Act, or under any portion of the Act 15 of 1856, repealed by this Act, on his part as a master, may be offered in evidence against him in aggravation; and if such aggravation shall be proved, then the magistrate before whom he shall be tried shall, in lieu of the penalties hereinbefore provided in the case of first offences, fine the offender any sum not exceeding ——— pounds sterling, and in default of payment sentence him to be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any term not exceeding ———; and the civil remedies shall be the same as in the case of a first conviction.

XXVII. As often as it shall be made to appear to the magistrate in any such case as aforesaid, instituted by any servant or apprentice against his master, that the master has not fairly and faithfully performed his part of the contract of service or apprenticeship, the magistrate may, should he so think fit, and should the servant or apprentice so desire, order the cancellation of such contract of service or apprenticeship, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly.

XXVIII. As often as any master shall be convicted of wrongfully and unlawfully assaulting his servant or apprentice, the convicting magistrate may, should he so think fit, and should the servant or apprentice so desire, order the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly.

XXIX. As often as any master shall complain against his servant or apprentice, or any servant or apprentice shall complain against his master, the prosecution shall be a private prosecution; but should it appear that any servant or apprentice complaining against his master is unable from poverty to advance the costs of process and of witnesses, then the process of the court of resident magistrate for compelling the attendance of the party accused, and of all necessary witnesses, shall be issued at the public charge: Provided, always, that if, at the trial, the charge shall appear to have been brought by the said servant or apprentice without reasonable or probable cause, such servant or apprentice shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds sterling, and also to defray the costs of process and of the witnesses in the case; and in default of payment of such fine and costs, shall be liable to be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding one month: Provided, also, that such fine may be imposed upon the occasion of such trial, and without any fresh action or proceeding for the recovery thereof.

XXX. In all convictions under this Act, no prisoner shall be adjudged to be kept in solitary confinement for more than three days in each week, or on spare diet more frequently than every second day: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to empower the magistrate, in the infliction of solitary confinement and spare diet, to exceed such instructions as shall have been or shall from time to time be made by the Governor under Act No. 20 of 1856.

XXXI. All fines under this Act shall, when recovered, be paid into the public treasury.

XXXII. If any child under the age of sixteen years shall be wrongfully detained by any person as a servant or inmate, the resident magistrate of the district in which it shall be so detained, shall have jurisdiction to order the restoration of such child to such of its parents as would, under the said Act No. 15 of 1856, be entitled to apprentice such child, if then about to be apprenticed: Provided, however, that should it be made to appear, upon the hearing of any such case, that the person complained against originally obtained the said child in a lawful manner, and when an infant under the age of five years, and that the parent claiming the same has so acted in reference to the said child, and to the person bringing it up, as to make it a breach of good faith on the part of such parent to seek to take it away, as he or she now seeks to do,—and that, from the character of the said parent, the purpose for which he or she appears to desire to obtain possession of the said child, or other circumstances, it will be for the manifest benefit of the said child to remain with the person with whom it is residing, rather than to be delivered to the parent applying, then the magistrate shall refuse to order the delivery of the said child, leaving it to the parent applying for the same to take such other proceedings, if any, as he or she may be advised; and such magistrate may, in the meantime, authorize the person rearing up such child to retain possession thereof.

Give effect to Process of Insolvency instituted in Natal as regards Immoveable Property of the Insolvent Estates situate within this Colony.

(Transmitted to the House of Assembly by His Excellency the Governor.)

WHEREAS it is desirable that facilities should be given in this Colony and in Natal, respectively, for carrying into effect in each Colony, as regards immoveable property therein situate, all orders lawfully made in the other for placing under sequestration any estate as insolvent: And whereas the Legislature of Natal has passed a law providing as to all immoveable property situate in Natal belonging to any person, deceased person, partnership, or corporation whose estate shall in this Colony, by any order of any judge or court of competent authority, be placed under sequestration as insolvent, that the person or persons in whom such estate shall for the time being be vested by the law of this Colony shall, upon filing in the office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court of Natal a copy of the order for sequestration made by any judge or court of competent authority in this Colony, duly certified under the seal of the court making such order, have all the rights and claims over and upon such immoveable property, and against all persons holding or detaining or claiming the same, as though the estate so sequestrated as insolvent had been sequestrated by virtue of an order of sequestration duly made by the Supreme Court of Natal having jurisdiction in the matter of such sequestration on the day on which the order of sequestration, made as aforesaid by any judge or competent court in this Colony, shall bear date, and as though such person or persons and their successors in office as aforesaid had been duly appointed under the law of Natal to administer the said insolvent estate, and the same had been vested in them thereby for that purpose: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. Whenever any estate of any person, deceased person, partnership, or corporation shall be placed under sequestration as insolvent by the order of any Court of competent jurisdiction in the Colony of Natal, and it shall appear to such Court that there is immoveable property situate in this Colony belonging at the date of such order to such insolvent estate, or immoveable property so situate to which the person or persons in whom such insolvent estate shall for the time being be vested by the law of Natal in their capacities as such would have claim or title if the same were situate within the Colony of Natal, it shall be lawful for such person or persons in whom such estate shall for the time being be vested as aforesaid to file in the office of the registrar of the Supreme Court of this Colony a copy of the order for sequestration made by the court in Natal, duly certified under the seal of the court making such order, and thereupon such person or persons, or their successors in office under the law of Natal shall have all the rights and claims over and upon such immoveable property, and against all persons holding or detaining or claiming the same, as though the estate so sequestrated as insolvent had been sequestrated by virtue of an order

TO

Regulate the issue of Superannuation Allowances to the Officers of the Armed and Mounted Police Force, and to make provision for other Members thereof becoming unfit for Service.

(Transmitted to the House of Assembly by His Excellency the Governor.)

WHEREAS by the regulations of Her Majesty's Service, it is provided that no public officer shall be entitled to retire on a superannuation allowance, unless incapacitated by bodily infirmity, until he shall have attained the age of sixty, and it is further provided that such superannuation allowance shall be calculated at the rate of one sixtieth of the salary paid to the officer at the time of his retirement, for each year that he shall have been in the service of Her Majesty: And whereas, from the nature of the duties which the officers of the Armed and Mounted Frontier Police are called upon to discharge, it is reasonable that they should be permitted to retire at their own option before attaining the age of sixty, and likewise that their superannuation allowances should be calculated at a scale more favourable to such officers: And whereas it is desirable to make provision for the cases of other members of the said Police who may become unfit for further service: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. The Governor may, if he shall see fit, grant to every officer of the Armed and Mounted Frontier Police above the rank of a sergeant a superannuation allowance, to be calculated in proportion to his rate of salary and length of service, on his attaining the age of fifty years; and every such officer shall be entitled to claim such allowance on his attaining the age of fifty-five years.

II. In calculating the amount of superannuation allowance to which any such officer shall be entitled on retirement, whether from bodily infirmity or otherwise, there shall be granted to him a sum equal to one fiftieth of his salary then payable to him for each year that he shall have served in the said Police.

III. If any member of the said Police shall be promoted to be an officer thereof above the rank of sergeant the time which he may have served therein before such promotion shall be included in the computation of the term for which the superannuation allowance shall be granted.

IV. The Governor may, if he shall think fit, require any such officer, on his attaining the age of fifty years, to retire from the said Frontier Police, on condition of receiving a superannuation allowance to be calculated in manner hereinbefore provided.

V. Subject to the provisions hereinbefore contained, the superannuation allowances to be granted to the officers of the said Police above the rank of sergeant shall be issued in conformity with the general regulations of Her Majesty's Service in that behalf established.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Governor, in the case of any sergeant of the said force who shall have served not less than twenty-one years therein, either as sergeant or in any other grade, the whole period of his service, in whatever grade, being counted, and who shall have attained the age of fifty years, or who shall, by bodily infirmity or otherwise, become incapacitated for further service, and shall in either case have conducted himself during his service uniformly to the satisfaction of his superiors in office, to grant to such sergeant a retiring pension not exceeding the sum of one shilling and sixpence per diem during his life.

VII. It shall be lawful for the Governor, in the case of any other member of the said force, not being an officer of the same over the rank of sergeant, falling within the provisions of the last foregoing section, who shall have served not less than fifteen years therein, and who shall have attained the age of forty-five years, or who shall, by bodily infirmity or otherwise, become incapacitated for further service, and shall in either case have conducted himself during his service uniformly to the satisfaction of his superiors in office, to grant to such member a pension not exceeding in any case the sum of one shilling per diem during his life.

BILL

TO

Make better provision for the Construction and Maintenance of the Main Roads of the Colony.

(Transmitted to the House of Assembly by His Excellency the Governor.)

WHEREAS it is expedient that better provision be made for the Construction and Maintenance of the Main Roads of the Colony: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. The Act No. 23 of the year 1858, the Act No. 3 of the year 1859, the Act No. 25 of the year 1859, the Act No. 10 of the year 1861, the Act No. 13 of the year 1863, the Act No. 10 of the year 1864, the Act No. 17 of the year 1868, and so much of any other Act relating to main roads as shall be repugnant to or inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Act, shall be and the same are hereby repealed.

II. All and singular the roads mentioned and set forth in the schedule to this Act annexed, marked A, are hereby declared to be main roads; and it shall be lawful for the Governor, from time to time, at the request of the two Houses of Parliament, by proclamation to be published in the Government Gazette, to add to or alter the line of any main road mentioned in the said schedule, and to declare any other road not mentioned therein to be a main road, and to add to or alter the line of any such lastmentioned main road.

III. From and after the passing of this Act, the construction of any part of any main road mentioned in the said Schedule, not already completed, and the construction of any new main road, or part thereof, shall remain with and belong to the general Government; and the maintenance or keeping in repair of every such main road, and of all bridges on the same, shall, except as is hereinafter excepted, belong to the divisional councils of the Colony, respectively.

IV. And whereas certain portions of the said main roads and certain bridges have been constructed at great expense, and it is expedient that special provision should be made for the maintenance and repair of the same: Be it therefore further enacted that the maintenance and repair of the several portions of the main roads and of the bridges which are severally described and set forth in the Schedule B to this Act annexed shall remain with and belong to the general Government. And it shall be lawful for the Governor, from time to time, at the request of the two Houses of Parliament, by proclamation in the Government Gazette, to make the like provision for the maintenance and repair of any other portion of a main road, or of any bridge on the same, to be specially described and set forth in such proclamation.

V. Subject to the limitations hereinafter contained, every divisional council is hereby invested, for the purposes of this Act, with all and singular the rights, powers, and authorities set forth in the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth sections of the Act No. 9 of 1858.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, to establish toll-bars at the bridges mentioned in the Schedule B, and on or near the portions of main roads set forth and described in the said Schedule, or which shall be hereafter set forth and described in any proclamation to be published under the provisions of the fourth section hereof; and likewise at the several ferries mentioned in the Schedule C hereto annexed; and such persons as shall be authorized by the Governor so to do shall be entitled to demand and receive at such toll-bars respectively the several tolls set forth in the Schedule D to this Act annexed.

VII. From and after the passing of this Act, it shall not be lawful for any divisional council to establish any toll-bar on any main road, or on any divisional road leading into the same, at any place within ——— miles from any toll-bar to be established under the preceding section. And in any case in which any divisional council shall, before the passing of this Act, have entered into a contract for the collection of the tolls at any toll-bar within the said distance of any such lastmentioned toll-bar, then such contract shall, until the termination thereof, be deemed to have been entered into with the general Government; and all sums which would have become payable thereunder to such divisional council shall be payable to the said Government.

VIII. Subject to the provisions of the preceding section, the tolls taken at toll-bars established or to be established on any main road lying or being within any division shall belong to the divisional council of such division; and every such council may, after having given six weeks' previous notice in the Government Gazette of their intention to establish a new toll, erect and establish at such places as it may deem fit, upon any main road under its charge, as many toll-bars as it may deem requisite, and may demand and receive thereat such reasonable tolls as it may deem proper, to be appropriated to the maintenance and repair or improvement of such main road. But no toll-bar shall be erected or established, and no toll shall be demanded or received, without the previous sanction of the Governor, to be signified by a proclamation to be by him published in the Government Gazette.

IX. Every divisional council may, with the previous sanction of the Governor, increase the amount of tolls from time to time payable at any toll-bars in such division; and it shall be lawful for any divisional council, from time to time, with such sanction as aforesaid, at its discretion, to alter particular items in any tariff of tolls, by increasing or diminishing the same, without altering the other items of such tariff, as also to add new items or omit old items. But it shall not be competent for any divisional council to increase any toll existing at the time of the taking effect of this Act to rates or amounts exceeding treble the rates or amounts of the tolls payable at the time of the taking effect of this Act.

X. All and singular the provisions of the fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth sections of the Act No. 9 of 1858, in regard to toll-bars and tolls, shall, so far as any divisional council is concerned, apply to such council, and to all toll-bars and tolls within such division, in like manner as if the said sections, mutatis mutandis, were herein again set forth and word for word repeated.

XI. It shall be lawful for every divisional council, at any time after the first day of January, 1870, to assess rates upon the immovable property within such division, for the purpose of keeping the main roads, except such portions thereof as are by this Act devolved upon the general Government, within such division in repair, in like manner, precisely, as such council might now, by law, assess rates upon such property for making, improving, and maintaining the divisional roads of such division; and the valuation for the time being of such property under the Act No. 9, 1858, as amended by the "Road Act Amendment Act, 1860," shall be the valuation for assessment under this Act.

XII. It shall be lawful for any divisional council, should it so think fit, to include in one and the same rate moneys required for the purpose of main roads and moneys required for the purpose of divisional roads; but in every case of such joint assessment, some fixed and definite proportion of the rate assessed shall be devoted to the purpose of main roads, and the remainder shall be devoted to the divisional roads, and the accounts showing the receipts and expenditure for main roads shall be kept separate and distinct from the accounts showing the receipts and expenditure for divisional roads: Provided that so much of the thirty-eighth section of the Act No. 9, 1858, as provides that no rate shall exceed one penny in the pound upon the value of the property liable to be rated shall be, and the same is hereby repealed.

XIII. Every rate assessed under this Act for the maintenance of main roads shall be payable and recoverable as if it were a rate assessed for the purpose of divisional roads, and the provisions of the thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first sections of the Act No. 9, 1858, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to every such rate.

XIV. All moneys raised or received by any divisional council from any source whatever, for the purposes of this Act, shall be appropriated to the maintenance and keeping in repair of the several main roads within such division and the public dams upon such roads.

XV. As often as any line of main road within any division shall pass through any municipality or corporate town, the divisional council and the commissioners of such municipality or the corporation of such corporate town (as the case may be) shall contribute, share and share alike, to the cost of maintaining and keeping in repair that piece or portion of such main road lying within the limits of such municipality or corporate town, and the said council and the said commissioners or corporation shall, by mutual agreement, settle between them by whom, or in what manner, the work of maintaining and keeping in repair such piece or portion of road shall be performed: Provided that should the said council and the said commissioners, or corporation, be unable to agree in regard to any matter or question relating to their respective rights and duties under this section, the matter or question in controversy may by either party be submitted to the Governor, who, after hearing both parties, shall, with the advice of the Executive Council, decide the same, and whose decision shall be final.

XVI. If any divisional council shall neglect to maintain and keep in usual and customary repair any main road within the division to which such council belongs, it shall be lawful for the divisional council of any other division through any part of which the said main road shall run, or for any number of land-owners within any division through any part of which such main road shall run, not fewer than five, to require, in writing, the divisional council so in default to put the said main road lying within the said division in such repair as aforesaid; and if such council shall not, within a reasonable time after the receipt of such requisition, put the said main road into such repair as aforesaid, then it shall be lawful for the council which made the said requisition, or any five or more of the land-owners aforesaid (as the case may be), to apply to the Governor, who shall appoint some competent and proper person or persons to inspect the main road which is alleged to be out of repair; and should such person or persons report that such main road is out of repair, the Governor shall, by some writing, signed by the Colonial Secretary, direct the divisional council in default to put the said road into such repair as aforesaid within some reasonable time, to be limited in such writing; and unless, within such time, the said council shall put the said main road into such repair, then the Governor shall cause the same to be put into such repair, and the sum expended in putting the same into repair, together with the reasonable expenses of the person or persons who made the inspection aforesaid, shall be a debt due by the said divisional council: Provided, also, that a certificate, signed by the Auditor of the Colony, and setting forth the amount of such debt, shall in all courts and places be conclusive evidence of the amount thereof.

XVII. It shall be lawful for the Colonial Secretary, acting for and on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen, to sue the divisional council aforesaid for the amount of any such debt as aforesaid.

XVIII. Whenever any main or divisional road shall have been diverted, or any new road shall have been declared open between any two points, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, in the case of a main road, and for the divisional council of the division in which the old line so diverted or lying between the points between which such new road shall be opened, in the case of a divisional road, or if such old line shall lie in more divisions than one, then for the divisional councils in which the same shall lie, to proclaim by notice in the Government Gazette that such old line shall be abandoned and closed as a line of road; and thereupon all public rights of way thereon shall cease and determine, and the owner of the land through which the same shall pass shall be at liberty to use his land as if no such old line had existed thereon or thereover.

XIX. In case there should not be at any time after the taking effect of this Act, in any division, for the space of three months, any divisional council, then it shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation, to annex such division to any adjoining division in and for which division a divisional council shall exist, and thereupon the divisional council of such last-mentioned division shall become the divisional council of the other division so annexed, and shall be competent to exercise, and is hereby required to exercise, all and singular the powers and authorities which might under this Act have been exercised by the divisional council of the division so annexed, did such council exist: Provided, however, that such annexation shall take place only for the purposes of this Act, and not for any other purpose: And provided, also, that notwithstanding any such annexation, the divisional council of the division to which any other division shall have been annexed shall frame the accounts in the twenty-third section of this Act mentioned in such a way as to keep the receipts and expenditure of the division which shall have been so annexed as aforesaid distinct and separate from the receipts and expenditure of the division to which such division shall have been annexed.

XX. Notwithstanding anything in the preceding section mentioned, it shall be lawful for the Governor, under the circumstances therein set forth, instead of annexing the division in and for which no divisional council shall exist to another division, to nominate and appoint, by proclamation, such number of fit and proper persons as he shall select, being not less than five nor more than seven, to be the road council of such division, for the purposes of this Act; and every such nominated road council shall be competent to exercise, and is hereby required to exercise, all and singular the powers and authorities which might under this Act have been exercised by a divisional council duly elected, did such a council exist: Provided that the persons so nominated and appointed may or may not be persons resident within such division, as may be found convenient: And provided that every nominated council shall go out of office at the end of three years, reckoned from the day of the publication of the proclamation appointing such council, and be succeeded by another council to be appointed by proclamation as aforesaid, and so on, as long as no divisional council shall be elected for that division.

XXI. Should any division which shall have been annexed as aforesaid to any other division, or for which a divisional council shall have been appointed as aforesaid, at any time after such annexation or appointment, elect and have a divisional council for such division, it shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation, to revoke and annul such annexation or appointment from and after such convenient day as the Governor shall fix and announce; and from and after such day, but not sooner, the divisional council so elected shall be deemed and taken to be in office, and shall take over from the divisional council previously in office all moneys, contracts, officers, matters, and things belonging to the administration of such council in regard to such division, in the plight and condition in which they shall then be, precisely as if the period of office of such previous council had terminated by effluxion of time.

XXII. The twenty-fifth section of the Act No. 9 of 1858 shall be and the same is hereby repealed; and no road within the limits of the municipality of Cape Town shall henceforth be held to be a main or divisional road; and as often as any rate for road purposes shall be assessed and imposed by the divisional council of the Cape Division upon the immovable property within such division, then as regards all such property liable to rate within the said municipality, every such rate shall be deemed and taken to be one half, and no more, of the rate so assessed and imposed.

XXIII. Every divisional council shall cause an exact and particular account to be kept, and to be made up and balanced at the end of each year, of all moneys raised and collected or otherwise received by such council or by any person on its behalf, under the provisions or for the purposes of this Act, and of all rates assessed under this Act due and in arrear, and of all disbursements made and expenses incurred by the said council for the said purposes, distinguishing the amount derived from each source of receipt, and shall furnish a copy of such account, together with all necessary vouchers, to the Governor, in order that the same, after having been audited by the Auditor of the Colony, may be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

XXIV. Every valuator appointed after the taking effect of this Act by any divisional council, under the twenty-seventh section of the Act No. 9, 1858, shall, before entering upon the valuation entrusted to him, take, before any resident magistrate in the division to which such council belongs, the following oath:

I, A B, do solemnly swear that I will, to the best of my skill and knowledge, and without fear, favour, or prejudice, truly and impartially appraise and value all such property as I shall be called upon to appraise and value in the division of ———, for the purpose of road assessment, and that I shall conscientiously value the same at and for the full and fair price or sum which such property would, in my judgment, be likely to realize if brought at the time of such valuation to voluntary sale, and sold upon the terms and conditions usual in the said division. So help me God!

(Signed) A B.

Sworn at ——— this ——— day of ———, 186 .

Before me,—C D., Resident Magistrate.

Every such oath as aforesaid shall be lodged with and by the divisional council to which it relates.

The presiding member of any such court as is in the and thirty-fifth sections of the Act No. 9, 1858, described, fore the said court proceeds to hear objections to any valuation, self, in open court, the following oath:

A B, do solemnly swear that I will, to the best of my skill and knowledge, and without fear, favour, or prejudice, truly and impartially adjudge upon all questions that may come before me as a member of this court. So help me God!

And the presiding member shall then administer the same oath to the members of the court.

XXVII. The moiety of the forfeiture in the fifty-sixth section of the Act No. 9, 1858, mentioned, and which moiety is therein directed to be paid to the colonial treasury, shall, from and after the taking effect of this Act, be paid to the divisional council of the division within which the offence entailing such forfeiture shall have been committed, if such offence shall have been committed in respect to any road, toll-bar, building, or work of any kind belonging to or in charge of such council; and every such council shall be entitled, in respect of the same, to claim the remedy or relief which, by the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh sections of the said Act is made claimable by any commissioner, as in the said sections mentioned.

XXVIII. In the interpretation of this Act, the term "construction" shall mean the first making of a main road or portion thereof, which shall not have been before made, notwithstanding that the line thereof may have been proclaimed and used as a main road, and for which making a sum shall be specially voted by Parliament; and the terms "maintenance" and "keeping in repair" shall both signify the same thing, and shall include all work necessary to be done to any main road already proclaimed a main road, in order to put, keep, and have it in usual and customary repair; and if at any time any doubt or question should arise whether any particular work necessary to be done in or about any main road should be regarded as coming under the head of "construction" or the head of "maintenance," such doubt or question shall be, in the first instance, decided by the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, and such decision shall be final, unless Parliament shall otherwise decide; and all papers and information connected with such doubt or question, and the decision thereof, shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament at their then next meeting.

BILL

FOR

The Establishment of a Government Paper Currency.

(Transmitted to the House of Assembly by His Excellency the Governor.)

WHEREAS it is desirable to establish a Government Paper Currency in this Colony, convertible for specie on demand: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:

I. It shall be lawful for the Governor, by proclamation, to appoint five fit and proper persons to be and to be styled Currency Commissioners of the Cape of Good Hope.

II. Of the said five commissioners, two shall at all times be persons holding office of profit in this Colony under Her Majesty the Queen, and three shall at all times be persons not holding any office of profit under Her Majesty the Queen.

III. If any commissioner, for the time being, shall die, resign, become insolvent, assign his estate for the benefit of his creditors, or quit the Colony for any period exceeding three months, or having been the holder of an office of profit as aforesaid shall cease to be the holder of such office, or not having been the holder of an office of profit, shall have become the holder of such office, or if any commissioner shall be removed by the Governor by proclamation, then the office of such commissioner shall cease and determine, and another commissioner shall, in manner aforesaid, be appointed in his room and stead.

IV. At all meetings of the said commissioners, and for the transaction of any business coming before such commissioners, three commissioners shall form a quorum.

V. It shall be lawful for the Governor, by any such proclamation as aforesaid, to appoint one commissioner to be the chairman of such commissioners, but such chairman shall only have an original vote, and shall not have a casting vote; but in the absence of the chairman at any meeting of the commissioners, any member of the commission may be voted to the chair.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Treasurer-General of the Colony, with the approval of the Governor, to pay over from time to time to the Currency Commissioners for the purposes of this Act, so much of any gold or silver coin legally current in this Colony as may be held by the Government, and may not be required for the lawful purposes of the said Government; and all such gold and silver coin so paid over shall be deposited by the said Currency Commissioners in a vault, having three different locks, of which the keys, respectively, shall be kept by such three of the said commissioners as shall be by the said commissioners from time to time selected for that purpose, one of which three shall always be one of those commissioners holding office of profit; but no such key shall open more than one of the said locks.

VII. When and so soon as any gold or silver coin shall have been paid over and deposited as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Currency Commissioners, on the requisition of the Governor, to issue to the Treasurer-General, for the purposes of the Government, and for the issue and currency of the Colony, notes of the Government of the Cape of Good Hope, to be made payable to the bearer on demand, in the manner and in the proportions hereinafter stated,—that is to say, so long as the sum of gold and silver coin so deposited as aforesaid in the said vault shall not exceed the sum of twenty thousand pounds, then a sum in the said notes, reckoning the same at par, equal to the sum for the time being deposited as aforesaid. So long as the amount of the said notes so for the time being issued as aforesaid to the Treasurer-General and outstanding shall exceed the said sum of twenty thousand pounds, and shall not exceed the sum of one hundred thousand pounds, it shall be lawful to keep issued and outstanding the said sum of twenty thousand pounds in such notes as aforesaid, and in addition thereto for every three pounds in coin which shall be for the time being so deposited as aforesaid in excess of the said sum of twenty thousand pounds, a sum of five pounds in such notes as aforesaid; so that, so long as the sum of such notes issued and outstanding shall amount to one hundred thousand pounds, the sum of gold and silver coin in deposit shall not be less than sixty-eight thousand pounds. So long as the sum so issued as aforesaid and outstanding shall exceed the sum of one hundred thousand pounds, and shall not exceed the sum of three hundred thousand pounds, it shall be lawful to keep issued and outstanding the sum of one hundred thousand pounds in such notes as aforesaid, and in addition thereto for every one pound in coin which shall be for the time being so deposited as aforesaid in excess of the above-mentioned sum of sixty-eight thousand pounds, a sum of two pounds in such notes as aforesaid.

VIII. It shall not be lawful to issue or to keep issued in such notes as aforesaid any sum in excess of the said amount of three hundred thousand pounds.

IX. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to compel the Governor to demand from the Currency Commissioners, or to compel the Treasurer-General to issue for general circulation, the full amounts which, under the preceding sections hereof, they would be empowered for the time being to call for or issue respectively.

X. The said notes shall be for sums of one pound, five pounds, and ten pounds, and any integral multiples of ten pounds which to the Governor shall seem fit, and shall be payable to the holder thereof, at the office of the Treasury in Cape Town, at all legal business hours, upon the demand of the holder thereof, at par, in the lawful current coin of this Colony, and shall be transferable by delivery merely, and the Government shall be discharged from all liability on any such note by payment thereof to the person presenting the same for payment, without investigating the title of such person to present or to hold the same, and notwithstanding the same may have been stolen or otherwise unlawfully obtained by such person.

XI. The said notes shall be legal tender for the amount of the same respectively throughout the Colony and Dependencies of the Cape of Good Hope, at all places and between all persons, save only at the office of the Treasury in Cape Town.

XII. There shall not be delivered out of the said vault by the Currency Commissioners, or by any other person, any sum of gold or silver coin once deposited as aforesaid, save only to the Treasurer-General, upon the warrant of the Governor, and in exchange for a sum in the said notes equal to the sum so to be delivered out. And any person contravening this enactment shall be liable to fine and imprisonment, with or without hard labour, to any such amount and for any such period respectively, or to such one or other of such penalties as the court before which he shall be tried for such offence shall see fit to order.

XIII. All notes so returned to the said commissioners, in exchange for coin, shall be immediately cancelled by the said commissioners, and any commissioner entrusted with the cancellation of such notes omitting so to cancel the same shall be guilty of contravening this Act, and be liable to fine and imprisonment, with or without hard labour, to any such amount and for any such period, respectively, or to such one or other of such penalties as the court before which he shall be tried for such offence shall see fit to order.

XIV. If at any time, owing to the withdrawal of coin from the said vault to answer the demand therefor in exchange for the said notes, under the provisions in that behalf hereinbefore contained, the proportion between the amount of such notes for the time being issued and outstanding, and the amount of coin so for the time being deposited as aforesaid, shall be varied from the proportion hereinbefore sanctioned in that behalf, then and in every such case no further issue of such notes shall be made unless and until, either by repayment of the amount of such gold or silver coin in current coin of this Colony, or by the cancellation of notes paid in to the Treasury, or partly by the one and partly by the other of such means, the proportion tioned shall have been restored; and such repayment and cancellation shall be made as soon as the same can be made.

XV. There shall be published weekly in the Government Gazette the amount of the issue of such notes outstanding at the closing of the office of the Currency Commissioners on the day next but one before the day of the publication of such Gazette, together with the amount of gold and silver coin respectively for the time being deposited in the said vault, certified by the Commissioners holding the custody of the said keys respectively, under their hands respectively. And together with every such notice and account for the week next before the publication of the next Gazette, there shall be published a copy of the like notice for the last foregoing week.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.—No. 188, 1869

Colonial Office, Cape of Good Hope,
30th June, 1869.

HIS Excellency the Governor has directed the publication of the following Dispatches for general information.

By command of His Excellency the Governor,

R. SOUTHEY,
Colonial Secretary.

CIRCULAR.]

Downing-street, 4th January, 1869.

Governor Sir P. E. WODEHOUSE, K.C.B., &c., &c.

SIR,—I transmit to you herewith a copy of a letter 15th Dec., 1868. from the Marine Department of the Board of Trade with a copy of a book called the "Ship Captain's Medical Guide." As the introduction of this book into the Mercantile Marine of the United Kingdom has met the sanction and approval of the Board of Trade, I think it right to make the work known to you as worthy of adoption in the case of colonial vessels.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) GRANVILLE.

Mr. Gray to the Under Secretary of State, Colonial Office.

Board of Trade, Whitehall,
15th December, 1869.

The Under Secretary of State, Colonial Office.

SIR,—I am directed by the Board of Trade to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th instant, transmitting, by desire of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, a copy of a letter from Mr. Harry Leach, the Resident Medical Officer on board the Hospital Ship Dreadnought, upon the subject of the "Ship Captain's Medical Guide;" and requesting to be informed whether this Board would wish steps to be taken for the introduction of the work into the Mercantile Navy in Her Majesty's Colonies, and, if so, what measures they would suggest for that purpose.

In reply, I am to state for the information of Earl Granville, that, by Section 4 of "The Merchant Shipping Act, 1857," the Board of Trade are empowered to sanction a book or books containing instructions for dispensing the medicines and medical stores enumerated in the scale published by this Board, and carried in every ship navigating between the United Kingdom and any place out of it, as required by law. The Board have, by an official notice, dated the 14th September last, sanctioned the "Ship Captain's Medical Guide," compiled by Mr. Harry Leach, as such a book, and it is the only work of the kind which has been sanctioned by them. Twenty-five copies of the work in question are herein enclosed.

Whilst the carrying a supply of Medicines and Medical Stores in accordance with the authorized scale, as well as a copy of the Book of Instructions, is obligatory on all ships navigating between the United Kingdom, and any place out of the same, whether the ship is registered in the United Kingdom or in a British Colony, it is manifestly most desirable that colonial vessels when not trading with the United Kingdom should be similarly provided.

I am to suggest, therefore, for Lord Granville's consideration, that the book might well be brought to the attention of Officers administering the Government of Her Majesty's Colonies as one which might properly be adopted by them for similar purposes.

The Board presume that the measures necessary for its adoption will depend upon the law of the Colony in each case.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) THOMAS GRAY.

SIR,—I transmit to you herewith a copy of a letter 16th April, 1869. from the Board of Trade, enclosing a Notice to Colonial Shipmasters and others relative to Sections 109, 136, 280, and 284 of "The Merchant Shipping Act, 1854."

COLONIAL CERTIFICATES.

Board of Trade, Whitehall Gardens,
16th April, 1869.

The Under Secretary of State, Colonial Office.

SIR,—I am directed by the Board of Trade to state, for the information of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that they have found it necessary to cancel certain instructions issued by them in 1863 to the Superintendents of the Mercantile Marine Offices in the United Kingdom, under which a colonial vessel was allowed to clear without production of the master's and mate's certificates for any intermediate port or ports not situate in the Colony in which the vessel was registered, provided her ultimate destination, as shown by the ship's papers, was a port situate in that Colony.

Notification of this fact has been made public in this country; but as colonial shipmasters and owners occasionally plead ignorance of the law on the subject, I am to suggest, for the consideration of Earl Granville, whether it might not be desirable to furnish the Officers administering the Government of Her Majesty's several Possessions abroad with copies of the accompanying printed notice, and to request them to take steps for giving publicity to its contents.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) THOMAS GRAY.

CIRCULAR No. 350.—M. 2306. COLONIAL.]

Board of Trade, March, 1869.

NOTICE TO MASTERS, MATES, BROKERS, AND OTHERS INTERESTED IN COLONIAL SHIPS.

WITH REFERENCE TO SECTIONS 109, 136, 280, AND 284 OF "THE MERCHANT SHIPPING ACT, 1854."

Colonial Ships engaged in the Trade of the United Kingdom.

In consequence of the ignorance occasionally manifested by colonial shipmasters of the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act which affect colonial ships engaged in the trade of the United Kingdom, attention is hereby directed to the terms of the last clause of Section 109 of "The Merchant Shipping Act, 1854," viz.: 'The whole of the third part of this Act shall apply to (* * *) all ships registered in any British Possession, and employed in trading or going between any place in the United Kingdom and any place or places not situate in the Possession in which such ships are registered, and to the owners, masters, and crews of such ships, respectively, wherever the same may be."

Officers' Certificates.

By Section 136 (one of the sections contained in the third part of the Act) it is provided as follows:—"No foreign-going ship or home-trade passenger ship shall go to sea from any port in the United Kingdom unless the master thereof, and in the case of a foreign-going ship the first and second mates or only mate (as the case may be), and in the case of a home-trade passenger ship the first or only mate (as the case may be), have obtained and possess valid certificates either of competency or service appropriate to their several stations in such ship, or of a higher grade; and no such ship, if of one hundred tons burden or upwards, shall go to sea as aforesaid unless at least one officer besides the master has obtained and possesses a valid certificate appropriate to the grade of only mate therein or to a higher grade; and every person who, having been engaged to serve as master or as first or second or only mate of any foreign-going ship, or as master or first or only mate of a home-trade passenger ship, goes to sea as aforesaid as such master or mate without being at the time entitled to and possessed of such a certificate as hereinbefore required, or who employs any person as master or first, second, or only mate of any foreign-going ship, or as master or first or only mate of a home-trade passenger ship, without ascertaining that he is at the time entitled to and possessed of such certificate, shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds."

Official Logs.

By Section 280 (another of the sections contained in the third part of the Act), it is provided that "The Board of Trade shall sanction forms of official log-books, which may be different for different classes of ships, so that each such form contains blanks for the entries hereinafter required; and an official log of every ship (except ships employed exclusively in trading between ports on the coasts of the United Kingdom) shall be kept in the appropriate sanctioned form; and such official log may, at the discretion of the master or owner, either be kept distinct from the ordinary ship's log or united therewith so that in all cases all the blanks in the official log be duly filled up." And by Section 284 it is provided that if in any case an official log-book is not kept in the manner required by the Act, or if any entry directed by the Act to be made in any such log-book is not made at the time and in the manner thereby directed, the master shall, for each such offence, incur the specific penalty therein mentioned in respect thereof, or where there is no such specific penalty, a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

THOMAS GRAY, Assistant Secretary.

N.B.—This Notice should be freely circulated by the Superintendent amongst Brokers and others concerned with Colonial Shipping. A demand for the number of copies required should be made upon the usual form.
